AMERICAN SHIP SENT TO BOTTOM WITH FLAG FLYING

Chemung's Captain Refuses to Haul Down Stars and Stripes at Submarine's Order.

CREW DEFENDS THE COLORS

But All Hands Are Forced to Take to Lifeboats and the Vessel Is Torpedoed.

MEN LAND AT VALENCIA

Submarine Tows Boats to Within Five Miles of Coast—Austrians Did It, Says Consul.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The American steamship Chemung has been torpedoed and sunk near Cape de Gata, Spain.

The crew has been landed at Valencia by the Spanish steamer Giner, says a Reuter dispatch.

PARIS, Nov. 28, (Censored.)—A Madrid dispatch by wireless announces the arrival at —— of the crew of the American steamer Chemung, torpedoed in —— by a German submarine.

The commander gave the crew only a few minutes to abandon the vessel, not allowing them even to take their money and papers.

The submarine towed the lifeboats in which the crew were placed to within five miles of the coast, where it abandoned them. The Chemung went down with the Stars and Stripes floating at her mast.

A lively incident preceded the sinking of the vessel. The German commander gave orders that the American flag should be lowered, and German sailors prepared to put the order into effect. They met with stubborn resistance on the part of the American Captain Duffy and his crew, who refused to haul down the colors, saying that if the ship had to be sunk it would be with the flag flying.

Captain Duffy maintained his ground, and so rapidly were the preparations to sink the Chemung made that further discussion about the flag ceased, and after the Captain and crew had been taken aboard the submarine a torpedo and three shells sent against the side of the American ship sent her to the bottom.

Although angry at the action of the German commander, Captain Duffy and his men had some measure of satisfaction in seeing the flag at the masthead as the sea finally engulfed their ship.

The crew of twenty-four found a place in two lifeboats and after a time on the open sea were picked up by a Spanish steamer, which took them to Valencia.

Captain Duffy has made a long report of the incident to the American Consul at Valencia, John R. Putnam.

CHEMUNG SUNK BY AUSTRIANS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The destruction of the American steamship Chemung by a submarine is not expected to cause tension in the relations between the United States and the Central Powers, in view of the fact that no question of loss of life is involved on the basis of facts thus far reported to Washington.

Responsibility for the loss of the Chemung will be regarded as resting on the Austro-Hungarian Government unless fuller investigation should contradict the information communicated to Secretary Lansing today that an Austrian submarine sank the Chemung. This information came in a cablegram from John R. Putnam, Consul at Valencia.

Consul Putnam said the Chemung, flying the American flag, was sunk by gunfire and torpedo by an Austrian submarine about fourteen miles east of Cape de Gota, Spain. The Consul added that the crew had been landed at Valencia and all were well. Cape de Gota is the chief promontory on the coast of the Spanish province of Almeria, about half way between the Strait of Gibraltar and Valencia. It is assumed here that the Austrian commander's defense will be that the Chemung was destroyed for carrying contraband.

The position of the Austrian and German Governments has been that vessels, even those of neutral nations, may be sunk for carrying contraband. Contraband is subject to capture. Vessels carrying contraband are likewise subject to capture, and under the provisions of the Declaration of London of 1909 a vessel whose cargo is more than half contraband is subject to condemnation. The same declaration provided that captured vessels might be sunk under the plea of military necessity whenever the captor could not take them to a prize court for adjudication.

In the German note of July 30, 1915, in the case of the American sailing ship William P. Frye, which had been sunk by a German auxiliary cruiser, the German Government said:

"It is not disputed by the American Government that, according to general principles of international law, a belligerent is authorized in sinking neutral vessels under almost any conditions for carrying contraband."

This declaration with respect to the sinking of neutral vessels carrying contraband has not been challenged in any published note of the United States. The German note of July 30, 1915, was answered on Aug. 10, 1915, but this reply contains no reference to the statement in the German note.

The destruction of American vessels by German submarine commanders, however, is on a somewhat different plane from the sinking of vessels by American submarine commanders. The United States and Germany have a special treaty for the treatment of American vessels found carrying contraband, while there is no such treaty between this country and Austria.

Hears Kaiser Will Send a Christmas Gift to Wilson

GENEVA, Nov. 28, (via London.)—Emperor William will send to President Wilson as a Christmas present a de luxe set of American authors specially prepared, printed and bound at the Royal Printing Works in Berlin, according to the Budapest newspaper As Est. The German submarine Deutschland, the newspaper says, will carry the gift to the United States on her next trip across the Atlantic.

Emperor William's Christmas gift to Pope Benedict will be a Bible magnificently illuminated and bound.

ROCKEFELLER JR. OUT AS FOUNDATION HEAD

Will Become Chairman of Trustees, with Dr. George E. Vincent as President.

CHANGE TO BE MADE IN MAY

New Head to Receive $10,000 Salary He Now Gets at University of Minnesota.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., President of the Rockefeller Foundation since it was chartered in 1913, will relinquish that position on May 15, 1917, to become Chairman of the Board of Trustees, it was announced at the office at 26 Broadway, last night. He will be succeeded by Dr. George Edgar Vincent, President of the University of Minnesota and formerly Dean of the Faculties of Arts, Literature and Science in the University of Chicago. Dr. Vincent agreed to accept the office on condition that his salary as the executive head of the $100,000,000 organization remain at $10,000, the sum which he now receives from the university. He made this stipulation because he did not wish to create the impression that he was attracted to the new position for financial reasons.

The reason given for Mr. Rockefeller's retirement was that the growing scope of the Foundation demanded that either he, or some one else fitted for the task, give it his entire attention.

There will be no change in the policy of the foundation, it was announced, and Mr. Rockefeller will remain in close touch with all of its activities. The Foundation has been active in research and relief work in Europe, and, although the fund for Belgium was recently discontinued, such of the work as remains will be advanced with renewed energy under Dr. Vincent's direction.

According to officials of the Foundation, Mr. Rockefeller never had any intention of permanently retaining the Presidency of the foundation, and had been searching for three years for a suitable man to assume its important duties and responsibilities.

Dr. Vincent is the son of Bishop John H. Vincent, the founder of the Chautauqua Literary and Scientific Circle, and was himself identified with the work of that institution almost from its beginning. Before accepting the place of President of the University of Minnesota he had an important part in the development of Chicago University, and as Dean displayed an unusual talent for administration. A year after succeeding Dr. Cyrus Northrup as the head of the University of Minnesota Dr. Vincent was elected President of the Religious Educational Association. He also became identified with the Educational Board of the Rockefeller Foundation and impressed Mr. Rockefeller with his executive ability.

GERMAN WARSHIPS RAID WATERS NEAR ENGLAND

Second Venture Within Week Results In Sinking of a Patrol Vessel and Capture of Its Crew.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—An official German statement given out here today says German naval forces have made another raid close to the English coast, near Lowestoft, capturing a vessel. The German statement is quoted in an official British communication issued this afternoon. The Berlin statement is given as follows:

The Admiralty announces that a portion of our naval forces again executed a raid, going close to the English coast. Not far from Lowestoft an enemy patrol vessel and its crew were captured. Some neutral steamers also were stopped and searched, but as they carried no contraband they were released. Our naval forces returned without seeing any trace of the enemy.

The British Admiralty appends the following:

"A report has been received that the armed trawler Narval was on duty off the east coast on the night of Nov. 26, and is missing. This presumably is the vessel referred to."

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—"The English patrol ship sunk during the raid of German sea forces the night of Nov. 27," says the Overseas News Agency, "was the steam trawler Narval, which was engaged in the mine-sweeping service. Her crew belonged to the Royal Naval Service."

This is the second German naval raid in the last week. On the night of Nov. 23 German destroyers bombarded the town of Ramsgate, near the mouth of the Thames. The German Admiralty announced that a British outpost vessel had been sunk by gunfire, but this was denied officially by London.

Lowestoft is on the North Sea, about seventy-five miles northeast of Ramsgate.

The official German announcement as received from Berlin by wireless says that the patrol ship encountered in the said near Lowestoft was sunk, the crew being captured.

TRUST PRESIDENT ON TIME FOR PEACE, SAYS DR. VAN DYKE

Minister to Netherlands Sure He Will See Proper Moment to Offer Mediation.

KNOWS OF NO STEPS NOW

But Says Vast Majority of Americans Are in Accord with the President.

WAR'S CAUSES ARE SOUGHT

Final End in View Will Be a League to Defend Peace When Restored.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Nov. 28.—Regarding peace rumors and the interest in THE NEW YORK TIMES peace articles, Minister van Dyke gave the following interview today to THE TIMES correspondent:

"I have no information about the steps the American Government is reported to be taking to restore peace in Europe. If I had, of course I could not say anything at all on the subject; but as it is, I am free to speak of certain points which are matters of public knowledge.

"The first point is President Wilson's desire for peace and his offer of mediation at the beginning of the war. When this was refused he said that it still stood open, but would not be renewed except on the request of both belligerents. The first convention of The Hague Conference of 1907 declares that an offer of mediation, even during hostilities, cannot be regarded by either of the parties in the dispute as an unfriendly act. This leaves mediation open, but says nothing about the more important question of when it may be useful to help toward a just and lasting peace.

"Knowing the attitude of the United States Government regarding the present dreadful war in Europe, I believe we must trust to it to recognize and welcome the right moment when its services will be useful for a peace which will not carry in its breast the seeds and sanction of a future war.

"All neutrals and many people among the belligerents desire, like President Wilson, to know more clearly the causes and aims of this bloody conflict. Many explanations have been offered from both sides, but every one of them contained at least one vague undefined term; this is what needs to be made clear.

"The second point is the proposed league of peace, in favor of which President Wilson has spoken so clearly. The vast majority of Americans are with him not only in his views, but in his manner of expressing them. It is not a league to enforce peace now, but a league to defend peace when restored.

"Acceptance by the nations of the principle that it is a crime to make war without a previous appeal to reason, justice, arbitration, or conciliation would greatly enlighten the situation. It would be like an open and universal treaty of defense against such wars. It would condemn all secret treaties of offense as conspiracies against the league. It would really be a definition of one of the indispensable terms of peace in the present situation. It would also be one of the bases for the rebuilding of international law, which has suffered in this war like a cathedral under embarcation.

"Would it do away with aggressive war? Perhaps not; but it would make it vastly more perilous. It would exalt right above might and pledge all nations to defend the appeal to reason and justice before taking the sword.

"Who would insure the keeping of that pledge?

"There is no absolute guarantee for anything in this world, but in this case there would be three reasonable safeguards: First, the preparedness of the nations to maintain their pledge by force against any one of their number who broke it; second, a sense of national interest as bound up with the interest and welfare of mankind; third and ultimately, the force of an enlightened public opinion everywhere recognizing that aggressive war is simply a violent interruption of the process of civilization. Unless man is only a beast, such public opinion must be the final tribunal for all great cases. 'Securus judicat orbis terrarum.'"

REBUKES MORNING POST.

Daily Chronicle Hits 'Cheap Jibe' at America on Making Money.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, Nov. 29.—The Daily Chronicle, commenting today on yesterday's editorial in The Morning Post, says:

"Were we to take The Morning Post seriously, we would point out that if American interests in the war at which it casts a cheap jibe, had not taken the form of making money out of it, in other words, supplying munitions, the war would very likely have been over, as the Allies would not have had munitions to carry it on.

"But The Morning Post, having established a reputation for providing a daily shock to its readers, must maintain it. The Hearst papers in America have a similar struggle to keep up on the same sensational lines."

VERHAEREN KILLED BY TRAIN

Body of Poet Who Was Crushed to Death May Be Placed in Pantheon.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—Emile Verhaeren, the Belgian poet, was crushed to death last night at Rouen when trying to board a train.

The French Government has been requested by Senator Marchand to hold a national funeral for Verhaeren. It suggests that Verhaeren's body be placed in the Pantheon, there to be held until Belgium is freed.

Germans Send Back Exiles from Lille; Wilson to Renew Appeal for Belgians

President to Press Humanity Plea in Behalf of the Deported Civilians.

More Than 8,000 French Are Home Now and Others Are to Follow.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—New representations are about to be made to the German Government by the United States concerning the deportation of Belgian civilians for labor in Germany. What form they shall take has not been determined, but it became known tonight that the Administration was seriously exercised over the matter and was preparing for its next step with great deliberation, hoping to make it effective without straining the relations between the two countries.

The American Chargé, Grew, at Berlin recently took up this question informally with the German Foreign Office, and at the State Department's direction said that a most unfavorable impression was being created in neutral countries, particularly the United States. His effort was unavailing, however. The Foreign Office, in a note now on its way to Washington, replied that deportation of the Belgians was a military necessity, and was being carried on in accordance with international law governing the treatment of populations in conquered territory.

The Charge's preliminary report, the latest appeal for aid from the Belgian Government, and other information in the hands of the State Department, were discussed at today's Cabinet meeting, and Secretary Lansing remained with the President for nearly half an hour after the other members had left the White House. Ambassador Gerard, who is here for final conferences before returning to Berlin, and Colonel E. M. House also talked over the plight of the Belgians during visits to the White House and the State Department. It was said afterward that this situation had made such a profound impression that for the present at least it had displaced in interest the submarine issue.

Ambassador Gerard did not see the President, but at Mr. Wilson's request deferred his plan to leave for New York and will see him tomorrow. Regardless of whether it is decided to instruct Mr. Grew to act further immediately in the Belgian matter, the Ambassador will get the President's personal views on that subject as well as concerning the latest developments in submarine warfare.

State Department officials admit that the Government is proceeding with the greatest difficulty in endeavoring to help the Belgians. They say that virtually the only basis for representations is the broad ground of humanity, and that it is almost impossible to establish an incontrovertible statement of the facts in the case.

PARIS, Wednesday, Nov. 29.—Owing to reports from deported Belgian civilians now in Germany, says a Havas dispatch from Havre, the Belgian Government has been compelled to arrange for the sending of bread rations to their deported fellow countrymen.

A beginning has been made by the dispatch of 12,000 rations to the internment camp at Soldau, East Prussia. In the meantime a Committee for the Relief of Deported Belgian Civilians is being formed at Ghent.

10,000 OIL WORKERS GET WAGE INCREASE

Standard of New Jersey to Pay Employes 25 to 30 Cents More for Day's Labor.

RECENT STRIKE NO FACTOR

But Clothing Manufacturers Here, Facing Strike, Grant 60,000 Workers $3,000,000 Rise.

The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, following the lead of the United States Steel Corporation and other large corporations, announced yesterday a wage increase of from 25 to 30 cents a day for the 10,000 workers of four refineries. "Recognition of the increased cost of living, as well as the maintenance of the established policy of the company in keeping pace with, or ahead of the wage rate of other industrial establishments," were the reasons assigned for the action in a statement given out at the offices of the company at 26 Broadway.

Announcement of the new scale of pay will be made to the employes in notices to be posted in the refineries today. These notices will say:

Effective on Dec. 1, 1916, the following increase in wages will be made:
Common labor rate will be $2.80 per day.
Those now receiving less than $2.20 per day will be increased in proportion to the increase in common labor rate.
All other labor will be advanced 25 cents per day.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF N. J.,
C. B. HENNESSY, Supt.
Nov. 29.

Of the 10,000 affected, 4,000 are employes of the Constable Hook refinery at Bayonne, where several hundred workers went on strike last month and participated in many scenes of disorder, during which several persons met their deaths. However, the increase in wages at this time is purely voluntary, representatives of the company assert.

Besides the workers in Bayonne, employes of refineries at Elizabeth and Claremont, N. J., and Baltimore will get the increased wages. It was said that there was no plan at present to raise the wages of other Standard Oil corporations employes.

"The advance for common labor," according to the statement given out yesterday, "is from $2.20 to $2.50 for an eight-hour day, and will be enjoyed by about 2,500 workers. Those who receive less than $2.20 a day are principally in the apprentice class. The twenty-five-cent-a-day advance goes to skilled labor, which, in common with other classes, already has received increases in pay and reduction in hours of labor since July, 1915. In the present instance the schedule that affects unskilled labor is in advance of nearly all big manufacturing concerns, common labor receiving 31½ cents an hour for eight hours, against 25 to 27½ cents an hour for nine or ten hours.

"With the advances previously made in the wage scale, and without reference to the reduction in the hours of labor, this brings the increase in wages paid since August, 1915, to a total of 57 per cent.

"In addition to these advances, in September, 1916, the Standard Oil Company adopted the eight-hour day basis, with time and one-half for overtime. This change in working hours was made without loss to employes in daily wages,

EGG PRICES DECLINE AS BOYCOTT BEGINS

Housewives Say Their Fight Has Forced Wholesalers to Reduce Cost a Cent.

FREE MARKETS URGED AGAIN

Commissioner Dillon Says the Middleman Raises Prices—Aldermen to Investigate.

The egg boycott began yesterday, and the housewives who are back of the movement to crush the egg speculator predicted that it would become Statewide and perhaps nation-wide. Just how many obeyed the injunction to "cut the egg off the menu" was a question that could not be answered, but storage eggs and low-grade fresh eggs dropped a cent a dozen yesterday in the wholesale market. They were quoted at from 35½ to 36½ cents. These figures were given by Urner-Barry Company, 175 Chambers Street, the official price publishers of the Mercantile Exchange.

Nearly every civic body is now directing its efforts to reduce the high cost of living. Many of the Aldermen had food resolutions to offer, but the only one that was not referred to the Committee on Rules was one by Alderman William T. Collins. This called for an investigation into the subject as soon as possible. The Market Committee of Borough President Marks met and called for free open markets, like those established two years ago. Controller Prendergast was scored for charging high rents in city markets.

The State Department of Health and the Attorney General were petitioned by Joseph Hartigan, Commissioner of Weights and Measures, to investigate the cold storage warehouses. Notwithstanding all the inquiries food prices in general did not decline.

Dealers Scoff at Boycott.

"An egg boycott?" said one man in the trade. "Why there has been a boycott against eggs for some time. The boycott of the housewives can have little effect. The only persons who are buying eggs are those who have to use them, and they are using only what they require. This condition will continue as long as high prices rule."

The official reason for the decline in prices was given in the daily Urner-Barry report. "Storage eggs are lower under a reduction of speculative support," the report said, "and a disposition on the part of distributing trade to hold off and use up the stock on hand."

The Housewives' League, of which Mrs. Julian Heath is the head, sees an entirely different reason for egg prices, and they have begun in earnest the effort to see whether the egg gambler can be vanquished. At the headquarters of the league many letters were received from women, who promised not to buy eggs until prices were more in accord with what the housewife thought they should be. Mrs. Heath called up the chefs of some of the hotels and asked them to keep special egg dishes off the menu.

Told of Expert Corner.

"The boycott is already having its effect," said Commissioner Hartigan. "Some of the retail dealers are showing signs advising their customers that they will not sell cold storage eggs for more than 35 cents a dozen. Some of the

RUMANIAN CABINET QUITS BUCHAREST, MOVES TO JASSY

RUMANIANS BURN VILLAGES

TO SACRIFICE OIL PLANTS

Berlin Hears, However, That Ferdinand's Government, at Conference, Decided to Spare the Wells.

PARIS, Wednesday, Nov. 29.—The Rumanian Government and diplomatic authorities have left Bucharest and gone to Jassy, according to a Havas dispatch from Bucharest. Jassy lies about 200 miles north-northeast of Bucharest, near the Russian frontier.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—With the forces of the Central Powers in possession—according to German official reports, which hitherto have proved accurate with regard to recent events in Rumania—of Curtea de Arges, an important railway terminus eighty miles northwest of Bucharest, and Giurgiu, on the railway, about forty miles southwest of the capital, anxiety as to the fate of Bucharest is greatly increased.

Field Marshal von Mackensen's capture of Giurgiu shows that his army has advanced thirty miles in a single day. Further, a Bulgarian official communication claims that the Danube has been crossed near Lom Palanka and Vidin and the town of Kalafatu, opposite Vidin, captured.

Nothing is yet admitted by the Rumanians or Russians of these enemy advances, but it is assumed that the Rumanians are continuing their orderly retirement toward the line of the Argesiu River. A danger, however, lies in the possibility of this retirement not being effected quickly enough to prevent an attack on their flank from von Mackensen's forces at Giurgiu, from which point there is, or was, both rail and direct road communication to Bucharest.

Grave Misgivings Felt.

It is impossible to doubt that the situation is viewed here with the greatest misgivings. The question is being frankly asked whether the accession of Rumania to the Allies' cause has brought strength or weakness, whether Russia has rendered the assistance which might have been expected from her, and whether the Allies might not have shown more initiative in attack from Saloniki, whether the collapse in Rumania is due to any lack of unity in the Allies' plans or strategy, or whether it is due in large part to Rumania's nasty invasion of Transylvania.

On the other side of the account it has been noted that continued confidence is being displayed in Rumanian military and political circles, where the suggestion that Russia has not rendered all possible aid is warmly repudiated, and Rumanians appear fully convinced that it will not be long before the great efforts Russia is making will bear effective fruit. They point out that the Germans have failed to capture any great number of prisoners or guns, and that the position of the Rumanian armies in the matter of guns and supplies is daily improving, thanks to the Allies' redoubled efforts.

In the meantime all eyes are turned to Dobrudja, where, it is hoped, Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff, Commander of the Rumanian Army, may succeed in retrieving the situation by a countermove against von Mackensen's forces in that quarter, or, in the northern frontier passes, where, it is hoped, the Rumanians will be able to stem the further advance of von Falkenhayn's armies. Should these hopes be realized, it is believed that the Rumanians may be able to make a stand on the Argesiu River and save their capital.

Northern and Northwestern Fronts.—On the western frontier of Moldavia the situation is unchanged.

From the Buseu Valley to the region of Dragoslavele there have been patrol engagements and artillery bombardments, especially in the Prahovo Valley, where the enemy employed projectiles containing asphyxiating gases and also tear-producing shells.

Western Front.—In general, yesterday passed without any engagements except on the extreme right, where the enemy bombarded us with heavy artillery, and on the left wing, where there have been unimportant encounters.

Southern Front.—There has been an artillery bombardment on the Danube. In Dobrudja the situation is unchanged.

Following is the Petrograd bulletin:

Rumanian Front.—Transylvania: No report of any change in the situation has been received.

Danube Front.—Nothing of importance has occurred.

Dispatches from the German armies in Rumania, says an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen, report "that the Rumanians have destroyed the railway from Cernavoda to Bucharest, and are burning all the villages and stores of food in the course of their retreat.

Russians Also Take Serious View.

PETROGRAD, Nov. 28.—The size of Field Marshal von Mackensen's force, which crossed the Danube near Zimnitza and established at least partial union with General von Falkenhayn's army advancing from the north, has been underestimated in the early reports according to the most recent information from Rumania. The full strength of this group is not yet known, although some estimates place it at upward of two divisions, with the major part German troops. But it is evident, according to the viewpoint here, that the movement can no longer be called a demonstration.

Russian military experts say that the fate of Bucharest depends largely upon the success of the Rumanian left flank in extricating itself from the difficult position created by von Falkenhayn's swift invasion from the north, now made more embarrassing by the deep penetration of the forces which crossed the Danube. It is believed here that with

British Cruiser Sunk By a Mine, Berlin Says

BERLIN, Nov. 28. (By Wireless to Sayville.)—"It is reported from Rotterdam," says the Overseas News Agency, "that the British cruiser Newcastle, on Nov. 15, in the North Sea, struck a mine and sank at the entrance to the Firth of Forth while trying to reach a home port. The Newcastle at the time of the disaster was accompanied by two other cruisers. Of the crew of the Newcastle twenty-seven men were killed and forty-seven wounded."

The last report of the British cruiser Newcastle was in September, 1915, when she was reported leaving Callao for Guayaquil. She was a vessel of 4,800 tons, and was built in 1909.

GONZALES SETS OUT TO RELIEVE TREVINO

CITY CUT OFF THREE DAYS

Carranza Officials Admit Garrison May Have Withdrawn, but Its Fate Is Still Unknown.

JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 28.—Another day of suspense has passed without anything definite being announced as to the fate of the Carranza garrison of Chihuahua City. It now has been six days since the first skirmishing started, and three days since the telegraph line was cut.

Carranza officials here exhibited a telegram dated Nov. 27 as proof that Trevino was in the city yesterday.

Since early today persistent reports have been in circulation here and in El Paso that General Trevino was forced to abandon the State capital because his ammunition supply was exhausted. One report stated that he had gone south toward Tapiaopa, where he made his last stand yesterday before retiring further south. Other reports says his forces became divided, a part going south to join General Murguia's advancing column and the remainder moving north to Sauz.

High Carranza officials, as well as officers of General Gonzales's staff, admitted these reports might be true, and said it was possible that General Trevino had been forced to withdraw temporarily until General Murguia arrived with fresh troops and ammunition supplies. The temporary commander of the garrison here said he expected to hear that General Trevino had retired to Sauz to get ammunition from the north and to wait for Murguia's arrival to the south of the city.

Reports that refugees, including Americans and other foreigners, had reached Terrazas today, and also that General Carlos Ozuna had arrived there with the remnants of his cavalry column, were received here from various sources, but could not be verified by telegraph from Sauz or Terrazas.

General Francisco Gonzales left Juarez early today with 400 men, machine guns, and a carload of ammunition, and is expected to return tomorrow. He went to make a scouting trip and, if possible, to reach Sauz and organize a force to send to the assistance of General Trevino, it was announced here.

When a mixed passenger and freight train was about to leave here for Casas Grandes today, carrying American passengers and supplies for General Pershing's forces, it was stopped by the acting commander of the garrison until he could communicate with General Gonzales. At 11 o'clock the Mexico North-Western Railroad officials were told to stop the train by orders of Gonzales. It was believed the military wished to hold the equipment here in the event it should be needed to send additional troops south to Sauz.

EL PASO, Texas, Nov. 28.—Government officials here declared tonight they had received information which convinced them Villa was in Chihuahua City. It was known also that official reports to this effect had been sent to Washington.

One Government source gave out a report that Villa had ordered all of the foreign residents of Chihuahua City to leave on a special train for the border, but this report lacked verification. There are believed to have been six Americans in the city.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 28.—The report that Trevino has evacuated Chihuahua is discredited here. The recent victory of the Government troops is believed to have removed the danger of a Villa raid on Chihuahua. It is also pointed out that Trevino could not evacuate Chihuahua City, except under orders from General Murguia, whose reports do not indicate any such intention.

POINT IN PROTOCOL'S FAVOR.

Signing by Carranza May Free Munitions for Mexico.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Heavy expenditure of ammunition by General Trevino in his desperate fights with Villa at Chihuahua City is expected here to result in strong pressure upon Carranza for prompt ratification of the protocol signed at Atlantic City by the American-Mexican Commission. Although no representation was made by the Mexican members looking to a lifting of the embargo on arms and ammunition they were given to understand that consideration would be given to such representation if Carranza displayed a willingness to enter into an agreement whose basic principles would be the protection of the life and property of foreigners in Mexico.

Carranza's spokesmen informed the American Commissioners some weeks ago that scarcity of ammunition was hampering their Government's campaigns against rebel bands, and advices since the beginning of Villa's latest campaign have emphasized General Trevino's shortage of ammunition. Information has reached the Government indicating that General Obregon, Mexican Minister of War, had not supplied the Chihuahua arsenal so it could, as he could have, but in official Mexican quarters there was a denial of this today and a reiteration of the assertion that the shortage extended to the general stores.

Alberto J. Pani, the Mexican Commissioner designated to place before Carranza the protocol signed at Atlantic City, is expected to arrive at Queretaro, where the First Chief has established his capital, late tomorrow night. When Mr. Pani left New York he expected to urge prompt ratification of the agreement.

AIRPLANE BOMBS LONDON

Germans Admit Loss of Two Naval Airships

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (Via Wireless to Sayville.)—A German official statement on the air raid on England says that one airship was shot down and that another did not return. The statement reads:

On the night of Nov. 27-28 several German naval airships successfully bombed blast furnaces and industrial establishments in middle England. At several places conflagrations were observed.

An airship was shot down by the enemy near Scarborough, and another has not returned; as that it must be considered lost. The remaining airships returned and landed.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Two Zeppelins which raided the northeast coast and the northern counties last night were brought down off the English coast early this morning. The crews of both airships are said to have perished.

While London was celebrating the successful defense against the latest German raid today a German aeroplane flew over the city at great height. Six bombs were dropped, doing only slight material damage, while the latest reports from the police show that nine persons were injured by the bombs.

A late announcement by the Admiralty indicates that this aeroplane was no more successful than the Zeppelins, as a German machine, supposed to be the one which attacked London, was brought down near Dunkirk. The Admiralty statement says:

"The Commodore of Dunkirk has been informed by the French authorities that they brought down an aeroplane at 2:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, carrying two naval Lieutenants and with a large scale map of London aboard."

The unchallenged arrival of the aeroplane was due to the haze over London and the fact that the roar of the street traffic drowned the sound of its motors. some persons said they saw it, but the height at which it soared was so great as to make it impossible to distinguish it from one of the British machines, which are now as familiar sights as the clouds or the sun.

The bombs dropped seem to have been very small and filled with shrapnel. The walls of the houses in the neighborhood where they fell are pocked with small holes. Three bombs fell on the roofs of houses and one smashed a chimney stack. Three women seated in an upper room under the stack were not hurt. The furnishings of the room were not disturbed. Nearly all the other damage consisted of the breakage of windows.

Notwithstanding the insignificance of the raid itself, there is a common disposition here to regard it as a warning. The raid has reawakened the reprisal cry, and Premier Asquith is to be urged in the House of Commons to notify Germany that any recurrence will be followed by reprisals in the bombing of German towns.

The following official account of the Zeppelin raid was issued this morning:

A number of hostile airships approached the northeast coast of England between 10 and 11 P. M. last night. Bombs were dropped at various places in Yorkshire and Durham. The damage is believed to be slight.

One airship, attacked by airplanes of the Royal Flying Corps, was brought down in flames in the sea off the coast of Durham. Another airship crossed into the North Midland counties and dropped bombs on various places. On her return journey she was repeatedly attacked by airplanes of the Royal Flying Corps and guns. She appears to have been damaged, for the last part of the journey was made at very slow speed. She was unable to reach the coast before day was breaking. Near the Norfolk coast she apparently succeeded in effecting repairs and was proceeding east at high speed and at a height of over 8,000 feet, when she was attacked nine miles out at sea by four machines of the Royal Naval Air Service and an armed trawler and was brought down in flames at 9:45 A. M.

Full reports of the casualties and damage have not yet been received, but they are believed to be slight.

The damage caused by the Zeppelin attack was reported in a later official announcement, which follows:

The latest police reports show that the damage and casualties in last night's air raid were very slight, although over 100 bombs are known to have been dropped. One woman died from shock, while five men, seven women and four children were injured.

In one town fifteen houses were seriously and twenty slightly damaged. At other places in which bombs were dropped the damage was insignificant. There was no military damage of importance.

Official reports do not say how many airships crossed the coast, but apparently they were bombarded so severely by anti-aircraft guns, as well as attacked by airplanes, that they were unable to do much damage. Later were turned out in all the towns in the districts affected as soon as reports of the approach of airships were announced, and the commanders of the Zeppelins apparently had difficulty in locating themselves.

Great crowds, attracted to the seacoast by the firing, watched the Zeppelins as they descended in flames.

The Zeppelin brought down on the Dunkirk coast was first seen at midnight. It immediately was located by searchlights and soon a shell from the anti-aircraft guns hit her. She burst into flames and fell into the water in two pieces.

A correspondent on the northeast coast says the Zeppelin which approached from a southerly direction was immediately picked up by searchlights and subjected to a severe bombardment by anti-aircraft guns and aeroplanes. Within a few minutes her nose dipped and she burst into flames. The airship slowly fell to the sea, the whole district being brilliantly illuminated by the flare.

The destruction of the Zeppelins excited great enthusiasm in the northeast coast towns which had suffered so often in previous air raids. This morning the naval airman who arrived to report the success of the British in their fight against the airship which was making her way homeward when she was brought down received a tremendous ovation by the townspeople, who carried him shoulderhigh through the streets crowded with cheering people, while the sirens of the shipping shrieked triumphantly.

Regarding the report that the Germans used an airplane disguised as British, or one captured from the British, for today's raid on London, a member of the Government said in the House of Commons that he had no information on this subject.

AIR RAIDER THRILLS LONDON.

Curious Crowds Watch Daylight Visitor and Flock to Damaged Spots.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, Nov. 29.—Londoners had the unique thrill yesterday of seeing German aircraft dropping bombs on London in broad daylight. At high noon, when the thoroughfares teemed with people, an aeroplane darted through the heavy haze lying over London and discharged six bombs, causing injuries to four people and trifling damage to houses. It passed over a thickly populated neighborhood. Only slight harm was done to ——.

London had hardly begun to hear the fragmentary reports just filtering in of the Zeppelin raid on the coast during the night and was feeling elated over the two Zeppelins being brought down in flames when the bombs of the daylight visitor were heard. The official time of the raid was given between 11:40 and 12:30. During that time the German aircraft dropped six bombs. The falling bombs made nothing like the roar that London heard before in the night raids by Zeppelins, but sounded more like the pop of big guns half smothered in the noise of London traffic. Only those in the immediate neighborhood of the spot where the bombs fell actually realized it was a day raider, however, as the anti-aircraft guns are occasionally heard in practice over London, so that the people are getting accustomed to almost anything that goes on.

All six bombs were released within the space of a couple of minutes, as the raider traveled at the highest speed in a southeasterly direction, evidently making for the coast. The track of the bombs was in a direct line of a couple of miles or so. One bomb hit the tip of a dwelling house near a square, clipping off the coping and landing in a alleyway, where it made a hole three feet deep in the pavement. The windows in the back of the dwelling houses in the immediate neighborhood were broken, and the house that was struck was somewhat damaged, but not seriously.

The third bomb fell 200 yards away from the last one and crashed through the roof of a house, exploding in the drawing room and knocking things about. This house caught fire, but the flames were quickly extinguished. Another bomb dropped into an alleyway in the back and another on a house, tearing the windows out and chipping the walls with sharp fragments of shrapnel, besides blowing in the front of a vacant garage.

The fifth bomb fell in a side street, making a dent four feet deep in the street pavement and blowing out the windows and generally littering up the street.

In the meantime London is taking every advantage of its new thrill, not apparently thinking of getting excited over it. Within half an hour after the air raider disappeared all London was talking of it, and there soon began a tremendous rush to the spots where the bombs fell.

By the time of the lunch hour the streets around the bombed place were so dense with curious folk that it would only be herculean work for the police to keep a way for traffic. All afternoon the crowds kept coming, but the police had the bombed spots fenced in so nobody was able to see what damage had been done, except those able to get to the roofs of houses nearby and peep down. On these roofs a fringe of people could be seen far into the afternoon.

"It is highly improbable," says The Chronicle, "that anybody in London saw the hostile airplane. At the time of the aircraft's rapid flight over London the sky was extremely hazy."

The airplane, in its brief flight over a corner of London, took, broadly, a westerly course, and, having regard to the congestion of population and buildings, the surprising thing is the casualty list is so small and the damage so light. The engine was not audible to the naked ear, so unexpected was the bombing in broad daylight that in more than one place the loud reports were at first attributed to gas explosions.

At one place one house only was damaged. The bomb fell through the roof and penetrated to the basement, but did very little damage. A young woman was cut about the face with flying pieces of glass. An older woman, ill in bed, had an amazing escape, as the bomb came close to her head, smashing a washbasin at her side. The bedclothes were covered with broken pieces of crockery and other debris, but the woman herself was not touched.

To the rear of busy business streets a bomb came hurling through the roof of an office in which a young woman was employed. She was slightly injured, but escaped from the noxious fumes with which the apartment became charged, and emerged covered with dust. An explosive, not incendiary, bomb had been discharged. This appeared to be the case in every instance.

The bomb fell in the garden of a square and made a considerable hole. This perhaps was the most spectacular result of the raid, as far as material damage went.

Of the four persons taken to a hospital three suffered only minor injuries and were able, after treatment, to return home. A man, hurt with a gash in one leg, was detained, but the wound is not serious.

AIRSHIP CAUGHT IN A TRAP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, Nov. 29.—The Daily Chronicle's correspondent at a Norfolk coast town gives the following description by an eyewitness of the end of the Norfolk Zeppelin:

"The sight was simply glorious. Along the horizon the sky was rosy colored, and all around guns were spitting shells at the Zeppelin, which could just be seen on the edge of a big bank of mist over the roadstead.

"I should think the firing went on for the best part of twenty minutes, and the excitement among the crowd which thronged the waterfront was tremendous. The aim of the gunners was exceedingly good, and shells could be seen bursting quite close to the Zeppelin.

"Her endeavors to escape the trap into which she had plundered were exceedingly dramatic. First one way, then another, she turned, in order to escape the rain of projectiles, and each time her further progress barred.

"Cheers and cheers went up from the excited crowd as particularly well-aimed shells were seen to burst close to her, and several times there was a wild, exultant shout, as it seemed impossible she could escape, but her commander handled her with remarkable skill and there was something very like a groan of disappointment. Eventually she was seen to rise and drift still further seaward.

"By this time the sun had almost risen, and the light practically obscured the stars, but in the gray banks of sea mist we at last lost sight of the Zeppelin. There was the keenest speculation as to what our airmen were doing, and, although the guns were still firing, we feared the Zeppelin had escaped until suddenly from the right, out to sea, there was a tiny glow, which a moment later grew into a huge glare.

"It hung in the sky for a few seconds, growing brighter and still more intense, and then sank, slowly at first and then with increasing speed, until it disappeared in a great bank of mist. There was no mistaking what had happened, and directly the great red glare sank down there came a tremendous cheer, which seemed to ring over the whole town.

"Down in the harbor the steamers blew great shrieks of triumph from their sirens and hooters and for minutes the din was perfectly deafening."

The correspondent adds that as far as can be gathered the fight between the two seaplanes and the Zeppelin occupied about a quarter of an hour.

It is understood both airmen attacked with machine guns. At this time the Zeppelin was almost stationary, and it is said both officers circled round and round, firing as quickly as possible, while they themselves were subjected to a very heavy return fire.

DENIES RUSSIAN REPORT.

Berlin Says No Zeppelin Was Brought Down Near Pinsk.

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—The recent report of the bringing down by the Russians of a large Zeppelin airship, southeast of Pinsk on the Russian front, is officially denied in a statement issued today, reading:

Russian newspapers have spread a report that the Russians in the Sarny district, on the southwestern front, shot down a Zeppelin, made prisoners its inmates to the number of twenty-six and captured 800 kilograms of bombs, two cannon and two machine guns. It is officially stated that this report is invented.

38 Zeppelins Have Been Lost Since Beginning of War; Seven Fell in England and Four in the North Sea

The October issue of The Journal of the Proceedings of the United States Naval Institute, published at Annapolis by the officers of the navy, contains a summary of the German Zeppelin losses from the beginning of the war to Sept. 2 last. During that period thirty Zeppelins are listed, and of these it is said that the loss of twenty-four of the airships has been authenticated. Since Sept. 2 six other Zeppelins are known to have been destroyed, and two others are reported to have been wrecked, although the loss of these two is not absolutely established.

The list, as published in the Proceedings of the Institute, with the addition of aircraft lost since Sept. 2, is as follows:

No.	Name.	Place.	Date.	Cause of Loss.

AMERICAN SHIP SUNK WITH FLAG FLYING

had been received from the office at Genoa regarding the sinking of the ship.

The Chemung was an American steamship built at Buffalo in 1888 and was bought by her present owners, the Harbey Steamship Company, in April. She sailed from New York on Nov. 8 with a general cargo and put into the Azores a week ago for coal. She was due to arrive at Genoa today, the agents said.

The steamship carried thirty-five men all told and was commanded by Captain John L. Duffy. Ten of these, including the Captain, are Americans. She was of 3,032 gross tonnage and was 327 feet long.

Some of the items in the manifest of the Chemung, filed at the Custom House, were 5,760 plates of spelter, 854 tons of pig iron, 300 coils of copper wire, 96 barrels of copper, 200 bales of cotton, 153 cases of iron wire, and quantities of provisions. There was no ammunition or powder on her manifest.

GUNS FOR MERCHANTMEN.

British Admiralty Willing to Provide Them and Gunners.

LONDON, Nov. 29.—With reference to the much-discussed question of arming all British merchant steamers, it is said that the Admiralty in some instances has recommended that owners arm cargo steamers and has offered to provide a gun and gunners for them on the condition that the owners undertook the cost of strengthening the decks, but that the owners preferred to take their risks rather than incur the expense.

TEN OTHER VESSELS ARE SUNK BY U-BOATS

Two of Them Greek Ships—Four Lives Lost on British Passenger Steamer.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The sinking of ten vessels, two of them flying the Greek flag, was announced today by Lloyd's Shipping Agency. The loss of four lives attended the destruction of the City of Birmingham, a British vessel. Three of these were members of the crew and the other a physician who was a passenger. The vessels lost were:

	Tons.
The City of Birmingham, British	7,498
The Visbora, Norwegian	1,811
The Rhona, British	940
The Christoforos, Greek	3,046
The Michael, Greek	1,615
The Belle Ile, Norwegian	1,388
The Alfred de Courcey, French	104
The Marina, French	113
The Ranagarth, British	1,885
The Alison or Alert, British

The Captain and crew of the Visbora have been landed. The Captain reports that the Visborg was sunk by a German submarine. The Captain and crew of the Greek steamer Christoforos also report the steamer sunk by a German submarine.

SEES A SETTLEMENT OF GREEK QUESTIONS

BERLIN IGNORES VENIZELOS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ATHENS, Nov. 27, (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—A feeling of optimism prevails today in diplomatic circles, and there is a general rise in prices on the Bourse. That a satisfactory solution of the questions at issue is not excluded is due to the long interview which Admiral du Fournet had with the King this forenoon, and persons in a position to know express the belief that matters are now moving in a more normal manner. No Crown Council was held today as was expected yesterday.

It is said that the Admiral discussed with the King the question of public order, which, according to the Admiral, was in danger on account of threatened action by certain disloyal organizations. Members of the illegal reservists leagues, endeavoring to terrorize Athens and Greece, hold nightly meetings in various parts of the city and try to frighten Venezelists by following them and spying upon them after dark. This morning a number of prominent Liberals found red circles painted on the fronts of their houses, and the reservists give out that all houses so marked will be attacked at a given signal. It may be that no such thing will be attempted, but still such tricks inspire terror, especially among the wives and families of Venezelists who, obeying their leaders' strict injunctions, refrained from arming themselves. The number of reservists in the city is said to be 12,000.

The latest move of the Government is to make démarches in London, Petrograd, and Rome, in the hope of persuading the three Cabinets to obtain a reduction of Admiral du Fournet's demands or their complete withdrawal. No representation of this nature has been made in Paris. The Premier says that the Cabinet's final reply to the Admiral will be drawn up when the result of these démarches comes to hand. He denies rumors of the pending resignation of the Cabinet.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ATHENS, Nov. 27, (Dispatch to The London Times.)—Admiral du Fournet has been received in audience by King Constantine and has drawn his Majesty's attention to the gravity of the situation. Hopes of a settlement are expressed.

The French Admiral subsequently visited several Venizelist merchants who had been threatened and promised them protection if the designs of the reservists should take shape.

Telegrams from Larissa state that reservists resisted the removal of guns at the station, and, having seized two of them, dismounted them and conveyed them to the public square, where speeches were delivered, and the rioters swore not to allow the guns to be surrendered. The guns were then handed over to the commander of the Third Army Corps, who has likewise sworn not to deliver them. Shots were fired by reservists during this demonstration. When the Venizelist newspapers arrived by train, these were burned.

Admiral du Fournet has demanded an explanation of works executed on Mills that surround the station. He has been assured that they are not in the nature of fortifications.

From a Staff Correspondent.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (via Sayville.)—Nothing is known officially so far of any declaration of war against Germany by the Greek Provisional Government. The Greek Minister in Berlin also is without news from Athens. His status here would not be affected by any action of M. Venizelos, who, according to the prevailing German view, is a rebel against the legally constituted Government. His declarations probably would be ignored.

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—A Vienna dispatch says the Austro-Hungarian Government has made a protest against the expulsion from Greece of the Ministers of the Central Powers.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—German newspapers received here say that Germany will not recognize the declaration of war by the Venizelos Provisional Government at Saloniki and that any Venizelist prisoners taken will not be considered entitled to treatment as prisoners of war.

According to advices from Athens the Government of Greece today appealed to the neutral nations, through the Greek diplomats at the respective neutral capitals, against the conditions being employed by the Entente Powers toward Greece.

NEW PLEA TO POPE FOR BELGIAN EXILES

Baron Beyens Quotes The New York Times in a Diplomatic Note Sent to Rome.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—THE NEW YORK TIMES is mentioned in a diplomatic communication sent by Baron Beyens, the Belgian Minister of Foreign Affairs, to the Belgian Minister at Rome for presentation to the Pope and to the Belgian Minister at Madrid for presentation to King Alfonso. Baron Beyens's dispatch follows:

"The situation in Belgium is becoming from day to day more terrible. The raids on able-bodied Belgians now extend to all parts of Belgium and they are being forced to work in the munitions factories. They are being sent into the occupied districts of France to construct systems of trenches and a strategic railway from Lille to Givet. The Germans boast that they will soon deport 350,000 men.

"The requisitions of material in our factories continue with the avowed purpose of preventing, after peace is declared, the rehabilitation of industry and thus doing away with a competitor by ruining the country. The machines which can be put to use are carried away while the others are sold for their weight in iron.

"The Governor General, in an interview with a reporter for THE NEW YORK TIMES, pretends that these deportations en masse are unaccompanied by untoward incidents; that the Belgians leave their homes gladly. In reality, they suffer at once the horrors of moral torture and physical suffering, the full disgrace of slavery.

"The German Government attempts to excuse itself by citing the necessity to combat unemployment which the Government itself has caused by forbidding the communes to employ the unemployed without its authorization, by preventing them, as in Luxemburg, from utilizing the unemployed on public works, and by forbidding the operation of the collieries in Luxemburg, which is given over to the violence of the military authorities which the civil authorities permit and even approve.

"Insist strongly that the Government to which you are accredited ask the German Government to protest on the consequences of these crimes against humanity which are being committed in its name. Germany, before being forced to give up our country, wants to suck out its life blood. But in thus going to extremes to torture it, Germany puts herself outside the pale of nations, and, instead of forcing her adversaries to accept peace, she raises up the entire civilized world against her."

RUMANIAN CABINET MOVES TO JASSY

the loss of Western Wallachia the Rumanians will concentrate all their forces before Bucharest in order to save the capital.

Colonel Shumsky, military critic of the Bourse Gazette, finds encouragement in the fact that the main enemy forces are still engaged near Campulung and cannot spare enough men to strike a decisive blow from the west.

Berlin Report of Successes.

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—The Austro-German forces in Western Rumania are continuing with success their drive toward Bucharest, the War Office announces. New operations have been begun and additional ground has been gained by the invaders. The town of Curtea de Arges, (twenty miles southwest of Campulung and eighty miles northwest of Bucharest,) has been captured by General von Falkenhayn's forces, while the Bulgarians have captured the important Danube town of Giurgiu, on the railroad, thirty-seven miles south of Bucharest. The statement reads:

Front of Archduke Joseph—Eastern Transylvanian front: There was an increase in local artillery activity. Several Russian reconnoitring detachment were repulsed.

The Alt has been crossed. Further operations have been initiated, beginning with engagements that resulted in substantial successes for us. Curtea de Arges is in our possession.

Army Group of Field Marshal von Mackensen—In Dobruja there has been moderate fighting activity.

The Danube army has gained ground. Giurgiu was captured yesterday.

The Lokal-Anzeiger says that at a conference called by the Rumanian Government the suggestion was advanced that the Rumanian oil wells be destroyed. The proposal was negatived, the newspaper says, but it was decided to destroy the plants connected with the wells.

The Lokal-Anzeiger calls attention to the fact that a large amount of capital from neutral countries, including the United States and Holland, is invested in the Rumanian oil fields, and says it is to be feared that the destruction of the plants will injure the wells.

More Bulgars Cross Danube.

SOFIA, Nov. 27, (via London, Nov. 28.)—Bulgarian troops have effected three more crossings of the Danube, all of them behind the Austro-German front in western Rumania. The crossings were made from the Bulgarian fortresses of Rahovo, Lom-Palanka and Vidin. This announcement was made by the War Office, which also reports the repulse of Russo-Rumanian attacks in Dobrudja. The statement follows:

In Dobrudja there was artillery firing along the whole front. By a strong counterattack we drove back the enemy from Hill 234 and the village of Erkenek and dispersed two battalions near this village. We also repulsed easily an attack by certain positions of the Third Russian Cavalry Division against the narrow strip of territory east of Lake Tachaul, as well as an infantry attack south of the village of Ester. Turkish artillery drove out enemy infantry intrenching itself opposite the Turkish troops.

Between Rustchuk and the Cerna, (along the southwestern Rumanian front,) artillery firing occurred, the enemy hurriedly fortifying the left bank of the Danube. Our troops that crossed the Danube near Sistova continue their advance, according to the plan, in Wallachia. Near the village of Rahovo our troops crossed the Danube and occupied Beshet. Other Bulgarian troops crossed the Danube, near the towns of Lom-Palanka and Vidin, and occupied the opposite bank. The Town of Kalafatu, (in Rumania, opposite Vidin,) is in our power.

BUILDS NEW SLEEPING CARS.

Teuton Company to Replace Famous European Train Equipment.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (via Sayville.)—The cars of the famous Wagon-Lit Company, so familiar to Americans traveling on Continental railways, will, so far as German railways, and probably her allies' railways, are concerned, be replaced by similar but thoroughly modernized cars of a new German company, which has just been founded, with the modest capital of $1,000,000. The old French-Belgian company had a monopoly in nearly the whole of Europe to run its sleeping cars, dining cars, and parlor cars over the various railways, and the famous trains, such as the North and South Express, connecting Petrograd and Constintinople with the west of Europe, were composed entirely of wagons-lit.

When the war broke out this French-Belgian service ceased abruptly, and its handsome cars have since been turned into rolling hospitals and carry the wounded from the battlefields, instead of bridal couples on their honeymoon trips, as in peace times.

Even before the war the Prussian-Hessian Union of State Railways decided not to renew the contracts with the French-Belgian company, but create a service of its own. Since the beginning of the war, the new company has been forming, in which Austrian, Hungarian, and German capital participate proportionately.

DE GIERS TO JOIN CABINET.

Petrograd Hears He Will Be Foreign Minister in Trepoff's Ministry.

LONDON, Wednesday, Nov. 29.—A semi-official dispatch from Petrograd says that Count Bobrinsky has been removed as Minister of Agriculture and appointed Grand Master of the Imperial Court.

Michel de Giers, Russian Ambassador at Rome, will probably be appointed Minister of Foreign Affairs in the new Trepoff Cabinet, according to a Petrograd dispatch to The Morning Post. The dispatch says that if appointed M. de Giers will pursue the same policy as that associated with the name of Sergius Sazonoff, namely, the complete solidarity of Russia and her allies.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Secretary Lansing today received from Walter H. Page, the American Ambassador at London, the text of the British Government's note refusing to grant a safe conduct to Count Tarnowski von Tarnow, the newly chosen Austro-Hungarian Ambassador to the United States. The text of the communication was withheld by Secretary Lansing, and State Department officials declined to comment on it.

The main reason given for refusing to grant the request of the Austro-Hungarian Government for a safe conduct is that the actions of Austrian and German Embassies and Consulates have been so much in excess of regular diplomatic functions as to make the British Government feel justified in withholding consent to the request of the Austro-Hungarian Government.

The action of the British Government, it should be made clear, is not a refusal of any request made by the United States Government. It is merely a refusal of a request made by the Austro-Hungarian Government. The Austro-Hungarian Government asked this Government to submit a request to Great Britain and France for a safe conduct for the new Ambassador. Secretary Lansing sent this application to the American Ambassador in London, with instructions to submit it to the British Government. He merely presented the Austro-Hungarian Government's request and did not present it as the request of the United States Government.

While it is not known that this Government has yet determined on a course of action, it would not be surprising if the United States Government should now, speaking for itself and the British Government, to grant a safe conduct to Count Tarnowski. It is asserted in a credible quarter this afternoon that if such a request were made by the United States Government, the British Government would grant it.

While the principle involved is the refusal to grant the Austro-Hungarian Government's request is considered important by the British Foreign Office, it is believed here that it is not of great enough importance to warrant the British Government raising an issue at this time. The Austro-Hungarian Government is now represented here by a counselor of the embassy, and refusal to grant safe conduct to Count Tarnowski, it was pointed out, would not close down the embassy of its activities.

Adams Express Company buys 100 Special 2-ton Worm Drive Brockway Motor Trucks

In 1915 the Adams Express Company ordered their first fleet of Brockway Special Motor Trucks, and gave them a thorough trial under the most severe conditions. In the fall of 1915 they ordered another fleet.

And now comes this order for 100 more—one of the largest single truck orders ever placed at one time for strictly commercial use.

This order means—not mere confidence—but knowledge that the Brockway Truck meets the requirements of this most exacting business.

BROCKWAY
"The right way"

The Brockway is planned and built as a motor truck should be. Every unit is designed and built by the manufacturer who excels in that particular line, makes the greatest quantity of these units, and can therefore furnish the highest grade at the lowest price.

This, plus Brockway engineering, offers you a highly specialized and thoroughly well designed and constructed truck for several hundred dollars less than you would otherwise pay for it.

Over 1000 firms in U. S. use Brockway Trucks including:

United States Post Office Department
Standard Oil Company
Bethlehem Steel Company
Borden's Condensed Milk Company
National Casket Company
Western Electric Company
Continental Can Company
American-La France Fire Engine Company

GERMAN GUNS SHELL BRITISH ON ANCRE

London Reports Many Successful Airplane Raids — Fighting Renewed Near Souchez.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The British positions on both sides of the Ancre were heavily shelled today, according to the British official report this evening. There was considerably more activity today than for several previous days, although the general situation is unchanged. The night bulletin follows:

There was considerable hostile shelling today against our front on both sides of the Ancre. Our retaliations were prompt and effective.

The enemy also bombarded our lines south of Souches, and his trench mortars were active south of Armentieres. Our artillery shelled the area of La Bassee.

Yesterday much successful artillery and reconnoissance work was accomplished by our aircraft. Several pieces of military importance were attacked and bombed. In one instance a large explosion was caused.

In aerial combats one hostile airplane was destroyed; another was driven down damaged. Two of our machines are missing.

The British afternoon report says:

Last night our line north of Ypres was heavily and continuously shelled. Our casualties were small. We exploded a mine southeast of Souches and consolidated the crater. Three enemy bombing attacks against the crater were repulsed.

The French afternoon report follows:

An attack during the night upon a salient position to the east of Maisons de Champagne was easily repulsed. The night elsewhere on the front passed quietly.

There has been little fighting today, according to the statement issued this evening. It says:

There was moderate artillery activity in the region of the Somme and in the Douaumont sector. Calm prevailed on the rest of the front.

BERLIN, Nov. 28. (by Wireless to Sayville.)—German Army Headquarters issued the following official statement today:

RIVERSIDE PLAN ATTACKED.

Hines Follow Frank Moss's Refusal to Mitchel as Fusion Mayor.

The plan now before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment for retracking the New York Central Railroad along Riverside Drive by granting the road a franchise to use land now constituting part of Riverside Park and later by reconstructing the park over the new tracks was referred to as "the New York Central deal" last night in speeches at a mass meeting called by the West End Association at Leslie Hall, Broadway and Eighty-third Street.

Frank Moss, former Assistant District Attorney, was one of the most vigorous opponents of the plan. He intimated that the influence of the railroad might be traced to some of the city boards, and said that efforts had been made by the present city Administration to jam the project through last June, but that these efforts had been frustrated by the activities of civic organizations. He added that a movement was on foot to have Mayor Mitchel re-elected on a Fusion ticket.

At this point there was hissing in parts of the hall, in which an audience of about 600 persons had gathered. Mr. Moss tried to quiet the hissing by telling the audience not to pass judgment yet, but the hissing continued until he had gone on to the discussion of other matters.

Congressman Walter M. Chandler, Republican, whose district includes part of the territory affected by the proposed changes, was another speaker who vigorously opposed the proposed plan. He said he was opposed to any plan which would result in defacement of the Drive and park as long as this plan would. He said it would result in the killing of many trees, some of them as large as 36 inches in diameter and of about 9,000 shrubs, while the railroad was laying its new tracks.

Borough President Marks said the public impression that the plan had been indorsed by leading civic organizations was false and misleading. Former Dock Commissioner Calvin Tompkins, Charles L. Craig, and Mrs. Charles Austin Bryan, President of the Women's League for the Protection of Riverside Park, were among the other speakers. A resolution was passed by the meeting that any agreement between the city and the railroad should be one that provided for the continued use of the park and that no contract should be entered into until its terms had been given the widest publicity.

GERMAN SHIPPING PLANS FOR PEACE

BUILDING NEW VESSELS

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (via Sayville.)—In an article in the Tageblatt on the development of the German mercantile fleet for use after the war, Captain Persius comments on the great optimism prevailing in the most interested and best informed quarters, which seem indifferent to the threat of "war after the war" and are making the most elaborate preparations to take up business where they left off in the early days of August, 1914.

To that end, Captain Persius says, amalgamations of a far-reaching nature have been effected by the largest shipowning companies with the Captains of iron and coal production, Krupp and Stinnes, for instance, being closely allied now with the two largest German steamship lines, the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg-American. Some of the foremost German bankers, like von Gwinner,are now actively interested in mercantile navigation, new shipbuilding yards are being built and many new ocean greyhounds will surprise the world when peace comes.

Despite all this optimism, German shipping men do not blink the fact that tremendous efforts will be necessary to offset the great advantages gained by neutral and entente mercantile fleets during the war through the unparalleled freight rates, which have not only wiped out their heavy losses in tonnage, but have brought immense profits to the owners. While their former competitors have flourished in a way never dreamed of, German ships have lain idle in home harbors, interned in neutral ports or pressed into the service of the enemy, and some have been sunk by him. The vessels that remain are eating up much capital in repairs and maintenance, and their seaworthiness has constantly decreased. The longer the war lasts the greater these losses will be.

German shipowners, however, are determined to see their difficulties through, regardless of cost, being convinced that as peace is concluded the German mercantile flag will again be seen in all oceans. They base their belief principally on the firm conviction that free navigation on the seas and free commerce among the nations are inflexible laws of nature, and that those who raise their hands against them must suffer themselves. At the beginning of the war super-patriots, even in Germany, started a stay-at-home propaganda. They wished to burn their ships, let home products suffice for their needs and refrain from traveling. After two years of war, however, it is held that common sense should come into its own again, and that it should be remembered that all civilized peoples are dependent upon one another. Those responsible for the removal of interest in shipbuilding say that the mischievous doctrine that one nation's progress must be another nation's defeat, that one people's fortune means another's misfortune, has been at the bottom of this war, as it was at the bottom of the competition for the world's markets. Every competent merchant knows that the consuming capacity of any market may be unlimited if wisely administered, and that one competitor's success is soon balanced by another's efforts. The interests of competitors, they say, are strongly interconnected; one serves the other's benefit; so the State is likewise dependent on the prosperity of its competitors.

For such reasons German shipping men have little fear of threats of a projected war on German trade after the war, of which, indeed, little has been heard lately from England and France.

TURKS REFUSE TO LET AMERICANS QUIT JAFFA

Porte Rescinds Its Agreement, Despite Ambassador Elkus's Remonstrances.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Word that the Turkish Government has rescinded its previous agreement to allow several hundred Americans to leave the Turkish Empire via Jaffa reached the State Department today from Ambassador Elkus at Constantinople. The Ambassador was informed that it was impossible, from military considerations, to let them depart, and that the official who made the agreement spoke without authority.

The resources of diplomacy seem to have been exhausted in the situation, and it is not known what action may be taken in an effort to bring Turkey to terms.

The exact number of persons affected cannot be learned, owing to the fact that direct communication with the shore is not permitted, nor is it known what is the proportion of native Americans to those who have taken out first papers or become fully naturalized. Many are said to be naturalized Syrians and Armenians, although a number of native American missionaries are known to be included.

The American cruiser Des Moines, now at Alexandria, is due soon at Jaffa, where, after unloading Red Cross supplies, she had been expected to take on the refugees. It is understood now, however, that officers from the vessel will not even be allowed to land to investigate conditions.

The War Situation

BY THE MILITARY EXPERT OF THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Yesterday's fighting brought no relief to the Rumanians, no improvement in their position.

The Teutons, on the other hand, have made some progress and have taken a step which may well result in the rapid throwing back of the Rumanian Army on the defenses of Bucharest. This is the capture of Giurgiu. This town is on the Rumanian side of the Danube, directly opposite the Bulgarian fortress of Ruschuk. It is an important railroad town, and has been for years one of the centres of Rumanian shipping. Just how the Teutons captured it, whether as the result of an advance of Mackensen's troops who recently captured Alexandria, or whether it was the result of a new crossing of the river, has not been reported. As matters stand now, it promises to bear the same relation to the present Rumanian line that Zimnitsa and Alexandria did to the line of the Alt.

An advance from Giurgiu would turn the entire Rumanian position, flank it out of its line along the Vedea, and force it to fall still further back. In falling back, it would have to come east of Giurgiu, as any position west of that point would be in the same plight as the present line. The only line available seems to be that of the Arges River, which flows from northwest to southeast into the Danube. This stream, particularly near its mouth, is nearly as large as the Alt, and for practically its entire length is paralleled by a railroad which runs east of the river valley. It is to this line that a Rumanian retreat may be looked for. This will throw the Rumanian Army directly before Bucharest, and the battle for the capital will begin.

Yesterday's reports contain another item of more or less interest in this connection. That is the reported capture by the Teutons of the village of Curtea de Arges. This town is south of Campulung and is on the Upper Arges River. The fact that the Teutons have taken a point on the northern part of what must be the Rumanian line of ultimate defense is not in itself particularly significant. It does not mean, as would be the case if the capture were in the south where the river is wide, that this line had been turned, and that it is therefore no longer available as a line of defense.

There are a great many streams which have their source in the same neighborhood as does the Arges, and whether this one or that one be crossed makes but little difference. They are at their source but little more than brooks; all of them are in mountainous country, and one is as good as another for Rumanian purposes. The question, however, is, Does this advance mark the beginning of the giving way of the Rumanian line along the northern border? Here is the most vital point at present in the Rumanian line. If this section of the front gives way, the Rumanians will be struck a fatal blow far in their rear which will threaten their line of communications all the way east as far as Bucharest. In fact, it will almost flank the defenses of Bucharest. If this line holds, there is still a chance of the Rumanians saving their capital.

Judging from the lack of activity on the Russian front, the Russians are exerting, or are preparing to exert, all of their energies toward saving the Rumanians from utter defeat. They have temporarily abandoned their Galician campaign, it is reported, and are pouring troops and supplies down the Czernowitz-Bucharest road. This will of course greatly strengthen the Rumanians actually, but whether it will do so relatively is another question.

It is perfectly obvious that if the Russians weaken their front so as to give aid to the Rumanians this fact will become known to the Germans. The latter then have two possible replies to make: either to make an attack against the Russian lines to force the troops to return, or to do as the Russians themselves do, withdraw their own forces so as to strengthen Mackensen and von Falkenhayn. In the latter case the relative increase of the Rumanian forces will be practically nil. The latter course is the one that the Teutons would more probably follow. They know that they cannot eliminate Russia from the war now. Any success that they might gain through leveling their attack against the weakened Russian lines would be entirely unimportant and of only minor value.

The elimination of Rumania is not only possible, but probable. The Teutons are anxious to make their task, so successfully begun, complete in every detail. It is therefore probable that whatever steps Russia takes to add to the strength of the Rumanian resistance will be met by the Teutons with a reinforcement of the attacking forces.

The mystery surrounding the plans of the Allied General Staff is increasing. In the case of Serbia, the various Entente powers (there was no General Staff at that time) seemed stunned into inactivity. They could not, it seemed, believe what was going on and sat waiting to see if it should turn out to be true that the Teutonic armies were on their way to Monastir and that Serbia was being crushed out of being. During that period there was not a sign of a movement anywhere to relieve the situation. Nothing could show more clearly, it was felt, the pitiful result of the lack of unity in command. Each power appeared to be acting on its own initiative, and as no one elected to move they all stood still while Serbia was wiped out.

This tragedy, more than any other one event of the war, led to the formation of the Allied General Staff. Never again, it was thought, could the Serbian tragedy be re-enacted. But a year has gone by. The Allies are still paying the price of their failure to move in sufficient time to Serbia's rescue. Then Rumania came on the scene, Rumania, with a well-trained though inexperienced army and the best strategical position one could imagine for a fatal thrust at the Teuton domination of the Oriental railroad. And once again we saw the Teutons preparing a death blow for this newest of the Allies. But we also saw the Allied General Staff; we saw the unity of control which had been lacking in the case of Serbia, and we said that these things cannot be done. But while the Allies are all watching the fighting with bated breath, while all the advantage which accrued to them through Rumania's intervention is being swept aside, while Rumania is being thrust back into the position of innocuous neutrality, the Allies again sit and wait. For what, no one knows. Why some form of activity somewhere is not going on to relieve the general situation is not apparent.

Everything seems to point to the advantage of doing something, and doing it now. There can be but little if any doubt that somewhere Germany had to weaken her lines in order to draw together sufficient men for the Rumanian thrust. They probably came from the western front and made the French stroke at Verdun possible. But there must be further opportunities. Will the Allies ignore them, or will some other point blaze out into activity before the opportunity is lost?

ARMENIAN REFUGEES FLEE FROM TURKEY

Relief Committee Reports Thousands Hid in Caves a Year Were Hunted Like Wild Animals.

The State Department yesterday transmitted to the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, 70 Fifth Avenue, cablegrams from agents of the committee in Constantinople, Tabriz, Beirut and Tiflis, which reported a wild rush of thousands of famished Armenian refugees from Turkey into the Russian Caucasus.

"The most startling information is contained," says a statement issued by the committee, "in a cable from the American Consulate at Tiflis. It is signed by the Rev. George C. Reynolds, for forty years a missionary at Van, Turkey, in the centre of the Armenian districts, and by Ernest A. Yarrow and Harrison A. Maynard, also American missionaries. The cable reads:

After a year of hiding in caves, hunted like wild animals, thousands of new refugees are coming from Turkey. They are being fed by the Russian Government, but are destitute of bedding and clothing. There is great suffering from the severe climate. After personal investigation by our committee we urge an appropriation of a hundred thousand dollars for bedding for 15,000 new refugees. Thousands of women with children to support are in distress and hopeless.

Our committee is now employing 1,000 women in Erivan in industrial work. As many more have been turned away in despair. We are opening a new centre in Alexandropol and strongly urge an appropriation of $200,000 to employ 7,000 women for six months at $1 per week. Moral as well as physical results already are very apparent.

REYNOLDS,
YARROW,
MAYNARD.

"From one of the most important centres the following message has just been received: 'Existing relief work now in charge of Americans reaches over fifty localities. Allotments must be increased at this season. Requests from Americans total $100,000 a month. More funds needed immediately.'

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The American Red Cross and the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief have jointly contributed $16,000 for the support of more than 4,000 Armenian refugees living in a "tent city" on the outskirts of Port Said, Egypt, according to an announcement made today at the Red Cross offices here.

Among the refugees are 700 afflicted with pellagra, whose special diet increased the camp expenses. The camp is now largely self-sustaining, for patients who are able to work are steadily employed. Many are making army shirts, which are sold to the British Government.

Through agents in Salonika the American Red Cross is planning an extensive relief scheme for southern Serbia, which will go into effect as soon as the advance of the Serbian forces permits entrance into the country. The organization hopes to get aid to 200,000 persons or more. A first shipment of food supplies, costing $5,000 will leave New York in a day or two.

AUSTRIAN GUNS ACTIVE.

Italian Front in the Trentino and Near Gorizia Heavily Shelled.

ROME, Nov. 28, (via London.)—Active artillery fighting is in progress along the Isonzo front, the War Office reports. The text of the report follows:

In the Trentino, from the Sarca to the Adige Valley, enemy movements and artillery duels are reported.

On the Julian front the enemy's artillery and trench mortars were particularly active in the Plava area and east of Gorizia. A few shells fell in the town, damaging some buildings. Our batteries replied effectively.

NEW LOCAL CUNARD HEAD.

Chairman Booth of the Line Here to Appoint a General Manager.

Sir Alfred A. Booth, Chairman of the Cunard Line, arrived yesterday from Liverpool on the Laconia to appoint a General Manager for the United States, in place of Charles P. Sumner, who retires at the end of the year. The Chairman was non-commital, but it has been understood in shipping circles that T. Ashley Sparks of Funch, Edye & Co. is to be the new General Manager.

Mr. Sparks is an Englishman who has been twenty years in the steamship freight business in New York. Charles P. Sumner and his predecessor, Vernon H. Brown, were both Americans. Mr. Sparks will be the first Englishman to be Manager of the company in America.

DEAD EMPEROR LIES IN STATE

Great Throngs File Past Francis Joseph's Coffin in Hofburg Chapel, Vienna.

TAKEN THERE AT NIGHT

Flickering Torches Lighted the Way as the Solemn Procession Wound Through Wet Streets of Capital.

VIENNA, Nov. 28, (via London.)—The doors of the black-draped Hofburg Chapel, where rests the silver casket with the body of Emperor Francis Joseph, were opened at 8 o'clock this morning. The waiting throngs of people then began to file through to pay their last respects to the dead Emperor.

All classes were represented, rich and poor, gentry and workingmen and women standing shoulder to shoulder in the crowd taking their turn in passing before the unopened casket.

The removal of the body from the Schoenbrunn Palace to the Hofburg Chapel last night was a most impressive spectacle. Tens of thousands of patient spectators, unmindful of the inclemency of the weather, stood in the cold dampness and filled the windows at every vantage point as the cortège passed through the streets, its way lighted by flickering torches.

The strange procession, patterned after the old Spanish examples, left the palace a little after 10 o'clock and reached the chapel, after passing through two of Vienna's busiest thoroughfares, shortly before midnight. It moved between two lines, comprising thousands of infantry, preceded by a score of equerries with lanterns whose flames were hard to keep alive in the gusts of wind sweeping over the wet pavement.

All heads in the silent crowd were bared as the procession, its centre the hearse, drawn by eight black horses, passed by. So silent was the attendant populace that the noise of the wheels was the only sound to be heard. Behind the procession the crowd melted into the night.

At the Hofburg the procession entered the main gate and disappeared within the gloomy courts of the ancient palace, dissolving as silently as it had passed through the streets, while the coffin was borne into the chapel, where the Imperial family awaited it and where it will continue to be exposed tomorrow and Thursday.

German Royalties Going to Funeral.

From a Staff Correspondent.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (via Sayville.)—Great preparations are afoot in all parts of Germany for proper representation at Emperor Francis Joseph's obsequies.

Prince Ferdinand of Bavaria, who is also an Infant of Spain, has already left for Vienna, where he will join the suite of King Alfonso. Prince von Fuerstenberg, who is also an Austrian dignitary, left for Vienna several days ago.

All the reigning German Princes will gather at a certain railway station and continue together to Vienna. They will be accompanied by imposing suites. The South German Princes will travel from their commands directly to Vienna, where they will arrive about the same time as the North German Princes, so that one grand reception ceremony may be arranged. Kaiser Wilhelm will leave Grand Headquarters in time to participate in the reception. Military and civil delegations from various parts of Germany are starting daily in large numbers for the Austrian capital.

NEW AUSTRIAN ARMY CHIEF.

Archduke Eugene in Supreme Command—Hoetzendorf a Field Marshal

LONDON, Nov. 28.—Archduke Eugene of Austria has been made a Field Marshal and promoted to the supreme command of the Austro-Hungarian forces in succession to Archduke Frederick of Austria, according to a dispatch from Rome to the Wireless Press, which says the information was obtained from an Austrian source.

BERLIN, Nov. 28, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—Col. Gen. Conrad von Hoetzendorf, formerly Chief of the General Staff of the Austro-Hungarian Army, has been promoted to be Field Marshal, says the Overseas News Agency.

Archduke Eugene has been in command of the Austrian forces operating on the Italian front since May of last year. Previous to that time he commanded the Austrian force which invaded Serbia.

Many and many a girl has a clear, healthy complexion today because some friend came to her with that sound advice. Resinol Soap not only is delightfully cleansing and refreshing, but its daily use reduces the tendency to pimples, offsets many ill-effects of cosmetics, and gives nature the chance she needs to make red, rough skins white and soft.

If the skin is in bad shape, through neglect or improper treatment, a little Resinol Ointment should at first be used with the Resinol Soap, to hasten the return to normal conditions. Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment are sold by all druggists. For free samples, write to Dept. 2-N, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

BUILT UP A BUSINESS OUT OF HIS THEFTS

$25-a-Week Clerk Tells How He Stole Nearly $100,000, Then Goes to Cell Satisfied.

RAN CHAIN OF CIGAR STORES

Kept Three Motors, Bought of Firm He Was Robbing, and Is Able to Repay Nearly All.

Adolf J. Loeffler was locked up in the Tombs last night after he had confessed that for two years he had stolen nearly $1,000 a week from Francis H. Leggett & Co., wholesale grocers, by whom he was employed as a shipping clerk at $25 a week in the warehouse at Thirteenth Avenue and Twenty-seventh Street. But Loeffler was not downcast nor discouraged.

He is 30 years old, and in the opinion of the young man he is certain to make his fortune no matter what sentence he may receive. To have hidden thefts of such magnitude, Loeffler argues, might indicate that he was merely a clever thief. To have invested his stealings so that now he is able to make almost entire restitution, although he has lived in luxury, operated three automobiles, and employed a chauffeur at a weekly wage equal to his own, at a total expenditure of probably more than $15,000 yearly, is testimony, in his opinion, to his financial ability.

"If I could have had one more year," said Loeffler yesterday, "I should have become a rich man. With the money I stole I started a string of cigar stands in office buildings and hotels, and my earnings from this have been large. Why I even bought my cigars from Leggett's. I don't know just how much I took, but I can pay most of it back, and in another year I could have returned all of it and retired wealthy."

Loeffler lived with his wife at 138 West Eighty-sixth Street in an apartment which he rented for $140 a month. His ordinary living expenses, he said, were upward of $200 a month, and the furnishings of his home were worth $35,000. He owned jewelry worth $5,000 more. All this he has turned over to his employers, together with his stock and fixtures in his various cigar stands, so that he has restored probably three-quarters of what he took.

The young man was questioned closely by Assistant District Attorney Ryttenberg as to the method by which he obtained money from his employers, and as a result Mr. Ryttenberg has summoned officers of Leggett & Co. to his office, and today will try to go further into the details of the case.

According to Loeffler, the wholesale grocers did a large export business and depended on a State Street firm of shipping brokers to find bottoms for their wares. This firm rendered weekly bills for forwarding charges, which were audited and indorsed to the cashier for payment. Loeffler says he raised the amounts of these bills after they had been indorsed, so that a check for an amount in excess of the true bill was always sent to the shipping brokerage firm. Then, according to Loeffler, by arrangement with this firm, he would receive from it a check for the difference between the true bill and the Leggett payment, made out in a check to bearer on the Hanover National Bank. A member of the shipping firm introduced him at the bank, he said, and he took these checks there and cashed them.

Mr. Ryttenberg called on the brokers for an explanation and was informed by the manager that the proprietor was in England, and the manager, acting under his orders, was following a custom adopted by the owner before his departure. According to the Assistant District Attorney, this manager admitted that he thought the transaction unbusinesslike, but said he had been made to understand that Leggett & Co. had adopted this means of paying some commissions to agents of foreign Governments in return for large war orders. The officials of the firm deny. Charles T. Ward, who made the charge against Loeffler, said the discovery of the thefts had come only when the firm noticed an unusual decrease in profits in the export branch of the business. The young man was arrested early Tuesday morning and pleaded guilty when arraigned before a Magistrate yesterday. Pending action by the Grand Jury he was remanded to prison.

dealers are refusing to buy storage eggs at a price that will not allow them to sell them at this price and make a profit.

"Of course the egg dealers have an answer to the argument that the boycott will help the consumer. These say that the consumers are playing into the hands of the foreign buyers, who are only waiting until the price is forced down before they will gobble up the egg offerings. The answer to this is, however, that there are not enough refrigerator ships leaving this port to handle shipments. I believe that when Congress meets this question of the high cost of food will come up for consideration, and some steps will be taken to conserve the Nation's food supply."

Mr Hartigan said he had been informed that in 700 motion-picture houses here the campaign against the costly egg would be taken up. The screens will show such slogans as "Smash the egg gamblers." "It's the man higher up, not the retailer," and "Buy eggs only for children and invalids."

Call for Free Markets.

The call for the immediate opening of the free open markets was sounded at the meeting yesterday afternoon of the Citizens' Market Committee in the office of Borough President Marks. James P. Holland, President of the New York State Federation of Labor, presented a resolution asking for the opening of the markets and requesting the Finance Department to lower the average market rent from $1.50 a square foot to 50 cents a square foot. Excessive rentals, he said, added materially to prices to the consumer. It was at this meeting that Controller Prendergast was blamed for excessive market rentals.

A resolution introduced by William H. Beers, calling for the co-operation of the Governor by the appointment of a committee, was adopted. It said in part:

Be It Resolved, That it is to the best interests of all concerned, that a Committee of Citizens be forthwith appointed to prepare legislation for the coming session of the State Legislature, and that the Governor is hereby requested to appoint a committee of ten men to confer with the Committee on Markets of the Board of Estimate representing the City of New York. The aforesaid committee to hold public hearings and to report promptly its recommendations to the Governor of the State of New York as to legislation and financial appropriation, all with a view of insuring a fair price to producer and consumer.

Comparison of Prices.

As showing the value of markets this comparison of prices was presented by Mrs. J. Wells Wentworth of the Borough President's office:

"Investigations, research, and committees have been done to death," said Commissioner Dillon in urging the necessity of proper terminal markets. "We have spent time and money in investigations until, I for one, am tired of it. Now let us put something under way that will be of benefit."

The discussion grew rather warm again when the question of railroad transportation and railroad embargoes came up. Mrs. Edward Hooke, founder of the International Pure Food and Milk League, said something should be done to see that better transportation facilities were provided for bringing food into New York. To expedite deliveries she suggested that food be carried through the subway in the early morning hours when traffic was at a minimum and express trains were not running.

While the discussion on the food situation was under way in the Municipal Building the Aldermen in the City Hall were also talking over the high cost of living. Alderman Platz introduced a resolution calling upon the President of the board to appoint a committee of seven to investigate methods and means used for transporting, distributing, purchasing, and fixing the prices on the necessities of life.

"It is inconceivable," Mr. Platz said, "to believe that the hens have any knowledge of the European war, and have diminished their output for that reason, or that it requires more labor and energy to purchase eggs this year than last. The natural conclusion is that certain men desire to benefit by present conditions and reap a harvest at the expense of the public."

Coroner Israel Friedberg, President of the Board of Overseers, gave out a statement in which he said that the high cost of living was reflected in the increase in the number of suicides and the talk of birth control.

Representatives of several women's organizations will meet in the office of the Commissioner of Weights and Measures Friday to organize the Association of Women to Conserve the American Food Supply.

EAST SIDE EGG PRICES HIGH.

Police Investigation of Market Shows Big Increase in Costs.

Police Commissioner Woods made public yesterday a report of the work done by the police in investigating the egg market. The work was done in conjunction with the Health Department. The police found that the lower east side pays more for eggs than other parts of the city. This is the report:

RAISE HENS AND EAT RICE.

Speaker Clark Says That's the Way to Cut the Cost of Living.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—If the high cost of living bothers you, don't wait for Governmental remedies, but buy some laying hens and eat more corn products and rice, said Speaker Clark today. He referred to Representative Fitzgerald's embargo bills as one of the remedies.

"There may or may not be a chance for Mr. Fitzgerald's bill," he said. "It might do some good. I don't know. I think the Government can help lower food prices by legislative or other action, but I do know there are ways by which the consumer can cut down his expenses. For instance, every one who can should keep some hens, and any man who has 10 square feet of ground can keep them.

"People should eat more corn products. Mush is highly nutritious, and it isn't eaten enough. Rice is too generally overlooked in this country. I was surprised to hear the other day that 5 cents worth of rice will serve as a substitute for bread for an entire day in a family of six persons."

The Speaker declared that he will urge the passage this year of a Federal law prohibiting the killing of veal calves.

Traffic Club Elects Officers.

At an informal dinner held at the Waldorf last night 600 members of the Traffic Club elected the following officers for the coming year: T. N. Jarvis, Vice President of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, President; H. L. Derby, Nat Duke, G. F. Hitchborn, J. B. Denison, and L. C. Ivory, Vice Presidents; C. A. Swope, Secretary, and Frank C. Earle, Treasurer. The governors of the club will be Paul M. Ripley, W. L. Woodrow, and S. M. Stevenson.

AGED OFFICE BOYS GO TO AID OF BUSINESS

Gray-Haired Men Take Places of Youths to Satisfaction of Employers.

PRODUCT OF GOOD TIMES

Higher Wages Usually Compensated For by Efficiency and Intelligence of Workmen.

Enter the aged office boy. Gray-haired telegraph messengers have for years been a common sight in the city, but not until recently, when the shortage of office and errand boys became acute, have business houses, both big and small, harried by the lack of youngsters, resorted to the employment of elderly men in their stead.

The head of one of the biggest printing and publishing houses in New York is now depending almost entirely upon elderly men for work in and out of the office previously done by boys.

"For a long time," said this man, "our company found it practically impossible to get the boys needed in our business. In talking over the matter with my wife, she suggested that the reason we could not get boys was probably due to the fact that, with increased wages and assured work, parents were now sending their boys to high school instead of guiding them out to work after completing the grammar terms, as so many have done in the past. After having tried for about a year, through every agency known to man, to obtain boys needed for our various departments, I finally had to agree with her.

"Then an idea came to me: Why not advertise for active elderly men to act as messengers, &c.? We did so. Fifty applications were received in the first mail in reply to our advertisement! And such letters; well and neatly written, proof of the ability and common sense of the applicant. At that time we needed three. We sent postcards to six; five immediately responded. The first three were engaged. We have now had these men three years a month. We will never go back to boys. We pay the men more money, it is true, but it is also a fact that these men perform their duties much more effectively; their understanding, naturally, is better; and they are more reliable. We call them our 'Giants.'

"Looked at from a humanitarian point of view—it is giving employment to men of 50 to 60; men who have been thrown into the discard.

"There are evidently thousands of such men in this city, and the employers needing intelligent help of this character can help themselves, and the elderly men, by giving the latter work. They will do all boys can do, and do it better, and do more. Try it and be convinced. Some of my friends have already done so with satisfaction."

The situation as described is apparently not exaggerated, judging from the window signs of "Boys wanted" in hundreds of New York stores and other business establishments. It is admitted that men are being employed to do the work formerly done by the boys in many of these houses, and for the same general reasons as those quoted.

BANK DIRECTORS MUST PAY.

Jury Awards Money to Trust Company on Stock Sales.

The jury before Supreme Court Justice Platzek that heard the suit brought by the International Trust Company to recover $172,000 from William Gow, John E. Jenkins, and others because, as Directors of the Borough Bank of Brooklyn, they sold to the plaintiff, which they then controlled, stock of the bank for $900 a share, which was selling for only $180, returned a verdict for the plaintiff. The evidence showed that although the defendants sold the International Trust Company 5,000 shares of the stock, they failed to deliver 448 shares.

The jury decided that Gow must pay $35,120 to the trust company, and that Jenkins is liable for $6,000.

PITTSBURGH PAPERS 2 CENTS

Afternoon Editions Announce Rise Because of Cost of Paper.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 28.—All afternoon papers in this city announced today that beginning Dec. 1 the price of their editions will be doubled, and advertisers and others heretofore receiving free copies will have to pay the advanced price, 2 cents. The papers are the Chronicle Telegraph, Evening Leader, Press and Sun.

"Owing to the enormous increase in cost of white paper and other materials used in the production of newspapers, it is impossible to produce a newspaper to sell at 1 cent," the announcement says.

THE case of this wardrobe trunk is of strong, resilient bass wood, loft-dried. No veneer is used. Heavy duck, covered with waterproof black enamel, is firmly glued over this, under pressure.

Tough fibre cleats, attached with coppered-steel tubular rivets, reinforce each panel, and a heavy steel band is riveted into place to hold the two halves of the trunk in position (under any strain) when closed.

The trunk is bound with riveted rawhide. The corners have additional rawhide caps, covered by malleable iron protectors.

Partitions are of bass wood, held in place with steel angles. Drawers, swinging-rack and hangers are of the best woods our experience designates. The steel rods which hold the hangers are nickel-plated.

10,000 OIL WORKERS GET WAGE INCREASE

and resulted in an increased cost to the company of 28 per cent. The combined increase in wages paid since August, 1915, and the adoption of the eight-hour day therefore represent a total increase of labor cost to the company of 40 per cent."

No estimate of the total cost to the company of the new wage increase could be obtained yesterday from officers of the company.

OFFER 32,000 TAILORS A $3,000,000 WAGE RISE

Confronted by the danger of a strike of the 60,000 makers of men's clothing in New York in one of the most profitable seasons in the history of the city's biggest industry, the American Clothing Manufacturers' Association last night voted to fix 32,000 workers a wage increase estimated at from $2,500,000 to $3,000,000 a year. This marks the third wage increase granted in 1916 by the association, the total of the extra pay being placed at $8,000,000.

Announcement issued by the association said that the increase was given "in order to meet the increased cost of living."

The men's garment workers' union, the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, several weeks ago served notice on the manufacturers that if, by Dec. 1, the workers had not received a wage increase of $2 a week and a decrease in working hours of from fifty to forty-eight, there would be called a strike of 60,000 garment workers.

The action of the manufacturers' association last night was taken in the hope that the extra pay to the workers would kill any determination they might have to strike. The increase was made effective in the week of Dec. 18, so that if the workers strike they will get none of the extra pay voted last night.

OTHER INCREASES ANNOUNCED

EASTON, Penn., Nov. 27.—The Alpha Portland Cement Company announced today a general advance of over 10 per cent. in wages to its 1,500 employes. This increase is the third in less than a year, and makes the total advance for the year between 30 and 35 per cent. The company also gives a service bonus in July and December to employes who remain continuously in its employ. Salaried employes of the company will receive a liberal percentage of their year's earnings on Dec. 1. The company explains the increases are made to help meet the high cost of living.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Nov. 28.—General wage increases announced today by the Alabama Coal Operators' Association will affect 20,000 miners in this State. The immediate effect is to increase the payrolls about $50,000 a month. Every operating company in the district participates.

BALL OF TEN ALLIES A GLITTERING SCENE

Sparkle of Rich Jewels and Sheen of Many-Hued Silks Bewilder the Eye.

SOCIETY AND STAGE THERE

Management Reports a Financial Success—The Proceeds Go to War Relief Societies.

The costume ball of the Ten Allies, held last night in Madison Square Garden, was a gorgeous, glittering spectacle, eclipsing all other functions given in New York for the benefit of the war sufferers. It was as rich in color and as dazzling in jewels and costumes as a miniature of the East Indian Durbar. It was, also, according to those in charge, a big financial success.

There was an Oriental background, and the amphitheatre represented an East Indian city. Mrs. John Carpenter of Chicago, who designed the decorations, struck a new note in the color and decorative scheme.

Oriental costumes predominated. The floor space devoted to dancing was made almost twice its usual size, and was covered with canvas, blocked in black, white, and indigo blue squares.

The display of jewels outrivaled that of the premiere of the opera, and men and women detectives in evening dress and fancy costumes mingled with the dancers, keeping a watchful eye on jewels.

All of the boxes had been sold by last Saturday. The Mayor and Mrs. Mitchel were in Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt's party. Tickets were sold all over the country. Society women from Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, and even from San Francisco, came here to attend.

The doors at the Garden were opened at 9 o'clock, and dancing began at 10. Those who did not come in costume had the opportunity of buying fanciful apparel in the cloak room, the proceeds being turned over to the general fund. Between 11 and 12 o'clock there was an inrush of stage folk, especially those who were to take part in the pageant. Some came later from nearby cities, where they were playing. Caruso came from Philadelphia on the first available train after the close of the opera there.

On the stroke of midnight the trumpeters gave the signal for the clearing of the floor. Then came the pageant, the procession coming through the great scenic portals erected at the east end of the arena, led by Ben Ali Haggin, representing India. All of the Allied nations were represented.

The entertainment and pageant features were arranged by Mrs. Benjamin Guinness, who came as an Egyptian donkey boy. Mr. Guinness represented Cardinal Richelieu. The orchestra, occupying a dais in the centre of the floor, with all the musicians in Oriental costume, was directed by Miss Elsa Maxwell, who appeared in a Persian donkey boy costume. Mrs. William Fayersham, who wore a dress of cloth of gold, planned the procession of sections representing the various allied countries. John Moffatt was Chairman of the General Committee. Clifford Brooke directed the pageant. An automobile was the prize for the most original dress. Lady Duff Gordon, Mrs. Conde Nast and H. Patrick Tappe acted as judges.

The climax of the pageant came at one o'clock, when Miss Anna Fitzu sang "The Star-Spangled Banner," with the entire assemblage joining in the refrain. Then appeared a living miniature of the Statue of Liberty in a flood of spotlights. Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson represented America.

Motion pictures were taken of the scenes in the ballroom and of costumes, and the films are to be shown to the soldiers in the temporary theatres in the concentration camps back of the allied lines in France. Every expense connected with the ball was guaranteed by subscription, and it is believed that the sale of tickets will net close to $50,000.

The societies for whose benefit the ball was held include the American Ambulance in France, the British-American War Relief Fund, Millicent Sutherland Ambulance, National Allied Relief Committee, Lord Charles Beresford Fund, Russian War Relief Committee, French Heroes' Fund, Allied Home Fund, Refugees in Russia Committee, Lady Helmsley's Relief Committee, Queen of Belgians' Fund, Belgian Prisoners in Germany Fund, B. F. B. Permanent Blind War Relief Fund, War Babies Fund, Lady Alan Johnstone's Hospital, American Ambulance in Russia, American Women's War Relief Fund, International Reconstruction League, British War Relief Association, Inc., and the French Tuberculosis War Victims' Fund.

In the pageant India came first. Then Great Britain, with Lady Colebrook in the lead. John Drew led a group called "England of Today," with sixty members of the Lambs and Players Clubs. Ireland had an interesting group, with Miss Elsie Janis as leader. Scotland was led by William Faversham.

Miss Ethel Barrymore headed the Belgium section. Russia was portrayed by Mme. Alla Nasimova as leader, with peasant women and war brides in her train. Mrs. William Faversham appeared at the head of the Italian group. Cathleen Nesbit led the Portugal group, and Blanche Bates marched at the head of the Japan group. Then came the Washington Square Players. The French section was led by James K. Hackett as Louis XVI. and Mrs. Hackett as Clotilde.

Among the boxholders were Mrs. Philip Lydig, Mrs. Newbold Le Roy Edgar, Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, Mrs. August Belmont, Mrs. Jules Bache, Mrs. E. N. Breitung, and Albert Wiggin.

Among those who attended were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. William Alexander, Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. F. W. Whitridge, Mrs. Orme Wilson, Mrs. Frederick H. CITY WELCOMES 7TH BACK FROM BORDER

REVIEWED BY GOV. WHITMAN

Women and Children Wait Three Hours at Armory to Greet Their Relatives.

New Yorkers turned out by thousands yesterday to welcome home the Seventh Regiment, which arrived in the morning from the Texas border after five months of the hardest kind of "peace" service in the land of the cactus and tarantula. Escorted by more than 1,000 Seventh veterans, in addition to about 400 members of the Depot Battalion, the regiment as it marched up Fifth Avenue on its way to the armory at Sixty-seventh Street and Park Avenue was acclaimed by crowds which totaled, the police estimated, between 150,000 and 200,000 persons.

Every one cheered, and the Seventh never looked better than it did as it swept up the avenue, every man in his field uniform of khaki. All showed the effects of the hard service along the Rio Grande, a service that had tanned and hardened officers and men alike, until they looked like seasoned regulars.

The Seventh came home in two special trains over the Pennsylvania Railroad, the first of which reached Jersey City at 7 o'clock in the morning and the second nearly three hours later. The delay of the second train was responsible for a disarrangement of the welcoming schedule which, had it been followed, would have brought the Seventh abreast the reviewing stand on the Fifth Avenue side of the Union League Club, at Thirty-ninth Street, at 10 o'clock. It was 12:30 P. M. when the head of the regimental column reached the reviewing stand, and Colonel Willard C. Fisk, Commander, lifted his hand to his campaign hat in salute to Governor Whitman, who was the reviewing officer.

The veterans' organization, with Major Gen. Daniel Appleton, for nearly forty years Colonel of the Seventh, marching alone and just ahead, was the first to pass the stand. They had fallen in at Thirty-fourth Street after assembling in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory. Colonel Appleton saluted with his big walking cane, and as each company of old veterans, some gray-haired and with civil war records, passed, the Commanders shouted the order, "Eyes right," and in perfect alignment the grandfathers, fathers, uncles and other oldtime friends of the active men of the Seventh passed in review.

After the veterans came the men of the Depot Battalion under Major Charles E. Lydecker. They were those who in age are between the old-time veterans and the men of the active command. Like the veterans, they were in civilian clothes.

The Seventh's own band, playing with a joyousness that was contagious, was just ahead of Colonel Appleton and his old-timers, while the Sixty-ninth Regiment band furnished the parade music for the Depot men.

And then came the Seventh's boys from the border. No band led them. They came home exactly as they had left Texas, the only music that of their fife and drum corps and each man wearing his old service uniform.

The regiment marched in three battalions, Colonel Fisk in command of all, while the battalions were under the command of Lieut. Col. Robert McLean and Majors Robert Maxet and E. T. Fowler.

At the armory more than 2,000 relatives and friends of the men waited in a dense crowd for the veterans to appear. There were mothers and wives and sweethearts and sisters and little sons and daughters among them by scores. Everybody, it seemed, got at least one kiss, and for an hour or more it was just one glad greeting after another.

It was just 1 o'clock when the Seventh arrived at the armory. The jollification followed as soon as guns were in lockers. It was still going on in various parts of the city early this morning.

THE WORLD FOR SALE
By
Sir Gilbert Parker

"'The World for Sale' is a book for sale, and jolly well worth the price."—London Chronicle.

"The merits of the book are such as reveal Sir Gilbert at his story-telling best. Its grip upon the reader begins with the first page and never loosens. The realism in which it abounds is linked firmly and naturally with romance. Its picture is of life as it is truly lived, and not as a novelist adjusts it to meet a problem."—N. Y. World.

BANKERS CONTINUE FOREIGN NOTE PLANS

The Reserve Board Statement Causes No Change in J. P. Morgan & Co.'s Offer.

WALL STREET IS DIVIDED

Some Financiers Call the Washington Advice Timely, Others Criticise the "Lecture."

At the office of J. P. Morgan & Co. it was said yesterday that the British and French Government short-term Treasury bills, which it was announced last Friday would be made available to the local market about Dec. 1, would be offered the latter part of this week, no change in the plan having been made as a result of the statement issued by the Federal Reserve Board, in which the banks of the country were cautioned not to invest too heavily in short-term obligations of belligerent countries.

In making known that the original plans were not to be altered, a member of the Morgan firm said that the rates of interest to be paid on the bills would be somewhat higher than had been previously indicated because of the firmer tendency of the money market. He declined to comment upon the Reserve Board's statement, except to direct attention to the fact that the limited amount of Treasury bills that was to be offered here would be paid upon maturity and that these bills were not subject to any renewals.

The Reserve Board's statement was the chief topic of discussion in the financial district yesterday. A careful canvass of the leading bankers showed a division of opinion regarding the wisdom, propriety, and need of the warning. A number of bankers commended the board very highly, while others were disposed to criticise it severely.

A banker who has taken part in the flotation of various foreign loans asserted that if this country refused to buy the allied governments' obligations, especially the Treasury bills, both Great Britain and France would be obliged to curtail greatly their purchases in the United States, with the result that American manufacturers would be deprived of considerable business. He referred to the recent declaration made in Parliament that purchases here amounted approximately to $10,000,000 a day, and suggested that restrictions in credit accorded to Great Britain might cause a reduction of these purchases to $5,000,000, or perhaps even to $1,000,000, a day. He said that while the allied nations were in a position to make heavy shipments of gold to this country, they could not be expected to pay for all of their importations in gold.

In connection with the subject of gold imports, it was learned yesterday that in addition to the large stock now stored in Canada, arrangements had been perfected for the transfer of several hundred millions more. It was explained that this huge stock would have been more than sufficient to take care of the payment of maturing Treasury bills, and that in the event of a restricted sale of these bills, the gold might be used for direct payments.

Bankers who commended the Reserve Board's action expressed the opinion that the warning was timely. They said that while it was to be expected that bankers would exercise good judgment and not overburden their institutions with foreign securities, the advice nevertheless was needed. Many of these bankers said that they were glad to see the board exercise the function of a central directing agency in banking affairs, and asserted that prior to the establishment of the Federal Reserve System this country lacked such a centralizing and controlling body. At the same time the very bankers who expressed themselves as approving the board's reasoning and the board's action, questioned its methods. They suggested that it would have been much better if the board had called a conference of bankers and advised them of its attitude in private, or if the board had communicated with the Federal Reserve agents or the Governors of the twelve banks and had instructed them to communicate the board's views to the leading bankers of their respective districts. Some of these bankers said that the men in charge of the affairs of the Bank of England or of the Bank of France, or of the Reichsbank, would never indicate their views on important banking questions by "newspaper proclamations." Matters relating to banking and credit were so delicate, it was said, that too much publicity was likely to prove unsettling.

Criticism of the board was directed chiefly against that part of its statement which contained advice to the investing public. Many bankers thought that while it was within the province of the board to communicate its views to the member banks which comprise the Federal Reserve system under its jurisdiction, it was not its function to encourage or discourage the purchase of securities by the investing public.

Some of the bankers who were most severe in their criticism of the Reserve Board expressed the opinion that what they called the "lecture" would increase the dissatisfaction with the system that is felt by some institutions, and that one of the consequences might be the withdrawal of national banks from membership in the Reserve Banks. Several banks having previously announced the fact that they had such a step under consideration.

Just what effect the board's statement will have upon the marketing of the short-term Treasury bills cannot be foreseen, but many bankers were inclined to believe that the sale would be more difficult than if the subject had not been agitated, although the heads of a number of the leading New York banks said that they had not altered in the least their plans for the purchase of the bills.

The Reserve Board's statement had an unsettling effect on the stock market yesterday. Trading in Anglo-French and other foreign Government obligations was on a large scale, with declines of ⅛ to ¼ in various issues. This table gives the sales (in lots of $1,000) and the high, low, and last quotations:

	Sales.	High.	Low.	Last.	Net Ch.
Am. For. Sec. 5s.	112	96¾	96¾	96¼	—⅜
Anglo-French 5s.	402	94¾	94¾	94¾	—¼
City of Paris 6s.	244	97¼	96¾	97	—⅛
U. K. of G. B. 5½.	137	99	98¾	98¾	—¼

On the Curb foreign issues also were affected, losing fractions. The United Kingdom 5½ per cent. three-year loan sold at 99 and 99¼, as compared with 99¾ the day before, and equivalent recessions were recorded in the Russian 5½ and 6½ per cent. issues.

CALLS IT "TIMELY WARNING."

Bernard Ridder Lauds the Action of the Reserve Board.

Under the heading "A Timely Warning," Bernard H. Ridder in the Staats-Zeitung of this morning, in discussing the Reserve Board statement cautioning the banks about the purchase of Treasury notes of belligerent countries, says:

"A significant and important step toward the stabilization of American finance and the permanent establishment of this country as the creditor nation of the world would seem to have been taken by the Federal Reserve Board when it issued its warning to American bankers and private investors reported in yesterday's papers."

After quoting the Reserve Board declaration Mr. Ridder says:

"One is compelled to recognise in it a definite effort to safeguard the interests of this country against the wildcat attempt of certain of its population to engage it financially with a party to the present conflict in Europe not at the moment the most military prosperous."

RASMUSSEN STAYS NORTH.

Unfounded Rumors of Return with Crocker Land Expedition.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 28.—Rumors are current that Knud Rasmussen and the Crocker Land expedition are returning to Copenhagen. Inquiries made by the President of the Rasmussen Committee, Engineer Nyboe, and Director Daugaard Jensen of the Greenland Government show that the rumors are unfounded. The Greenland ship, Hans Egede, which arrived at Copenhagen on Sunday, left Julianshaab a few days before the ship Fox, which is expected to arrive today, but the Egede knew nothing about Rasmussen and the Crocker Land expedition. The Fox, which is the last ship of this year, reported from The Skaw last night, but made no mention of prominent passengers.

The bark Denmark, belonging to the Greenland Mine Company, hired for the Crocker Land expedition by the American Museum of Natural History, was forced by ice conditions to Winter in Melville Bay, nearer the station Thule than Cape York, and cannot be expected at Copenhagen before July.

Rasmussen probably is staying to carry through his great plan of exploring Independence River and Nordenskjold Inlet next Summer.

The Coward Shoe

The High Cost of Walking

The cost of shoe leather has advanced so high that shoe merchants are compelled to raise the price of their shoes.

The unprecedented high prices in shoe leather are caused by the scarcity of leather in this country. During the last fiscal year alone, over $80,000,000 worth of hides and sole leather were shipped abroad to foreign countries. This produced a shortage of leather in this country and corresponding high prices.

A bill has been introduced in Congress providing for an embargo on food stuffs. Why not include in that embargo other NECESSITIES of living which have risen to almost prohibitive prices in this country? Something should be done to look after the wants and necessities of the American people FIRST. This can be done by keeping in this country commodities necessary to the comfort and well being of the American people. We hope Legislation will be promulgated that will relieve our domestic leather market so that the present cost of shoes may be reduced.

Loyal "Seventh," Welcome Home!

Most of you come home from the border, converts to the usefulness of the Ingersoll Strap Watch. You have discovered what civilians have still to learn—that for a man's watch, in spite of all the jests, there's no watch with so many practical advantages as the strap watch on the wrist.

It's before you in shaving, it doesn't separate from you when your clothes do, and with the Radiolite dial showing time in the dark it is worth having even if only worn to bed.

As a winter watch there is no fumbling with gloved hands to unbutton your overcoat, and then your inside coat, and reaching to the waistcoat pocket, and then replacing and buttoning up. Just a lift of the hand and the time is in front of your eye.

You members of the "Seventh" have had a great experience. You have "found" the wrist watch, and you'll stick to it. And soon you'll find the rest of New York with you.

Ingersoll

The Ingersoll "Radiolite" Strap Watch shows time in the dark. The hands and figures are coated with radium-lighted "Radiolite." The price: $4.00.

THANKSGIVING PLANS TAKE USUAL COURSE

Institutions to Serve Turkey and Fixings in Spite of the Advance in Prices.

VAUDEVILLE ON THE ISLAND

Sing Sing to Have Music and Pictures and the Salvation Army to Gather Its Inebriate Crop.

Preparations for the third war Thanksgiving indicate that New York is going to be as voluminously charitable on that day as ever before, despite the high and increasing cost of charity in these times. The frightened householder was considerably cheered yesterday by the news that the price of turkeys had dropped 4 or 5 cents a pound, but even before this turn of the market, when turkey and chicken were still at siege prices, the institutions which have made a practice of giving Thanksgiving dinners to the poor were preparing to do their bit this year as usual.

The Salvation Army will give its annual luncheon and dinner at its memorial hall to 1,200 present or former inebriates.

The Seamen's Christian Association at 507 West Street will give its annual entertainment and dinner to about 400 sailors at 7:30 P. M.

At 31 West Eighth Street the St. Andrew's One-Cent Coffee Stands Society will keep open house from 11 in the morning till 6 at night and expects to dinner to some two thousand people. Two hundred and fifty baskets filled with turkey, pie and other staples of the dinner menu will be distributed to those of the needy who are too sick to go to their homes.

Charles H. Harris of 142 West Twenty-fourth Street, a Director of various charitable institutions, will, as usual, distribute forty dinner baskets to the poor.

The American Female Guardian Society and Home for the Friendless at 926 Woodycrest Avenue will give a dinner to the 200 boys and girls in its home. The society feels particularly thankful this year because its Summer home at Davenport entirely escaped the epidemic of infantile paralysis, and its household has had no serious illness and only one death the last year.

In the stadium of the City College the cadet corps of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum will give a drill and review, at which Mayor Mitchel will be present, on Thanksgiving morning.

Institutions of correction are going to have their Thanksgivings as usual. At Sing Sing Warden Derrick is preparing two programs. In the afternoon the Knickerbocker Theatre Enterprise Company will present a number of acrobatic acts, with added attractions supplied by the managers of the Ossining Theatre. In the evening there will be a moving picture play and a concert by Tom Brown's Aurora Band, the prison musical organization. The menu for the dinner has not been announced yet.

A. Paul Keith and E. F. Albee, heads of the Keith circuit, will, as in their custom, give a vaudeville entertainment to the prisoners at Blackwell's Island.

Devotees of football will have two rivalry college games from which to choose. Washington and Jefferson meets Rutgers at the Polo Grounds, and up in the Bronx Fordham will battle against Villanova.

Religious services in most of the churches will look in greater or less degree toward the conditions created by the war.

Through the Brace Memorial Newsboys' House of 14 New Chambers Street William Waldorf Astor will give a three-day Thanksgiving celebration to the newsboys of the house. Tomorrow afternoon they will be the guests of the Poly Prep and Erasmus Hall High School at the football game at Washington Park, Brooklyn, and there will be a dinner at the home afterward. That night there will be an old-fashioned Thanksgiving celebration with games, singing, and contests. On Friday the boys will spend the evening at the Palace Theatre, and on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock Assistant Corporation Counsel Stanley J. Quinn will talk to them in the Assembly Hall of the House.

CHILD LABOR LAWS VARIED.

National Committee Shows the Different Regulations in the States.

How differently child labor is treated in the various States is set forth in the annual report of the General Secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, just issued. Twenty-eight States, according to the report, allow children to work more than eight hours a day in stores and other local establishments; nineteen States allow children to work at night in such industries; twenty-eight States have no regulation of street work by children, and twenty States have poor regulation of it; twenty-three States need night messenger laws, twenty-six do not require medical examination of children for work permits, and thirty-two States have standards lower than the fifth grade. One State has no compulsory education law, and four States have only local option laws.

"The status of about 1,650,000 working children who are not protected by any kind of Federal regulation," says Owen R. Lovejoy, the General Secretary in his report, "presents the major problem on which the efforts of the committee may now be concentrated."

BLAST MERGES TUBE BENEATH EAST RIVER

Two Headings of New Westbound Subway from Brooklyn Vary Only an Inch.

BRAVE PRESSURE TO SEE IT

Engineers and Others Go Through and Workmen Have a Feast of Sandwiches and Beer.

Twenty-four hours ahead of the time expected, the final blast was discharged at 10 A. M. yesterday that broke through the intervening wall of rock separating the two headings of the north tube connecting Old Slip, Manhattan, with Clark Street, Brooklyn. West through this tube will run the trains of the Interborough, between Park Place and Beekman and William Streets, to the present subway in Brooklyn. Joining this tube on the south will be another tube, yet to be built, for the eastbound trains.

Everybody agreed that the engineering work was exceptional, because the two headings were found to be within an inch of a precise meeting. According to engineering standards, the meeting of the headings was exact. The Flynn-O'Rourke Company, which has the contract, found that only eight feet of rock separated the two heads at 9 o'clock, and an hour later the wall was so thin that the final blast could be placed. So dynamite was set, wires were run to the shaft, and the button pressed. There was a roar, and when the smoke cleared the watchers rushed into the tube. A hole nearly three feet in diameter had been made. An American flag was held to the opening and it fluttered through to the other heading. At 12:15 o'clock another blast was exploded and a hole nearly six feet in diameter was made. Those who cared to pass through and walk along the tube were permitted to do so, but few cared for the experience, because the air pressure was not suited to normal lungs.

Among those who were present when the opening was made were the contractors, their employes in charge of the work, and a number of engineers of the Public Service Commission and of the Interborough Company. The two headings will meet almost in the centre of the river bed. For several weeks the work has progressed through solid rock of the Fordham-Gneiss variety, a ledge almost 350 feet in width. The tube lies, at its present depth, eighty-eight feet below the breast of the river. It is seventeen feet six inches in diameter.

After the blasts were fired several hundred "sand hogs" and other men employed on the work had a feast of beer and sandwiches and were personally greeted by their employers. As soon as the two headings are fully joined representatives of the Public Service Commission and of the contractors, with perhaps a number of city officials, will walk through the tube.

Nothing marred the occasion except vigorous objections by the men working on the Manhattan side to letting Brooklyn have the honor of the last blast. Brooklyn won the honor several days ago by the flipping of a coin.

Fire Blocks Railroad Two Hours.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 28.—Fire early this morning almost entirely destroyed the large coal chute of the Harlem Railroad Company at the North White Plains terminal, and tied up north and south bound traffic for more than two hours. The fire, which was discovered at 8 o'clock, is believed to have been started by a defective electric light wire. The loss was estimated to be about $35,000.

THE PROFESSIONAL EXECUTOR

WHEN you want your watch mended, you take it to a professional jeweller not to some friend who seems to you to have a mechanical turn of mind.

On the same principle you choose a doctor, a lawyer or a dentist.

Why, when you appoint an executor for work more important than any of the above, do you pick out a friend with no experience and with untried ability?

Why not select a professional executor — one who knows how? Our Company is acting for many thoughtful men and women, why not for you?

When you think of advertising—what's your first thought?

If it is "copy"—that's where you are wrong.

If it is the illustration and a description of your product—you're wrong again.

Just because it is the "copy" which finally appears before the eyes of your public, and because "copy" is the big tangible thing your money buys—those are the very reasons why it should be considered last—not first.

The things to decide first are:

What may be the most profitable method of selling your merchandise.

Then, whether advertising can be profitably employed to sell it.

And when you and your advertising agent are sure of the soundness of your selling policy it is then time to decide:

Where the product may be best advertised.

When it is the best time to advertise it.

And, finally, what to say and how (which is the "copy.")

All of which is one way of saying:

That we play fair with ourselves and with our clients by insisting upon a thorough acquaintance with the selling end of our clients' business—

That we are free to co-operate in a logical selling plan before getting at the "copy."

And because we work that way is the big reason why our "copy" is so sensationally successful.

THANKSGIVING PLANS TAKE USUAL COURSE

VAUDEVILLE ON THE ISLAND

Sing Sing to Have Music and Pictures and the Salvation Army to Gather Its Inebriate Crop.

Preparations for the third war Thanksgiving indicate that New York is going to be as voluminously charitable on that day as ever before, despite the high and increasing cost of charity in these times. The frightened householder was considerably cheered yesterday by the news that the price of turkeys had dropped 4 or 5 cents a pound, but even before this turn of the market, when turkey and chicken were still at siege prices, the institutions which have made a practice of giving Thanksgiving dinners to the poor were preparing to do their bit this year as usual.

The Salvation Army will give its annual luncheon and dinner at its memorial hall to 1,200 present or former inebriates.

The Seamen's Christian Association at 25 West Street will give its annual entertainment and dinner to about 400 sailors at 7:30 P. M.

At 25 West Eighth Street the St. Andrew's One-Cent Coffee Stands Society will keep open house from 11 in the morning till 6 at night and expects to give dinners to some two thousand people. Two hundred and fifty baskets filled with turkey, pie and other staples of the dinner menu will be distributed to those of the needy who are too sick to leave their homes.

Charles H. Harris of 142 West Twenty-fourth Street, a Director of various charitable institutions, will, as usual, distribute forty dinner baskets to the poor.

The American Female Guardian Society and Home for the Friendless at 336 Lexington Avenue will give a dinner to the 200 boys and girls in its home. The society feels particularly thankful this year because its Summer home at Greenport entirely escaped the epidemic of infantile paralysis, and its household has had no serious illness and only one death the last year.

In the stadium of the City College the cadet corps of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum will give a drill and review, at which Mayor Mitchel will be present, on Thanksgiving morning.

Institutions of correction are going to have their Thanksgivings as usual. At Sing Sing Warden Derrick is preparing two programs. In the afternoon the Knickerbocker Theatre Enterprise Company will present a number of acrobatic acts, with added attractions supplied by the managers of the Ossining Theatre. In the evening there will be a moving picture play and a concert by Tom Brown's Aurora Band, the prison musical organization. The menu for the dinner has not been announced yet.

A. Paul Keith and E. F. Albee, heads of the Keith circuit, will, as is their custom, give a vaudeville entertainment to the prisoners at Blackwell's Island.

Devotees of football will have two lively college games from which to choose. Washington and Jefferson meets Rutgers at the Polo Grounds, and up in the Bronx Fordham will battle against Villanova.

Religious services in most of the churches will look in greater or less degree toward the conditions created by the war.

Through the Brace Memorial Newsboys' House of 14 New Chambers Street William Waldorf Astor will give a three-day Thanksgiving celebration to the newsboys of the house. Tomorrow afternoon they will be the guests of the Poly Prep and Erasmus Hall High School at the football game at Washington Park, Brooklyn, and there will be dinner at the home afterward. That night there will be an old-fashioned Thanksgiving celebration with games, singing, and contests. On Friday the boys will spend the evening at the Palace Theatre, and on Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock Assistant Corporation Counsel Stanley J. Quinn will talk to them in the Assembly Hall of the House.

CHILD LABOR LAWS VARIED.

National Committee Shows the Different Regulations in the States.

How differently child labor is treated in the various States is set forth in the annual report of the General Secretary of the National Child Labor Committee, just issued. Twenty-eight States, according to the report, allow children to work more than eight hours a day in stores and other local establishments; nineteen States allow children to work at night in such industries; twenty-eight States have no regulation of street work by children, and twenty States have poor regulation of it; twenty-three States need night messenger laws, twenty-six do not require medical examination of children for work permits, and thirty-two States have standards lower than the fifth grade. One State has no compulsory education law, and four States have only local option laws.

"The status of about 1,850,000 working children who are not protected by any kind of Federal regulation," says Owen R. Lovejoy, the General Secretary in his report, "presents the major problem on which the efforts of the committee may now be concentrated."

BROWN LINE-UP CHANGED FOR COLGATE GAME

ABSENTEES RETURN TO BROWN LINE-UP

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 28.—Contrary to expectations, Coach Robinson called another scrimmage for the Brown team this afternoon and, opposed by an exceptionally strong second eleven for nearly an hour, the 'Varsity battled in a regular game. The good footing and pleasant weather made conditions most agreeable, and no more satisfactory practice session has been held all season.

Considerable attention was given to kicking of goals from placement, and Devitalis, who does all of this work, booted over several from 35 and 40 yards. In no game this season has it been necessary for Brown to resort to this method of scoring, but in Colgate pretty stiff opposition is anticipated, and Brown will be ready for all emergencies.

The Brown line-up Thursday will probably be slightly different from what it was in either the Yale or Harvard games, for both Ward, tackle, and Conroy, half back, are likely to be in their regular positions. Both men were in the scrimmage this afternoon.

Tomorrow afternoon both the first and second 'Varsity elevens will hold signal drill. At 4 o'clock the undergraduates are to parade to the field, headed by the Brown band, and the bursting of the dummy will mark the end of the practice season.

Every seat in the stands on Andrews Field has been sold, and tickets for the Colgate game are now at a premium in this city. Not a ticket remains at the Athletic Association office, and hundreds of applications are being returned unfilled. No tickets will be sold at the ticket offices at the field Thursday morning, and many persons who are coming here to see the game are going to be disappointed.

HARD DAY FOR COLGATE.

Morning and Afternoon Practice Held for Brown Game.

Special to The New York Times.

MANSFIELD, Mass., Nov. 28.—Coach Bankart gave the Colgate eleven its final practice for the game with Brown at Providence today on Lowney Field. The practice was divided into a morning and an afternoon session, the forenoon being spent in the rehearsing of signals, with a light scrimmage. In the afternoon the ends and line practice going down the field under punts while the backs did the catching.

The men are in good shape and the team will line-up against the undefeated Brown team as it did in the game with Syracuse on Nov. 18. Hubbell and West practiced kicking. Both got excellent distance, and Bankart believes the punting will be one of Colgate's strongest departments against Brown.

A blackboard talk and a final rehearsal of the plays that will be used against Brown will be held tomorrow. The men leave Mansfield Thursday morning. Gillo, the giant full back, who was not in the best of shape for the Yale game, is now in the best of condition. Trainer Rourke says that he would not be surprised if the eleven men who start for Colgate will last throughout the game, as they did at Syracuse.

W. AND J. ON WAY HERE.

Will Practice at Polo Grounds Today in Preparation for Rutgers.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Penn., Nov. 28.—Washington and Jefferson's football team, composed of a squad of twenty-one players in charge of Head Coach Sol Metzger, left for New York tonight, where Rutgers will be played on Thursday at the Polo Grounds in the final game of the season. The players were in better physical condition than they have been at any time since the Yale game and Metzger for the first time in several weeks will be able to present practically his full strength.

Washington and Jefferson had light practice this afternoon before departure, several new formations intended for Rutgers being tried. The team will have a signal drill at the Polo Grounds tomorrow to limber up the men and accustom them to the strange gridiron.

RUTGERS ENDS HARD WORK.

Final Scrimmage Held for W. and J. Game Tomorrow.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Nov. 28.—The last hard scrimmage practice of the year was held by the Rutgers team today in preparation for their contest with Washington and Jefferson at the Polo Grounds on Thursday. The practice was held behind closed gates, and it lasted until nearly 6 o'clock, a whitewashed ball being used by the team.

Stanford's line-up for the New York game is now practically decided upon, and it will probably be just the same as that which faced Dickinson on Saturday. In the second half the regular backfield combination will be used. John Whitehill, the newly discovered star at full back, revealed further ability today, when he displayed unexpected skill in throwing the forward pass. Mitherte Wittpenn has been the only man who could be relied on for this play, and as he is in rather poor condition it was feared he could not be used, but Whitehill is fully as good at heaving the ball.

LAST FORDHAM SCRIMMAGE.

Entire Squad Out for Arduous Practice for Villanova Game.

The last football scrimmage of the year was held at Fordham yesterday in preparation for the closing game with Villanova tomorrow. The Bronxites continued their secret work behind the canvas walls on Varsity Field, and, in addition to their clash with the scrubs, they were kept busy until dark perfecting the new set of signals which will be used against their traditional rivals tomorrow.

The entire squad was on hand for the last real drill, even Danny O'Connell, who broke three ribs in the Georgetown game, donning his uniform. While he will not be able to start in the game, it is probable that he will be sent in long enough to fill the requirements needed in the awarding of the "Varsity F." It will be necessary for Fordham players to get into the game tomorrow to be even considered for the letter. Save for a little stiffness, O'Connell appeared as well as ever, and he is anxious to get out in the first trenches tomorrow.

Danny Corcoran also made his first appearance since the Gallaudet game last Saturday, and was used at end against the scrubs. Jake Weber, the Fordham trainer, announces that his leg will not hinder him in tomorrow's contest.

Following the practice, the players were targets for an ovation from the cheering section. The undergraduate rooters spent the whole afternoon yesterday practicing songs and cheers for what they hope will be the first Fordham victory over Villanova since 1908.

RECORD FOOTBALL RECEIPTS

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 28.—Manager William Bedell of the Yale Athletic Association's ticket department, announced today that $153,800 was realized from the sale of tickets to the Yale-Harvard game Saturday. This is $52,000 more than the largest previous total received at a Yale football game, the amount taken in when the Bowl was opened two years ago.

Of the sum received this year, $14,000 was expended in the erection of the temporary seats. The expense for ushers was about $2,000. From the sale of programs about $2,800 was received and from the automobile parking space just outside the Bowl, about $2,700. The Red Cross collection taken in the Bowl Saturday totalled $3,497. This, of course, does not go to the Yale Athletic Association, but, including this item, the sum of money received at the Bowl Saturday amounts to $168,729.

HOWARD CANN IS ELECTED.

Chosen Captain of 1917 N. Y. U. Eleven—'Varsity Letters Awarded.

At yesterday's election for the New York University football Captain of the 1917 team, Howard Cann, left half back, was unanimously chosen to lead the eleven. Cann is a junior, and in addition to being football Captain is also basket ball Captain and a prominent track performer. He is the son of Athletic Director Frank H. Cann. J. Henry Güntzer, Jr., of Port Chester, N. Y., was elected Manager of the Violet football team for 1917, and Andrew Gruninger of New York City Assistant Manager. The former is a member of the junior class and the latter a member of the sophomore class. The following football men received their 'Varsity letters:

Bernstein, '17; Cann, '18; Egan, '18; House, '17; Hoffman, '18; Jordan, '17; McCulloch, '17; Mackenzie, '17; Weinheimer, '20; Poutsrey, '18; Carroll, '18; Brin, '20; Sokolower, '18; Baldwin, '17; Manager Fraim, '17; Warman, '20, and Buchsbaum, '18.

'Varsity numerals were awarded as follows:

Brown, '17; Elias, '17; Alvarez, '20; Horigan, '18; Van Note, '20; Thomson, '19; Jenkins, '20; Potter, '19; Grissing, '20; Berghorn, '20; Hammerschlag, '18; Mooney, '18; Eberhard, '19; Savage, '19; Manly, '20, and Guntser, '18, assistant manager.

PERSHING TO LEAD CHICAGO.

Elected Captain of 1917 Eleven—Sixteen Receive Letter.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Frank E. Pershing of Chicago, a nephew of Major Gen. John J. Pershing, today was elected captain of the University of Chicago football eleven for 1917. Pershing is a quarter back. He has one more year to play.

Award of the 'Varsity "C" was made to sixteen members of the Univertity of Chicago football team today. The number was smaller than had been anticipated. Of those who received the distinction six will be eliminated from the squad next year by graduation or the three-year rule. They are Aga, Cahn, Fischer, Gordon, Jackson and Schafer.

BOWDOIN'S 1917 SCHEDULES

Eleven Will Meet Harvard and Cadets—Baseball Plans.

BRUNSWICK, Me., Nov. 28.—The Bowdoin College football and baseball schedules for 1917, as announced today, contain several changes from the lists of recent years. Tufts, Holy Cross, Middlebury, and Fort McKinley are dropped from the football schedule, and Harvard, Trinity, and West Point added. Eight games will be played, one less than this season. Changes in the baseball schedule are minor.

The football dates are: Sept. 29, Harvard at Cambridge; Oct. 6, Amherst at Amherst; 13, Trinity at Portland; 20, Colby at Waterville; 27, Bates at Lewiston; Nov. 3, Maine at Brunswick; 10, Wesleyan at Brunswick; 17, Army at West Point.

PLAN FOR INDOOR POLO.

Important Changes Made in League Regulations—New Teams Join.

The Indoor Polo League, which was started last Winter and met with success, will open the season today Many new teams have joined the organization and the prospects for another successful year are unusually bright. A number of the rules have been changed, which will have a tendency to make the game faster and more interesting from a spectator's standpoint.

Last year only two periods of ten minutes each were played. This season the minimum number of chukkers will be four, of seven and a half minutes each, and the maximum six of the same length of time. The size of the ball has also been made smaller, the new and now standard measurement being 7 3-4 and a half inches in diameter, not much larger than the regulation outdoor ball, which naturally tends to liven up the game materially. There are various other changes that have been made in the rules for the coming season, all of which tend to bring the indoor game as near to the outdoor sport as conditions will permit.

A number of new players have joined the Durland Polo Club, and this institution will put at least three or four strong teams into the field. One of these trios—the Cock Robins—will play the West Point cadets' team on the latter's floor Dec. 9. On the 16th the Tigers will meet the West Pointers.

ENCOURAGES WINTER POLO.

Camden Club, in South Carolina, Prepares for Active Season.

The Camden Polo Club is branching out with the idea of making the South Carolina resort one of the leading places for the game in the Winter months. The need for Winter and Spring polo, so that men can get themselves and their mounts in condition, has been growing greater with the development of the sport. To meet this need several of the Northern players, together with the Camden Polo Club, of which C. M. Taintor is President, have taken over from the Country Club the polo field, clubhouse, and stables at Camden. New stables have been built, the field put in first-class condition, and a new field is in course of construction. In addition there is a small field for practice and for schooling mounts. Arthur Perkins has been engaged as manager of the polo and stables, and has made arrangements to supply mounts to those visitors who do not wish to ship their own horses to the South.

Beginning with the first of the year polo will be played twice a week, and during the latter part of February and in March three times a week, ending with a tournament at the end of the latter month. The climate is such that the game can be played under enjoyable conditions all the Winter.

Middies Elect Fisher Captain.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 28.—The members of the Naval Academy football squad have elected Thomas G. Fisher, left end, captain for next season. He is the only member of next year's graduating class who started the Army game. Fisher has played third base on the nine ever since entering the institution.

Bulkley Wins Close Squash Tilt.

Only one match was played yesterday in the open squash tournament at the Princeton Club. H. D. Bulkley of the Columbia Club defeated J. Taylor of the Princeton Club in a three-game contest by the score of 17—11, 6—16, 16—15. The semi-final round will be played today.

PENN REHEARSES RESERVE ATTACK

Folwell Warns Eleven Against Overconfidence at Last Drill for Cornell.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., Nov. 28.—The Red and Blue eleven went through the final workout for the Cornell game this afternoon at Whitemarsh Valley Country Club, and six plays that Penn managed to retain unused in the Michigan game were the chief forms of attack used by Folwell's band. Folwell fears overconfidence on the part of his warriors, and he warned the men against it this afternoon, telling them Cornell was going to make a desperate fight all during the combat, and that if Penn loafed an instant it could expect nothing but defeat.

Bert Bell drove the 'Varsity this afternoon in the signal drill, and Jimmy Bryant had charge of the second team on the golf links. Bell cannot arouse the playing speed of the first team as well as Bryant, but he is a cool field general and he picks the spots with excellent judgment.

Graves Williams, who has had a good rest, was worked out with the second eleven, and Harry Ross, who is now able to run through a signal drill, was raced up and down the field for half an hour.

CORNELL HAS SCRIMMAGE.

Shiverick Pilots Eleven in Drill at Atlantic City.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 28.—The Cornell football squad held its last scrimmage work here today in preparation for the game with Pennsylvania on Thursday in Philadelphia. The greater part of the practice, however, was devoted to signal drill, while Shiverick practiced drop-kicking and punting. A light workout will be held tomorrow.

Fritz Shiverick ran the 'Varsity in practice this afternoon, and the same team lined up which beat Michigan 23 to 20. Speed was at left half. There was some talk of switching these men, but it is not considered likely that Dr. Sharpe will attempt any break in his well-groomed combination at this stage.

LEONARD HAS A SOFT SNAP.

Chick Simler Only a Target for Local Boxer's Blows.

Benny Leonard, the local boxer, was not forced to extend himself to gain the honors over Chick Simler, a Scranton (Penn.) lightweight, in their ten-round bout at the Empire A. C. of Harlem last night. From the starting bell until the timer signified the end of the tenth round Leonard's superiority was clearly evident, and throughout the match he landed when and where he pleased on Simler's person.

The only thing that Simler showed was a willingness to assimilate punishment. The local lad rocked his opponent's head with persistence in each round, and it was a surprise to the large crowd present that Simler could stand up under the battering. In only the fifth and eighth rounds did Simler succeed in making any impression on his clever opponent, and in these instances his efforts were confined to landing a few stiff body blows. Near the end of the bout Leonard's heavy blows began to show the'r effect, and the final session found Simler willing to hold.

In the other bout, scheduled for ten rounds, Frankie West of Chicago was pitted against Albert Badoud, the French welterweight, and lasted two rounds. Badoud twice floored his opponent in the first round with right hand blows to the jaw, and in the second session the same punch ended the contest.

NO LICENSE FOR GARDEN.

Application to Hold Bouts Not Filed —Dundee Changes Plans.

When the offices of the State Athletic Commission were closed last night there had not been filed with Chairman Fred Wenck any lease for boxing exhibitions in Madison Square Garden. It was rumored in the commission offices that Edward E. McCall, receiver for Madison Square Garden, had declined to change the lease, which proved unsatisfactory to the commission. Chairman Wenck insisted that among the unsatisfactory clauses was one which allowed the owners to cancel the lease on fifteen days' notice, and another clause was to the effect that only fifty-two exhibitions could be held in one year.

On the strength of these developments, Johnny Dundee, who was to have boxed Freddie Welsh in the Garden tomorrow evening, announced that he had made arrangements to box tomorrow afternoon in the Broadway Sporting Club of Brooklyn against Eddie Wallace. It is thus certain that the advertised bout for Madison Square Garden Thursday evening will not take place.

SWEEPSTAKES FOR DOGS

Nearly 300 classes are listed for the second annual dog show of the Hudson County Kennel Club, to be held at Froemchen's Hall, Union Hill, N. J., on the afternoon and evening of Dec. 6. All breeds are catered to, and, in addition to the usual classes, there are a number of unclassified specials, including one for the best dog in the show, which will be for the President's Cup, presented by H. Grasser. Another feature is provided in sweepstake classes in five divisions, for which an entrance fee of $1 is charged, the money to be divided 60 per cent. to the winner, 30 per cent. to the second, G. Muss-Arnolt of Tuckahoe will be the all-around judge, while the unclassified specials and sweepstake classes will be adjudicated by Messrs. Arnolt, Rosenberg, and Thomson. The judges selected follow:

Mrs. D. D. Dunn, New York, Boston terriers. Mrs. M. Koerlin, Yonkers, Pomeranians and toy poodles. A. Zimmermann, Brooklyn, cocker spaniels. Mrs. Harry Taylor, Hollis, L. I., French bulldogs. A. B. Thomson, Annandale, S. I., Airedale, Irish, fox, and Scottish terriers. George Low, Elizabeth, bulldogs and bull terriers. Alva B. Rosenberg, Brooklyn, all toys except Pomeranians and toy poodles. G. Muss-Arnolt, Tuckahoe, N. Y., all other breeds and miscellaneous, members', local, and children's classes.

Yale Runners May Compete.

The Yale cross-country team, which finished second in the intercollegiate championship last Saturday, or at least part of it, may compete in the senior national hill and dale chase of the Amateur Athletic Union at Van Cortlandt Park a week from Saturday. Johnny Overton, captain of the team and winner of the individual intercollegiate championship, yesterday wrote Chairman Rubien of the National Championship Committee, asking him to forward entry blanks to New Haven.

Knollwood Gunners Out Tomorrow.

At the traps of the Knollwood Country Club at White Plains, tomorrow, there will be a 100-targets handicap for a prize presented by William T. Koch. The regular shooting season will begin next Sunday. The monthly cup and season cup will be shot for every Sunday afternoon.

HOSTS OF FANDOM SWELL.

Paid Attendance in the American League 1,017,197 More Than 1915.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Paid attendance at American League baseball games for the season of 1916 was 1,017,197 more than 1915. These figures, which were announced from President Ban Johnson's office, were credited by him with being due to a "restoration of the stability of the game," following the year of upset in which the Federal League contended for major baseball recognition.

The close race for the American League pennant also was partly responsible, President Johnson declared. The report will be given out at the annual meeting of the club owners Dec. 14. The total number of admissions was not made public.

TO CUT PLAYERS' SALARIES.

Johnson Announces Retrenchment Policy in American League.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—Salaries of baseball players in the American League, who were signed at high figures to retain them during the war with the Federal League, will be sharply reduced, B. B. Johnson, President of the league, announced today. The game was conducted in an extravagant manner during the fight with the Federal League, President Johnson said, and all expenses connected with the operation of the sport next season will be curtailed.

"Now that the trouble is over," he asserted, "we will have to return to a sound basis—one where men who have invested their money in the game stand a chance of obtaining a fair return. There will be no renewal of high salaried 'war' contracts. The players must understand that. We will agree on a new contract at the annual meeting of the American League, here, on Dec. 14, that will be fair to all concerned. It will be equitable to the player and club owner."

MAY BAR THE MOIST BALL.

Rules Committee Likely to Forbid Pitchers to Use It.

The moist ball, now used by numerous pitchers in the major leagues, has been the cause of so many costly fielding errors that the Rules Committee may legislate against it just as against the emery ball. The moisture which remains on the ball after it is hit from the bat often causes the fielders to throw it wildly, and more than one manager is in favor of abolishing the wet ball. The use of slippery elm and licorice makes it even more dangerous for the fielders to handle. Resin is another substance generally used by pitchers which may also be prohibited. There is a strong tendency among the rule makers to put a stop to all sharp practices in pitching and make the pitchers work solely on their own merits.

The moist ball has caused innumerable freak throws by fielders. In a game at the Polo Grounds last Spring between the Giants and Brooklyn, Brooklyn had the tieing run on third base in the ninth inning. The next batter hit to Fletcher, who drew his arm back to make a throw. The wet ball slipped from the fielder's fingers and dropped at his feet and the runner scored. Brooklyn afterward winning the game. Since then Fletcher and, for that matter every infielder, is an enemy to the moist ball.

Benny Kauff made a freak throw on account of the wet ball in Boston last May. He tried to throw a ball to second base, and instead the ball went up in the air over his head, while the runner went around the bases. Oscar Stanage, the Detroit catcher, had a like experience against the Yankees at the Polo Grounds last season. He threw the slippery ball high over the third baseman's head and the winning run scored.

PLANS FOR CANADIAN SHOOT

St. Thomas Gun Club Arranges Tourney on Dec. 4.

The St. Thomas Gun Club of St. Thomas, Ontario, has made special arrangements with the customs officials of the Canadian city to pass the guns of shooters attending the club's international trap-shooting tournament during the week of Dec. 4. The tournament is likely to attract many experts from this side of the border, as large prizes are offered for the principal events, which include an international handicap at live birds, as well as an international championship and handicap at inanimate targets.

The target events will be held on the first three days of the tournament, concluding with the international championship on the morning and the international handicap on the afternoon of Dec. 6. In the latter event a handsome trophy and $100 in cash will go to the winner, and there will be in addition $750 in merchandise money. The two days of live-bird shooting will conclude on Dec. 8 with the Grand International Handicap, at forty birds a man, handicap rise. The entrance fee is $15, and the winner will receive a gold watch and $75, the remainder of the money being divided on the Rose system. Eight special trophies also will be awarded during the tournament.

C. C. N. Y. SWIMMING PLANS.

First Meet to be on Dec. 8, with Columbia as Opponent.

Manager Horowits of the City College swimming team has issued the schedule for the coming season. Two trips are being planned by the management, one in the North and the other southward. The first meet will be held with Columbia University at City College on Dec. 8.

Among the old material still with the team are Jones and Auerbach in the plunge, Liebner in the dive, and Schoenfeld in the distance events. As to the water polo team, C. C. N. Y. expects to turn out the best team it has yet developed.

The schedule for the coming season is as follows:

Dec. 8—C. C. N. Y. vs. Columbia, at home; 15—C. C. N. Y. vs. Pennsylvania, at home; 22—C. C. N. Y. vs. Amherst, at home, (tentative); 29—C. C. N. Y. vs. N. Y. U., at home, (tentative) Jan. 5—C. C. N. Y. vs. Pennsylvania, abroad; 24—C. C. N. Y. vs. Rutgers, abroad, (tentative;) March 2—C. C. N. Y. vs. Rutgers, at home, (tentative;) 24—Intercollegiate championship, at Pennsylvania.

Erasmus Hall Swimmers Win.

Swimmers of Erasmus Hall won from Commercial High, by 32 points to 21, in their championship P. S. A. L. dual meet at the Fourth Avenue Baths, Brooklyn, yesterday. The points were scored on a three, two and one basis. The competition was unusually close in every event, and several star performances were recorded.

City's Finest Have Athletic Meet.

Manhattan Five Beats St. Francis.

By a score of 38 to 17 Manhattan College five last night defeated the St. Francis College basket ball team in the gymnasium of St. Peter and Paul.

ECLIPSE IS TAKEN BY YANKEE NOTIONS

Easily Disposes of Top o' the Morning in Handicap Event at Bowie.

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 28.—Yankee Notions, at 14½ to 1, romped home with the Eclipse Handicap, which was the feature race at the Southern Maryland course this afternoon. With Haubert and Marse Henry withdrawn, the former undoubtedly on account of the heavy impost—130 pounds—which was allotted to him, the race was practically a walkover for the winner. Yankee Notions carried 114 pounds, and with this weight he easily disposed of Top o' the Morning, which was asked to pack away 140 pounds. The real contenders were Kewessa and Fruit Cake, which were both in light and came along in the order named.

The old son of Yankee has been one of the most consistent winners on the Maryland tracks. In his seven starts he has been first five times, and was second and third on the two other occasions. The Liberty Selling Handicap, for 3-year-olds and upward, at a mile, was won by W. J. Anderson's Sir William Johnson, which won his first race in twelve starts. The winner was cleverly ridden by E. Haynes, who has piloted many of the best platers to victory during this meeting.

Among the other long shots to win was Al Hudson, which annexed the opening event at $22.70 for $2. E. K. Bryson's 2-year-old managed to beat out Kebo and Sargon II. by the narrowest of margins. The latter was the first choice for the race, but was beaten out for the place by Kebo in the last few strides. In the other event for youngsters, Kilts, bearing the silks of J. M. Zimmer, was an easy winner.

The summaries, with straight, place and show odds:

FIRST RACE.—For two-year-olds; selling; purse $600; six furlongs. Time—1:17 2-5.

Al Hudson, E. K. Bryson's b. c., 116 pounds, by Santry-Mirfield. $22.70, $6.40, $3.50. (W. Ward).....1

Amazon, Cliff Field, Fairy Legend, Hops, and Bonnie Tess also ran.

YOUNGSTERS HOLE IN ONE.

Pinehurst Schoolboys Play Remarkable Shot on Links.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 28.—There is some very promising golfing material among the youngsters who attend a private school at Pinehurst. Lambert Splane, the fourteen-year-old son of W. G. Splane of Detroit and a nephew of Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, played a 300-yard par four-hole not long ago in a drive, an iron shot, and a short putt. This has now been capped by Lambert's school-fellow, Athel Denham, also 14, who, under the watchful eye of his attesting opponent and schoolmaster, A. A. Collings, has made the thirteenth hole on the No. 1 course—in one!

This hole is par 3 and bogey 4. The approach runs uphill all the way, and the only part of the green that is visible from the tee is the flag, as they say in Ireland. The distance is 122 yards, which is in itself a respectable drive for a youngster of 14. Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, who built up the remarkable ringer score of 65 on this course last season and shattered a number of pars in the course of the proceedings, never managed better than a 3 on this particular hole.

Following on Denham's heels a second hole in one was made by J. R. Bowker of the Woodland Club, playing in a match with C. B. Johnson of Cleveland against James Barber of Englewood and C. F. Lancaster of Boston. He negotiated the blind eleventh on the No. 1 course in a mashie pitch. Par on this hole is three and the distance is 153 yards.

Only two holes were made in one at Pinehurst during all of last season, the short ninth on the No. 1 course obliging in both instances. Phil Carter was responsible for the first, James Wilson of Youngstown, professional, made the second.

POULTRY SHOW ON DEC. 5.

Annual Exhibit of Empire Association to Continue to Dec. 9.

The tenth annual Palace poultry show of the Empire Poultry Association, which will begin on Tuesday, Dec. 5, and continue through Saturday, Dec. 9, at the Grand Central Palace, promises to eclipse all previous shows of the organization both in numbers and class. Entries are being received from all parts of the country for the event, even as far away as the Pacific Coast. In conjunction with the poultry exhibit there will be a cat shown and a pigeon show. Equipment and accessories for poultry purposes will be displayed throughout the show.

From the entries received so far indications are that the exhibit of Barred Rocks will lead in numbers as last year. Yama Farms of Naponach, N. Y., L. C. Breeden of Bennettsville, S. C., and O. S. Andrews of Chattanooga, Tenn., are among the exhibitors of this breed. Of special technical interest will be the show of Campines. A feature of the exhibit will be classes for Farm Flocks in different breeds, ten in a pen competing.

Tiger Seven at St. Nicholas Rink.

The Princeton hockey team, which is to be very active this season, will practice at St. Nicholas Rink tonight between 6:45 and 7:30 o'clock. A squad of nearly thirty is expected to appear on the ice. Six veterans, Cushman, Ford, Hills, Schaeon, Scully and Humphries, are available for this season's team, and the new material looks promising. The series with Yale at Pittsburgh has been eliminated. Princeton will first play St. Paul in New York in about three weeks.

Run for Westchester Beagles.

The Westchester County Beagles will meet at John McE. Bowman's estate in Portchester on Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock. A hunt breakfast will be given by Mr. Bowman after the run.

GOLF PROS MIGRATE TO WARMER CLIMES

Courses Being Prepared for Invasion of South on Larger Scale Than Ever.

Now that Jack Frost is setting his foot on the links in the metropolitan district and points farther north, the golf professionals are betaking themselves to warmer climes and pastures new. The annual migration to the South is well under way. The professionals precede the amateurs by a month or more in order to get the courses in shape for the Winter drives and putts. Reports from the Southland indicate that this season will bring as many golfers there as last year, which means a great many, for the 1915-16 Winter was a banner year for Southern links.

Alec Smith of Wykagyl, former national open champion, will once more resume his place at Bellearir, Fla. There are two courses at this place, and as the work is too heavy for a single man to handle, Alec will have his brother, George Smith, there to help him out. George Low of Baltusrol, former metropolitan open champion, will take up his duties at a new course in St. Augustine within a few weeks. It has not been Low's custom to locate at a Southern course in the Winter, but a trip through the South that he took for his health last year has made him change his mind, for one year at least.

Donald Ross has the four courses at Pinehurst under his wing again, and is being assisted by a whole corps of professionals, including Alec Ross and Herbert Lagerblade. William Potts of Apawamis will take up his former position at Southern Pines, N. C., within a few days. Charles Tom, who makes an annual stay at Miami

OWEN DAVIS PLAY A RAKE'S COMEDY

SAMPSON AND MISS LOWELL

Jim Evans	William Sampson
Amelia	Helene Lowell
Teddy Weeks	Burr McIntosh
Eddie Bonner	Hobart Cavanaugh
Joan Evans	Blythe Lyle
Jack Kendall	Tom Powers
Ruth	Beatrice Noyes
Rose Howard	Adele Blood
Phillip Lund	Joseph Kilgour
Morton Kendall	John Flood
Robert Blake	Jack Ellis
Mrs. Kendall	Olive Oliver

"Mile-a-Minute Kendall" is the engaging name of a new comedy which Oliver Morosco presented to New York last evening at the Lyceum Theatre. It is the work of Owen Davis, one time writer of Bowery melodramas, who has devoted his later years to the less violent exercise of his talents. His new plaide is a play of the Winchell Smith school, a faint but recognizable carbon copy of "The Fortune Hunter" and "Turn to the Right." It provides a good deal of laughter, most of it provoked by somewhat too visibly mechanical means, and altogether, supplies a fair-to-middling evening in the theatre.

Mile-a-Minute Kendall is the nickname earned by the reckless driving of a young rake just out of college and spending more money in one year than his new wealthy father had earned in the first thirty years of his life. He is finally cast off by his people, deserted by the adventuress who had planned to marry him, and abandoned, sick and penniless, at a wayside inn on the Boston Post Road. It is the little niece of the innkeeper who gives him back his health and his courage and helps him along on the invention which brings him fame and fortune in time for the final curtain. He is reconciled to his folks, married to his sweetheart, and possessed of a few millions when you leave him at 11 o'clock. Winchell Smith himself could do no more for a hero.

As usual, the announcements describe the company as "a typical Morosco cast." Most of us had thought this a well-earned name for a shrewdly selected group of newcomers to the New York stage, fresh and sorely-needed talent brought on from the big stock companies of the Pacific Slope. But this would hardly describe the assemblage of old standbys who give their services—for the most part to good purpose—in the unfolding of "Mile-a-Minute Kendall."

William Sampson, the leading grouch of the American stage, and Helene Lowell, this time highly amusing as a grotesque Cassandra, make off with the first honors of the evening. They make much of rôles brimful of opportunities. Then there are such old acquaintances as John Flood, Joseph Kilgour, Burr McIntosh and Olive Oliver. Tom Powers, a pleasing young actor who made so favorable an impression in "Mr. Lazarus," acquits himself creditably in the title rôle, but as the heroine a newcomer, named Blythe Lyle, leaves something to be desired. And then a really shockingly bad performance as the adventuress is given by Adele Blood. O tempora! O Morosco!

Claudia Muzio's Debut in "Tosca."

Claudia Muzio, the new soprano of the Metropolitan Opera Company, will make her first appearance here Monday evening of next week in "Tosca." The other performances of the week will bring forward "Prince Igor" on Wednesday evening, "Der Rosenkavalier" on Thursday, and "Aida" on Friday evening, while the Saturday performances are "Fidelio" at the matinée and "Manon Lescaut" in the evening for the benefit of the Italian Hospital.

THE MUSIC OF YESTERDAY.

Two Concerts of Chamber Music and Four Song Recitals.

The needs of New York in music were amply supplied yesterday by four song recitals and two chamber concerts. The chamber concerts were those of the Flonzaley Quartet, which made its first appearance this season last evening in Aeolian Hall, and the Trio de Lutèce, which played in the afternoon in the Cort Theatre. The Flonzaley Quartet made its concert a memorial of the founder, Edward J. de Coppet, who died last April, after the close of the musical season. The program began with the adagio from Beethoven's quartet in E flat, Op. 127, which was played at his home on the afternoon of his death; it included also Mozart's quartet in C, and Smetana's, entitled "Aus meinem Leben," in which there is an episode suggesting the composer's deafness (from which Mr. de Coppet also suffered and the persistent high note that continually haunted his ear. The Flonzaley Quartet played these compositions to the great satisfaction of a large audience. It has a style of its own, marked by a great perfection and finish, tonal beauty and balance, and an elastic and buoyant spirit. It played Smetana's quartet with immense verve and rhythmic incisiveness and Mozart's with great delicacy. The movement from Beethoven's quartet had impressiveness through the purpose for which it was brought forward, as well as through its own lofty beauty.

The Trio de Lutèce.

The Trio de Lutèce, Messrs. Barrère, Salzedo and Kéfer, were heard here for the first time this season in one of their programs for harp, flute, and cello. They played some music by Rameau, a sonata by Debussy, which was marked for first performance in America; two pieces, likewise new, by Ravel, and one by Alfred Casella, which were burlesques or imitations of the styles of Borodine, Chabrier, and Fauré; and Ravel's sonatina for trio, which has been heard before. Emma Roberts, contralto, the assisting artist, sang a group of old Italian airs and three songs in Russian. The program was well done and interesting.

Mme. Julia Culp.

Mme. Julia Culp, the Dutch contralto, who has made many admirers of her art of lieder singing in the four seasons during which she has been in this country, reappeared in Carnegie Hall, where many of them were present. She showed again the qualities that have won high approval—the beauty and richness of voice, so well equalized throughout, so powerful and so well modulated in all degrees of power; the fine artistic intelligence, the technical proficiency that enables her to bring that intelligence to full realization, and especially the admirable breath control through which she can accomplish such unusual and excellent things in the way of phrasing. An inevitable result of a vocal technique so finished is the beautiful clarity of her diction.

Mme. Culp sings by preference, and consequently, perhaps, best, German lieder. Yesterday, besides three German groups by Schubert, Cornelius, and Brahms, there was one of French songs.

George Hamlin.

George Hamlin, tenor of Chicago, who is one of the most frequent and best known visitors to New York giving song recitals, as well as one of the most interesting in his performance and most catholic in his survey of the literature, was heard in a recital yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall. There are more beautiful voices than Mr. Hamlin's, but he makes the most of his vocal resources. His singing yesterday had the intelligence, the gift for interpretation, for conveying the spirit and significance of a musical setting that have before been admired in it.

There are excellent clear diction and carefully considered declamation that give point and pregnancy, and that are not allowed to interfere with the musical flow; there is expressive phrasing and a spirit of vitality that rarely escapes from Mr. Hamlin's style. His voice sounded best yesterday in brilliant chest tones. There was a good deal of nasal resonance in evidence. In its lower ranges there was often a fine quality in mezza voce.

Edna Mampel and Bromberg.

Edna Mampel, a new contralto, disclosed an agreeable, if rather light, voice in a recital in the afternoon at the Comedy Theatre. Edward Bromberg, a Russian bass numbered among the local singers, at Rumford Hall last night, showed himself a well-trained and careful singer.

Official Vote of Illinois.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The official vote of Illinois, completed tonight, shows that Hughes carried the State by a plurality of 202,235 over Wilson. The vote was: Hughes, 1,152,816; Wilson, 950,081.

GILDA DARTHY APPEARS.

She Displays Extraordinary Emotional Powers in "The Ironmaster."

Gilda Darthy, an actress who is rated among the most gifted and skilful of the French theatre, made her American début last night with Lucien Bonheur's company at the Garrick in Georges Ohnet's "Le Maître de Forges." ("The Ironmaster.") The performance had been scheduled for the preceding night, but Mlle. Darthy, who arrived only lately in America, felt that further rehearsal was needed and caused a postponement. The visiting artiste gave still another demonstration of her independence last night by holding the first curtain until 9 o'clock to make sure that everything was in readiness. The result of this meticulousness was apparent in one of the smoothest performances and most satisfactory mise-en-scènes the local French stage has yet offered.

Mlle. Darthy by her performance lived up to the reputation that preceded her from Paris. She has all of the natural grace and technical skill of the actress trained in the great school of the French theatre, and a moderate amount of Gallic beauty besides. She possesses extraordinary emotional powers and a voice whose lovely quality is one of her greatest assets. Added to these is the exquisite diction typical of French artists. Mlle. Darthy is indeed a valuable addition to Mr. Bonheur's Théâtre Français.

"The Pardon" at the Bandbox.

The excellent work of Oliver Tell and Margaret Mersland justified, in a measure, the special matinée of "The Pardon," given yesterday at the Bandbox by and with Douglas J. Wood. This is Barrett H. Clark's translation of a play by Jules Lemaître, a bit of deadwood from the petrified forest of the French theatre. Three characters in three acts develop all the nuances of infidelity. The advance notices, sent out in Mr. Wood's name, averred that he was "very popular socially," and that much interest in the occasion was being evinced by "society." This can hardly have referred to the Four Hundred, as that many would have packed the little Bandbox to overflowing, and it was considerably less than half full. It must have meant the Upper Ten.

$500,000 Wanted for War Animals.

Formal announcement of a campaign to raise $500,000 in America for the humane work of the Royal Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals among the army animals in the war was made yesterday at the organization meeting of the American Auxiliary of the society, held in the office of the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, which is actively co-operating in the movement. Colonel Alfred Wagstaff, President of the local society, and Henry Bergh, its Treasurer, were elected to similar positions in the auxiliary, the Secretary of which is R. H. Race, the Royal Society's delegate in this country.

HOTEL BELLECLAIRE NEW YORK
"Henry came marching home again."
The BELECLAIRE'S Soldier Boy, who went to the front with "The Seventh," is home for Thanksgiving turkey, mince pie and all the other goodies.
Won't he enjoy the day?
Well, I guess!
The BELLECLAIRE family welcomes him home.
But speaking of Thanksgiving, there are many men and women here in New York who will have no opportunity to get back home for the fireside dinner.
Come to the BELLECLAIRE, where you can get a good dinner—as near like the home dinner as you can find anywhere outside of home—and you will enjoy it because of the home environment and the friendly atmosphere.
We all try to make the BELLECLAIRE a real home at all times, but especially so on a Holiday.

BANKING AND INVESTING.

In issuing its warning to the banks against long-term investments for funds that should be kept liquid, the Federal Reserve Board has done the right thing, possibly in the wrong way. It is a primary lesson in banking, not a danger signal. But, being a banking matter, there was no particular need of a public statement. An admonition to the banks would have accomplished the desired end. The board seems to be going out of its way when it speaks to private investors. There is, of course, no suggestion that foreign securities are not safe for private investors. The extent of the implication is that funders of bank deposits which should be used for the needs of commerce are in a different position from those lending their own funds. Investors might be satisfied or even desirous that the Treasury bills of foreign countries should be renewed five times and finally paid. But for a commercial bank of discount and deposit the same business would be objectionable. It would make the borrowers the masters of the banks' business to that extent. The banks would lose the five profits which might be made from lending the same funds to five or more separate borrowers. If the banks precluded themselves from making the five separate profits, it would be a necessary result that they should refuse the accommodations to borrowers in general, and which they have a right to expect. It is not that the securities are indigestible. Mr. Morgan's undigested securities were not indigestible. Those securities and these are alike in taking longer to digest than banks can allow, even if the process is finally accomplished with profit. Investors can go longer between meals.

The warning to the banks is against overeating. The warning to investors is against undereating, unless they want to put the country's trade on short rations. There is more need of the warning to the investors than to the banks. The need of instruction is apparent from the relative terms upon which private funds are available for domestic and foreign borrowers. It is no disparagement to foreign credit that the borrowers are obliged to pay at a rate which they think scandalous, and which certainly is rarely offered and is tempting to funds available for that use. When industrials are earning their capital each year and saving arrears of dividends, with current extras, all borrowers must expect to pay more than in normal times. But those arrears of dividends are cautionary. Funds which seek security and income rather than speculative profits are shy at such risks for their principal. The money which goes into industrials is not the money which might be expected to take the paper with the five renewals. Neither is it exactly the money which takes domestic mortgages, and which does not take them just now at rates facilitating building.

As our money market is at present organized, the duty of seeing that foreign purchases are financed falls first upon our great private banks as wholesalers, and upon private investors advised by them. If our acceptance system were working, it might help, but it is idle to speak of accepting upon any large scale here and now, when there are billions of unused credit and banks buy acceptances as they might discount, lending funds as they might lend credit, if there were not a surplus of cash. There would seem to be a missing link such as several countries are now providing themselves with in the form of trade banks to do business after the war. They should not be banks of discount, for reasons which the Reserve Bank's statement makes clear. They should be in the nature of the German banks which grant the long-term commercial credits that gave Germany its great gains in foreign trade at the expense of England. The need of these long commercial credits is now a great obstacle to our acquiring peacefully, even besides ably, the foreign trade which is thrust upon us. Long credits are necessary for trade done overseas with other nations. They can pay only with their crops, and need assistance as much as our farmers, for whom special facilities are now being prepared. It is not business attractive to those so uneducated in finance and foreign trade as our small capitalists. It would seem as though what is necessary is something like the British investment trusts, or the proposed British trade bank, which offer expert advice, backed by a definite guarantee of capital as collateral to the purchased security.

The need of some additional facility of foreign trade appears from the board's hint at the consequences of the failure of the private investor to appreciate his opportunities. Nothing more can be asked of our foreign buyers than they are doing. They are paying in gold until we object. They are offering the highest form of national credit known. They are returning us our domestic securities at such a profit as they offer us the chance to make on their securities of the same sort sold to us. It is not possible for them to pay in goods, and there are some among us who would forbid them to do so by law. If we are too hard to please, and too hard hearted toward their necessities, we have the option to reduce our trade, or to face their sacrifice sales of whatever they own. Only in form is there any option either for us or for them. They buy under compulsion, and are almost reckless of price. There is a hidden compulsion upon us to trade with them which would disclose itself if we used our option not to sell on credit. These are all primary lessons, but are necessary.

THE HERESY OF ALLEGHENY.

The worst of the worst is come. No tender heart will reproach the American Protective League and the Home Market Club if they keep tomorrow as a day of humiliation, fasting, sackcloth, and alarm. The official recount in Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, iron-ribbed Republican Allegheny of Greater Pittsburgh, gives two of its Congress districts to Democrats. Not since 1892 has even one lone Democrat crept into the House from that fortress of protection, and in that year the lone backsliding district included voters from a couple of other counties not true to the faith of Allegheny.

Two Democratic Representatives, two accursed freetraders out of the very heart and bowels of protection! American standards of living have been cut at the root. Pauper Labor lords it over the tariff lords. If the Empty Dinner Pail can be found, beat a dirge on it! Thank heaven that Pig Iron KELLEY and JOHN DALZELL did not live to see this doleful hour!

THE RETURN OF THE SEVENTH.

The return of the Seventh Infantry, New York National Guard, from service on the Mexican frontier had the aspect of a great popular demonstration. In the noon hour Fifth Avenue, from Twenty-third Street northward to Sixty-seventh, was closed to ordinary traffic while the citizen soldiers, escorted by the veterans of their famous regiment and the home guard, marched from the ferry to their armory. They were a fine-looking lot of men, and showed no sign of having suffered from the inevitable hardships of five months of severe routine in a part of the country where intense heat often gives way with little warning to bitter cold, where the rain, when there is any, falls in torrents. The Seventh's homecoming was celebrated with form because of the distinction of the regiment, not because its members performed noticeably better service for the nation than those of other regiments. It is a fact that all our National Guardsmen on the frontier have performed their tasks in a very creditable manner. A large majority of them have developed soldierlike qualities.

Nevertheless, in the crowds which lined Fifth Avenue and paid tribute to the zeal and skill of the returning militiamen there was inevitably a feeling of uncertainty. The public mind is disturbed about the result of the experimental use of the organized militia of the States as a part of the regular army. The call for the militia was timed to put in operation the provisions of the new army law under which the militia is paid in times of peace by the Federal Government, and is to be relied upon for military service whenever that service is required. The guarding of the border during the Mexican disturbances is essential to the safety of the inhabitants of the border States. The call for extra military service beyond that which could be performed by the regular army was wholly justified.

The Hay law, which the influence of the National Guard as an organized body was instrumental in forcing through Congress, prohibits the formation of a citizen reserve other than the organized militia. Yet there is a vast accumulation of documentary and other evidence to show that the militia has regarded its service on the border as irksome, that many of the men believe they have not been fairly treated. The resignations of officers since the service began have been so numerous as to create a public scandal. Some men who have obeyed orders faithfully, but have otherwise been so unsoldierlike as to condemn the Government which called them to duty, have declared that "the end of the National Guard is in sight." But if the National Guard is destroyed by the operation of the Hay law the fault lies with the supporters of that law and not with its opponents, who include a fair majority of the citizens of the United States and all the officers of the regular army.

In their written and spoken complaints, since they were summoned southward in June, the militiamen have presented an indictment against the Quartermaster's Department at Washington which should not be overlooked. Some passages from a recent letter of a young man, who has been performing his military duty courageously but without illusions, will show how the men feel about the national muddle which Mr. HAY of Virginia has created. His own regiment suffered for a long while from the lack of direct regular army supervision:

> About two weeks ago Captain —— from the regular army came to —— as an instructor. Of course we should have had him two months ago. If we had, our stay down here would have been more worth while. The experience and training of a regular army officer is invaluable, and there are many ways in which he can help the entire outfit; among others, the proper care of horses and of equipment, the training of the horses, the instruction of the men in equitation, and the proper filling in of the many forms necessary to comply with the tremendous amount of red tape. There are endless documents, lists, and forms to be filled in for the purpose of keeping the daily record, or for making application for equipment, which is woefully scarce. The thorns which grow on every living thing down here tear our shirts and breeches. We have been away over three months, and today there are no shirts or breeches to issue me, although I am sadly in need of both. I really am ashamed to go into town with my uniform the way it is now. I wore my issue shoes until they were practically falling off my feet and then I had to buy a new pair in town because they had none to fit among the few pairs at the Quartermaster's. My slicker rotted, and because there were no more I had to buy one in town. There is a store on the army grounds near the New York Division headquarters which is supposed to be a branch of the Army and Navy Co-operative Company in New York. The prices are fierce. One thing certain, this trip has proved to me beyond the shadow of a doubt that we must have compulsory service in the United States and a complete reorganization of the army.
> Last Thursday night we got the tail-end of a hurricane in the shape of a strong north wind. It didn't rain, but blew all night, and we woke up in the morning to find that the temperature had dropped from 120 degrees in the sun the day before to 52 degrees. I tell you it was cold! I promptly bought a cheap quilt; two blankets, my own and ——'s, who is home on a furlough, not being enough. I couldn't get another from the Quartermaster's. The nights have been really cold since then, but we have been quite comfortable. There have been a great many quilts and mattresses bought.

The conclusion of this young man that we must have universal military training and abandon the preposterous idea of defending our country on the volunteer plan is now general among the National Guardsmen who have been on the border. The universal training idea is growing all over this country. We are going to hear much about it after Congress reassembles. In regard to the imperfect federalization of the militia under the Hay bill, the opinion of the country is taking definite form, too. Nobody doubts that the individual members of the National Guard have done their duty on the border. Many of them will always hold themselves in readiness to answer their country's call. But the whole system is defective, and the militia provisions of the military law should be repealed at the earliest opportunity. We must have a body of citizen soldiery under the direct control of the War Department, and the various military bureaus in Washington should be overhauled and put in good working order. The lesson of our experiences in 1916 must be heeded.

THE CLEVELAND DEMOCRACY.

Are any steps being taken in this State to promote Democratic principles, to foster and carry forward and enlarge that part, that great part, of the Democratic Party of New York that follows WOODROW WILSON for his constructive policies and his high ideals of statesmanship and Democracy that is Democratic for the good of the country and not for the loaves and fishes? Why is it that the power of organization is so little used by Democrats who do not look to selfish and local considerations? Tammany is always with us. Various anti-Tammany "halls" and associations have had their hour and passed. Tammany, if waning, still preserves a strength due largely to its spirit of discipline.

Something may be learned even of a society so unsympathetic to broad, patriotic national purposes as Tammany Hall. Not as a movement against Tammany, not, of course, in any imitation of Tammany, whose rigidity and solidarity of method and action repel Democrats of a more independent nature, there ought to be more cohesive association among the Democrats who want to help Mr. WILSON in his next Administration and keep their party strong and active for the future. The individual voters are scattered, except in small places they do not know one another, in great cities they are hopelessly apart unless brought together by representative organizations, in a Congress district they are dissociated, essentially solitary. A party machine, a coterie of professionals, takes charge. How are the young men to be brought in, the electors enlightened and persuaded, the party made responsive to generous public aims, which do not interest the professionals?

The re-election of Mr. WILSON may be befriended of what should be its full effect and fruitfulness, the Democratic Party will not be prepared to continue worthy of power if by intelligent and concerted labor it does not strengthen itself among the voters. A reform Administration has been approved. Its triumph has been brought about by independent Republicans and Progressives. In this State, at least, the Democracy needs to grow a good deal. It must attract new voters. It should stimulate the study of politics, that is to say, keep on educating itself, increasing its influence, and in all localities it should have sound political association, not only for educative but for "practical" politics.

It is interesting to recall a once famous club founded by the young Democrats of Buffalo at the end of the national campaign of 1884, called the Cleveland Democracy of Buffalo. These young men made the victory of their distinguished fellow-citizen a cause of self-improvement, of political study, of Democratic and public advantage. The club was founded, its constitution said, > to foster and disseminate Democratic principles, to use its best endeavors to secure the nomination and election of honest and capable Democrats to all public offices, to promote and secure the political education and Democratic fellowship of its members.

Excellent objects, which the young Democrats of today should seek to attain by means of similar clubs. It is as true today as when Mr. CLEVELAND wrote in 1885 that > membership in a party might well rest less upon a blind, unreflecting enthusiasm for a certain continued partisan companionship, as the hope of personal reward and advantage, and more upon a deliberate attachment to well-defined and understood party principles.

The Wilson Democracy should take up the work of the Cleveland Democracy. It may be added that in Buffalo the Cleveland Democracy was also a "practical" political organization. In each election district it had a Captain, who, with the members living in the district, saw that Democratic voters registered and voted. It is the testimony of old politicians that these volunteers did better work than the men hired by the County Committee.

DID GERMANY LOOK WEST?

The Morning Post of London, discussing the attitude of Americans toward the war, says, what is no doubt true, since it is inherently probable, "Any time in the last ten years we could have had an agreement with Germany by allowing her a free hand across the Atlantic," that is, in Central and South America. It further reports, what is not so obviously probable, but is not at all unlikely, that in the course of this war this proposal has been "put forward, of course discreetly and unofficially, by the German Government, and that it has been rejected by the Allies."

It is eminently likely that, in addition to the trial balloons set forth in all men's sight, Germany has been "putting forward discreetly and unofficially" an infinite number of suggestions in the hope of finding one that would find an echo among enemies heartsore at their losses; suggestions which, even if rejected now, will be remembered at some time when the need of peace shall have become more insistent in their minds. Whether this particular suggestion has been included in the number is a question of more interest than importance; it is the fact behind it that is of importance.

Germany needs expansion, and the available places for expansion are few. Russia, Great Britain, and Japan have left little of Asia, and Great Britain, France, Portugal, and Belgium have used up the best parts of Africa. The only continent that is virgin for the purposes of overcrowded nations is South America, immense, naturally rich, and sparsely settled—not wholly explored, in fact. That South America has been passed by in the grabbing of continents that has become a stampede in the last forty years is not due to oversight. There is not the least reason to doubt the statement that at "any time in the last ten years" an agreement could have been reached among the European nations with South America as its keystone which would have prevented this war.

The German plans for this war were as carefully laid as those by which she defeated Austria in six weeks and France in six months, in BISMARCK'S time. She calculated on a war as short as those were; the neutralization of England, the destruction of France in a month, and the turning upon unprepared Russia with a campaign short but savage enough to bring her to terms. The whole war should have been over in two or three months, according to German plans, and if it had been, Germany's losses would have been comparatively slight and she would have been stronger than ever. She could then have turned to her real preoccupation, colonial expansion, and have given her attention to it strengthened, aggrandized, and virtually uninjured. If, in that case, she had not looked toward South America, it would have been only because she still feared the English fleet; she would have feared nothing else on earth.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Christmas Wisdom Emphasized.

All of the many reasons that have been used to back up the exhortation, "Buy your Christmas presents early," are strengthened this year by the confident prophecies coming from the shops of every kind that holiday trade is going to be brisker than ever before. There may be, of course, in these forecasts something of the hope that so often disguises itself as knowledge, and certainly not quite everybody has determined to celebrate the nation's prosperity by making an unusual number of Christmas presents, but there really are trustworthy indications that there will be more than the customary display of generosity and good-will in this manner.

That means, naturally, that the early buyers will have the larger stocks of fresh goods from which to make their selections, while those who come late will suffer more than in ordinary years from the necessity to content—or discontent—themselves with taking what other people for one reason or another have left behind.

As always, the early buyer will do her buying or his in greater personal comfort than the late one, for, however vehement may be the preaching to timely purchasers, the last few days before Christmas are sure to be those of the biggest crowds. Human nature is built that way, and perhaps it is just as well, or at least no worse, because there would be no particular advantage in merely putting ahead for a few days or weeks the excited rush which now comes at the now-or-never period.

To the supplications for early buying that rise from the shopkeepers and from the more considerate friends of their employes, there are added those of the Postmasters and the managers of the express companies. They, too, while saying several words for themselves, can honestly say as many for the general public in urging the distribution of Christmas transportation over three or four weeks, instead of concentrating it in less than one. A package started betimes arrives in better season, which does no harm, if properly marked as to its opening, and it is much more likely to arrive in good condition when it has escaped the many perils of the last grand rush.

Their Plan Has Its Attractions.

Attention is deserved by the plan which has been devised out in Colorado Springs in order to systematise and render more intelligent the responses made by people there and in neighboring towns to the many appeals now received by everybody for money to be used for charitable purposes at home and abroad. As explained in a letter already printed by THE TIMES, a central bureau has been organized to get information as to the various committees that are collecting funds, and thus make sure, as the individuals to whom the appeals come not always can and rarely do, that gifts will be honestly and wisely used. The bureau also figures out about what amount the people of the towns it covers ought to give to meet their share of the whole country's obligation to be helpful, but that is a feature of the scheme which may excite some criticism as altogether too "businesslike." It implies an inclination, not to give according to ability, but in proportion to what others would give if they gave what they should.

Be that as it may, the general idea is a good one, and there will be interest in hearing how it works out in practice, for it involves the laying of a sort of assessment on all who enter the organization, and the assessments are to be collected by churches, banks, clubs, and social bodies. The funds are to be distributed, in the absence of special directions, at the discretion of the bureau, with due care for local needs as well as those at a distance.

The possibility that the undertaking will fail because of what may be called its impersonality is obvious. The desire to get the sense of well-doing that comes from direct gifts to an object or individual definitely known is still strong in most of us, and it is what keeps up the bestowal of alms on beggars, though everybody knows, or at least has been told often enough, that to do that is harmful and not beneficial. Organized or systematized charity constantly has to fight the feeling that it is "cold," and the Colorado innovators may meet the same criticism if they are too successful in depriving their contributors of the opportunity to "acquire merit" in the old way.

Descended Like the Fabled Coon.

Too close inquiry should not be made into the immediate practicality of the proposed sale, by the city to the poor, of coal in small quantities. The difficulties that would have been encountered so promptly in carrying out this scheme will not have to be met, fortunately, as its mere announcement as a purpose has been sufficient to scare the purveyors of coal by the bucketful into lowering their charges to a point which, while still high, perhaps gives them no more profit than the nature of their business justifies.

And these properly chastened exploiters of the poor should not regret their speedy reformation. It was no empty threat that the city made through Mayor MITCHEL and those who backed him with the promise of funds needed for the new municipal enterprise. Their undertaking was difficult, but it was by no means impossible of accomplishment in one way or another, and it is well, and more than well, that a method of curbing ruthless extortioners in the coal trade—and others—should be under consideration at a time like this. The egg monopolists have not yet "come down," and they may not be as quick about doing it as were the tenement coal dealers, but even with large resources they will find themselves helpless when a measurable portion of the general public gets after them with a determined boycott of wares that are constantly getting more and more stale, as well as piling storage charges ever higher and higher.

THEY WHO WERE STRONG.

Tomorrow, day our stern sires set apart
For deep-bowed reverence of the thankful heart,
Find us alive with festival good cheer
And happy consciousness of being—here.

Where free-born men, at last, might firmly stand
And glory in the Nation to be born—
Fathered by Flintlock, out of Powder-horn!

Not so with us! We, at our lounging ease,
Take threats of war as calmly as you please,
And, blinking like blind kittens in the sun,
Refuse to learn the workings of a gun!

They feasted? Aye, and had the right to feast!
By stubborn toil their welfare was increased,
From out the soil their livelihood was torn,
Their life-blood oft was splashed on growing corn.

We work, indeed—that may be justly said;
But soft and safe now lies the worker's head
Upon his pillow when the day is done.
That, Standish and his fellows never won!

Unwelcome task to speak of scattered dust,
Of rifted seals, of sword-blades gone to rust,
Yet we should seek example from afar
To make us wiser, stronger, than we are.

O. C. A. CHILD.

8-HOUR CASE GETS TO SUPREME COURT

MANY SUITS PRECEDE IT

Calendar is Crowded, but Washington Believes the Argument Will Be Made Before the Holidays.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—The case of the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf Railroad Company, selected to test the constitutionality of the Adamson eight-hour law, was placed today on the Supreme Court docket, the last preliminary step by the Government in its appeal from Judge Hook's decision holding the law unconstitutional. The Department of Justice advised the court clerk that on Monday a motion would be made to set a date for early argument. Solicitor General Davis asked the clerk to have the record printed at once.

Outside of the record before the Supreme Court and thus far not made a part of the official transcript is the stipulation agreed upon by Attorney General Gregory and railroad counsel to abide by the court's decision in the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf case in all other suits questioning the validity of the Adamson act. In the presentation of arguments to the court, however, a stipulation making the pending case determinative of all other suits may be filed.

Unless the Supreme Court gives the Adamson case precedence over many others already assigned for hearing beginning Monday, it is considered doubtful whether it can be reached much before the middle of December, even should the court agree to advance the hearings. There are some forty cases already assigned. Nevertheless it is generally expected that the railroad case will be submitted before the court takes a recess for the Christmas holidays on Dec. 22.

Under the court rules, printed briefs must be filed by the Government and railroad counsel before argument, although special permission for later filing often is granted.

Whether attorneys representing the railroad brotherhoods will appear in the Supreme Court proceedings or file briefs is still undetermined. In the test case local Chairmen of brotherhood unions were made defendants by the receivers for the Missouri, Oklahoma & Gulf Railroad, but the injunction suit as to them was dismissed by Judge Hook, leaving District Attorney Wilson of Western Missouri as the only defendant. This situation, however, would not preclude personal appearance of counsel for the brotherhoods in the nominal capacity of "friends of the court."

Nine additional cases were placed today on the Supreme Court's call for Dec. 4. They were recently passed and now are assigned. Among them are the "railway mail pay divisor" cases, involving railroad claims against the Government, an alleged rebating case against the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and cases involving the right of the United Mine Workers and other labor unions to operate in West Virginia, where Judge Dayton held the mine workers to be an illegal organization.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 28.—It was agreed to postpone all of the cases attacking the Adamson eight-hour law in the Federal Court here today at a conference of Judge Killits, District Attorney Wertz, and railroad attorneys.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—Motions to dismiss the suits of the Pennsylvania, the Reading, and the Lehigh Valley Railroads attacking the constitutionality of the Adamson eight-hour law, were filed in the United States District Court here today by District Attorney Kane.

SEES WIDE SCOPE FOR LAW.

Affects All Concerned in Movement of Trains, Commissioner Asserts.

According to a statement issued yesterday by E. E. Clark, a member of the Eight-hour Law Commission, of which General Goethals is Chairman, at the close of a conference at the Custom House, in which the participants were the Chiefs of the Railroad Brotherhoods and the members of the Federal Board, not alone the members of the brotherhoods, but every person engaged in the movement of trains in interstate commerce is affected by the Adamson law. Even since the law was passed it has been debated whether it applied simply to the 400,000 engineers, firemen, conductors, and trainmen, or whether its application included all persons who had anything to do with the movement of trains, such as telegraphers and switchmen. At the time of the filing of the railroad injunction suits Elisha Lee, Chairman of the National Conference Committee of the railways, said that one of the purposes was to get the courts to construe the eight-hour law, if it was held to be constitutional.

The Eight-hour Law Commission yesterday asked the heads of the brotherhoods—Warren S. Stone of the Engineers, W. S. Carter of the Firemen, E. L. Sheppard, acting head of the Conductors, and W. G. Lee of the Trainmen—to submit statistics regarding the probable effect of the operation of the eight-hour law. The brotherhoods maintained at the time of the passage of the law that it would cost about $13,000,000 a year, so far as their members were concerned. They promised yesterday to employ a statistician who would give the Commission a careful estimate of the cost.

> "The meeting was for the purpose of giving the representatives of the 400,000 train employes an opportunity of telling the commission what they considered would be the proper form and scope of its investigation under the working of the law.
> "The brotherhood chiefs were advised by the commission to select a statistician to represent them before the commission. The railroads have been given the same privilege. These two statisticians will meet the statistician of the commission, and together they will formulate the reports for the commission.
> "Because of the breadth of the law the brotherhoods cannot be depended upon to furnish the statistical information necessary for us. For instance, the four brotherhoods represent only about 400,000 members, whereas the law affects every man employed by railroads who is engaged in the movement of trains. In the conduct of our investigation we therefore intend to get our information from the railroads by especially prepared forms. We have no intention of holding public hearings. Should any person or persons desire to be heard before the commission, or if we are unable to get at certain facts by means of the forms, we will call witnesses, but not otherwise.
> "You must understand that the commission has no official standing at this time, nor will it have until Jan. 1, when the Adamson law is scheduled to go into effect."

COST OF 8-HOUR DAY.

Yardmasters Tell Arbitrators What It Means in Switching.

The Board of Arbitration appointed under the Newlands act to hear the dispute of the railway switchmen against thirteen railroad systems was told yesterday by yard operatives that they did not believe the eight-hour railroad day could be established without great additional expense to the carriers.

James Sweeny, yardmaster for the Rock Island at Kansas City, testified that he would be able to put his yard on an eight-hour basis without an increase in the number of locomotives used, but it would take more crews and increase the cost of operation from 25 to 45 per cent.

James S. Bulger, yardmaster for the Lehigh Valley at Buffalo, said:

> "We couldn't give the service at the coal dock, nor at the ore dock, and we couldn't do the lake freight house work in eight hours."

The witness said that the crews in the Buffalo yards of the Lehigh Valley averaged twelve hours a day. He said that it would mean considerable additional expense to establish an eight-hour day.

W. E. Wheelock, Superintendent of Terminals for the Cincinnati, New Orleans & Texas Pacific at Chattanooga, said that patrons of the yard worked nine and ten hours a day, and an eight-hour railway schedule would be a nuisance at his yard. He was asked what the rates of pay for the yard were. He replied that they ran from 27½ cents to 30 cents an hour.

Negroes get the smaller rate of pay.

"Why do you pay the negroes less money when they do the same work?" he was asked. "Do you think it is right?"

"It is right, I suppose," he said, "if these men want to work for it."

The witness explained that under an agreement made nine years ago white firemen get 39 cents an hour, while negro firemen get 33 cents; while helpers get 34 and 36 cents an hour, negro helpers 27½ cents an hour. J. B. Connors, one of the arbitrators for the switchmen, asked what organization had made such an agreement. Mr. Wheelock said he understood it was the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen.

Frank G. Friend, yardmaster for the Nickel Plate in Buffalo, said that the men in his yard were on a twelve-hour basis, actually worked eleven and a half hours, and received pay for thirteen hours through time allowed for meals. He said that the eight-hour day could not be put into operation in his yard without causing much overtime pay and additional expense. He thought that additional leisure time for the men would lead to more drinking.

GIVE ORE CARS FOR COAL.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Most of the railroad box cars of the country are massed in the northeastern quarter of the United States, according to a classified list made public today by the Conference Committee on Car Efficiency appointed by the American Railway Association to co-operate with the Interstate Commerce Commission in relieving the country-wide car shortage. The list was sent to every railroad company in the country with instructions that roads which have in use more box cars than they own should exert every effort to pass on the excess cars to roads which show a deficiency in the number in use, as compared with the number they own.

The Conference Committee also announced today that executives of railroads in the Northwest had agreed to put into coal-carrying service about 16,500 ore cars. This will release a large number of regular coal cars for general commercial use. The Soo Lines and the Chicago & Northwestern and their immediate branches are the roads affected.

According to the Conference Committe's list, which shows conditions as they existed on Nov. 1, the New York Central had at that time 9,732 more cars in service than it owned, the Pennsylvania 30,963, and the Boston & Maine, 11,113. The railroads are classified in groups according to situation, and Group 2, comprising the big Eastern roads, has by far the largest excess, with a total of 78,268. The New England roads are also comparatively heavy offenders, with an excess of 17,117, while the roads on the southern Atlantic seaboard come next with a total surplus of 10,430.

These roads are urged to return cars to their owners with all possible speed to comply with the regulation of the Interstate Commerce Commission issued by Commissioner McChord in the Louisville Rearing.

The West, Middle West, and South are the parts of the country which show the deficiencies and small surpluses. Group 3, embracing the territory in the North Central States, shows a deficiency in freight cars in service, as compared with freight cars owned, of 720. Group 9, which covers the far Southwest, shows a surplus of 1,549. Groups 6 and 7, which comprise roughly the Central and Northern States west of the Mississippi, with a strip of Illinois and Wisconsin, show deficiencies, respectively, of 9,348 and 6,488.

The heaviest deficiency lies with the Southern roads of Group 5. Including the lines in Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, and Kentucky and neighboring States it amounts to 27,943. Group 8, which covers the territory around Missouri, Kansas, and Colorado, shows a deficiency of 9,164, and the Pacific Coast one of 7,581. Three Canadian lines have a deficiency of 13,854.

The committee will obtain weekly reports on the car situation in all parts of the country and send them to such railroads as desire the information. To assure compliance with its instructions, it has asked each road to send it copies of orders issued to facilitate the return of freight cars to their proper owners.

Officials of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern Railroads appeared before the committee today to answer complaints of apple growers of the Northwest that their products were spoiling because of their inability to get refrigerator cars. The officials said that the situation was improving, and that the committee's order had caused the return of many refrigerator cars to owner roads.

Officials of the Erie, New York Central, and Delaware & Hudson will appear tomorrow to discuss the unfilled demands of New England potato shippers for refrigerator cars.

THOM WARNS CONGRESS.

Sees Government Railroad Ownership Unless Changes Are Made.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Alfred P. Thom, counsel for the American Railway Executives' Advisory Committee, today told the Newlands committee which is investigating the subject of transportation, that Government ownership was inevitable unless Congress took measures to relive the roads from dual regulation by the States and the Federal Government and to remedy other defects now existing.

"Present conditions," Mr. Thom said, "cannot continue. Unless these things are accomplished, then, in my opinion, the time is short between private and Government ownership."

Mr. Thom believed an increase in the Interstate Commerce Commission from seven to nine members would not be sufficient to accomplish the end desired, and repeated his suggestion that regional boards should be created under the commission, with original jurisdiction in rate matters.

Representative Adamson thought the public would feel that the railroads were endeavoring to get control further centralized in Washington.

"You will have great difficulty," Mr. Adamson said, "in getting your program through if the idea becomes prevalent that you are trying to get away from the people, and have no responsibility to them."

Undoubtedly, Mr. Thom said, the policy of the railroads in opposing for many years Government regulation and the revelations concerning financial operations of some of them had been factors in arraying the public against the carriers and making it unwilling to invest in railroad stock.

Rally as Impetus to Charity.

Jacob H. Schiff and Judge Julian W. Mack of Chicago will be among the speakers at the meeting at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre Sunday night to rally the workers who will take the field Monday in the final seven days' drive of the Federation for the Support of Jewish Philanthropic Societies, to raise a minimum of $2,000,000 in pledges needed to start the projected central financing bureau. Applications for tickets for the meeting are coming in so rapidly that it was announced yesterday at Federation headquarters, 130 Broadway, that unless reservations were made at once it was unlikely that any tickets would remain to be distributed.

$944,192 THE TOTAL OF DAVANZATI SALE

Greatest Art Auction, from a Standard of Excellence, Ever Held Here, Says Kirby.

RANKS FOURTH IN RECEIPTS

J. E. Widener Purchaser of Il Riccio Incense Burner at $46,000—W. B. Thompson Bought Titians.

The famous sale of art treasures from the Davanzati Palace and the Villa Pia, Florence, was concluded yesterday afternoon at the American Art Galleries with returns of $10,278, making a grand total for the sale of $944,192. Counting the exchange on American money in Italy and the greater buying power of money in Italy the value to the receiver is much greater.

It is the greatest sale, from a standard of general excellent of the collection, that has ever taken place in this country, is a statement made by Thomas E. Kirby of the American Art Association, who conducted the sale, and from a monetary point of view it stands fourth in the great sales which have been held in the galleries of the American Art Association.

The Charles T. Yerkes sale in 1910 brought the largest returns of any one sale, $2,207,360. The M. C. D. Borden sale, in 1913, brought $1,346,725, and the Mary J. Morgan sale, in 1906, the first of the big public sales, stands third in the scale of returns, having brought $1,205,152. The present sale, with its returns of $944,192, comes fourth, and a fifth big sale was the Henry G. Marquand, in 1903, which brought $704,268.

Widener and Frick Buyers.

Some of the most distinguished men in the country were among the buyers. These names were not given out at the sales, the purchasing being done through agents, the purchasers in many cases not being present. But it is known that some of the finer things in the collection were purchased by Joseph E. Widener of Philadelphia, Henry C. Frick, George Blumenthal, Stanley McCormick, Louis C. Tiffany, Jamie Waterworth, Otto H. Kahn and Philip Lehman. The Metropolitan Art Museum, the Boston Art Museum, the Minneapolis Museum and the Rhode Island School of Design were among the public art institutions purchasing.

It was Mr. Widener who bought the magnificent fifteenth century bronze incense burner by Il Riccio, which was the feature of the first day of the Davanzati sale, and brought $46,000. It was bought through Duveen Brothers. The Greek bronze statuette of the poetess Sappho, considered one of the finest existing examples of Greek art, which also was a feature of the first day's sale, and sold for $15,000, the buyer being given as Leo J. Cannes, was purchased by Theodore Dreiser.

It was thought by many on Monday evening at the sale of the pictures and panels of the collection, at the Plaza, that probably Mr. Duveen was the buyer of the two Titians, which were the last numbers on the list and sold at the reserve price of $25,000 each, with only one bid, given by Otto Bernet of the American Art Galleries, as agent. These, however, went to W. E. Thompson.

Venetian Table Cloth, $870.

Prices at the concluding sale were in three figures, the part of the collection sold being more generally interesting than intrinsically valuable. A couple of sixteenth century Italian cushions covered with white linen embroidered in colored silks and gold thread went to Dupont for $280; three others, similar, went to Lorens, agent, for $230, and to the same buyer went a beautiful table cloth of Venetian point lace, also of the sixteenth century, for $870, the highest price of the day. Twenty-seven eighteenth century fine linen hand towels with deep edges of beautiful Italian lace went to Philip Herolshaimer for $420, and another Venetian lace table cover, which also went to Lorens, agent, brought $700.

PAYING INHERITANCE TAX.

Heirs Already Saving Discount Under New Federal Law.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Although the Federal inheritance tax law has been in operation only since Sept. 9, and taxes are not collectible under its terms until one year after the death of an owner of a taxable estate, more than $20,000 has been paid into the Treasury as inheritance taxes. Treasury officials say that the estate tax, as they insist upon calling it, is growing steadily.

Collections so far are mainly from estates whose heirs, executors or administrators are anxious to expedite settlement. The fact that a rebate of 8 per cent. is allowed for advance payment has an influence. Richmond, Va., was the first city in the country to take notice that there was such a tax and that there was an advantage in paying it before the expiration of the year allowed to run before the collection might be made.

There has been only one attempt to test the act in the courts. In the case of a decedent in California, an heir has brought a friendly suit pleading the unconstitutionality of the act because it is retroactive. As the United States is not a party to the suit, the policy of the Government will be simply to await the final decision of the questions involved by the Supreme Court. The trial took place in the lower court this week, but with what result is not yet known to the Government officials.

A ruling is soon to be issued imposing a penalty on banks or other fiduciary institutions in case of failure to notify the Internal Revenue authorities of their having estate property subject to the tax where there are no executors or administrators in this country. It is now the expectation that the estate tax will produce a revenue amounting to fully $50,000,000 when it is fully in operation, which will be in the fiscal year 1917-18.

DINE SIMON WOLF ON 80TH BIRTHDAY

300 AT SAVOY CELEBRATION

Guest of Honor Says He Would Not Be Surprised to See a Jew Occupy the White House.

Simon Wolf, philanthropist and statesman and for more than fifty years the representative in Washington of American Jewry, was honored last night by a dinner at the Hotel Savoy in celebration of his eightieth birthday. Prominent Jews from all over the country attended to speak a word of tribute for Mr. Wolf's services to humanity, to his country, and to his co-religionists.

President Wilson and ex-President Roosevelt, whose confidence and friendship Mr. Wolf enjoyed, as he has enjoyed that of every President from Abraham Lincoln's time, paid their tribute in messages which were read by Judge Leon Sanders, presiding at the dinner. Many of the 300 persons present, now prominent in many fields, were among the 100,000 aliens who were permitted to land in this country because of Mr. Wolf's prompt and efficient action in their behalf.

Mr. Wolf, in an address, touched upon the responsibilities of the Jewish people in this country toward their suffering brothers in Europe, and predicted an early end in this country to religious prejudice, which might even end with the election of an American of Jewish faith to the Presidency.

"What after all," he said, speaking of the demand for relief of Jews in Europe, "have we done in comparison to our number? Two million and a half of Jews, at $10 per capita, would be only $25,000,000, and this amount, when this unholy, uncivilized and un-Christian war shall be over, will be but a drop in the bucket. When the dove of peace shall once more emerge from the ark of carnage the widows and the orphans, not to speak of the maimed, will demand still greater sacrifice, and this land of liberty and equality will, as in all the years that have gone, open its doors in that spirit of hospitality which has made it the haven of the persecuted and oppressed from all parts of the world.

"Prejudice still exists, it is true, but as President Wilson in my Year Book so truthfully said: 'Prejudice is provincial; truth and justice go hand in hand in this blessed country.' Much has been said because one or the other of us have been members of the Cabinet, Judges of the Federal, State, and local courts, Ambassadors and Ministers, Attorney Generals and Mayors, world-famous philanthropists, and members of the Supreme Court. But to me these are but the natural result of work well done for clean and unsullied lives, and unless some unforeseen addident or terrible affliction bringe me to the final arbiter of all lives, I should not be surprised to see an American citizen of Jewish faith occupy the White House."

Other speakers were John B. Densmore, Solicitor of the Department of Labor; Borough President Marcus M. Marks, Arthur Brisbane, Dr. J. L. Magnes, Dr. Abram Simon of Washington, A. K. Cohen of Boston, Charles Shohl of Cincinnati, and Isidore Hershfield.

After the speeches Harry Fischel, Treasurer of the Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrant Aid Society of America, under whose auspices the dinner was held, presented Mr. Wolf with a Bible, inscribed in gold, on behalf of the diners.

Among those who attended were the Rev. Dr. Bernard Drachman, Hon. Henry M. Goldfogle, Immigration Commissioner Frederic C. Howe, Leon Kamaiky, Samuel S. Koenig, Justice Irving Lehman, Justice M. Warley Platzek, Judge Otto A. Rosalsky, Jacob H. Schiff, Isaac N. Seligman, and the Rev. Joseph Silverman.

PARTIES FOR DEBUTANTES.

The Misses Ward, Thompson, and McCarter Introduced to Society.

Yesterday brought several coming-out receptions and tea dances for the Winter's buds. Mrs. Beverley Ward of 56 West Fifty-eighth Street introduced her younger daughter, Miss Jane Suckley Ward, at a tea dance at her residence. It was a quiet and informal affair, as Mrs. Ward is still in mourning. Those who received with the débutante were her sister, Miss Caroline De Lancey Ward; Edith Gracie of Washington, D. C., Louise Gardner, and Helen Parmelee. A dance is to be given for Miss Ward in January.

Mrs. George Thompson held at her residence, 162 East Sixty-first Street, the first of two afternoon receptions to introduce her daughter, Miss Zillah Townsend Thompson. Receiving with Miss Thompson were the Misses Elise Provost Smith, Isabella Thurston, Helen L. Dudgeon, Augusta de Forest, Josephine Chamberlain, Eleanor J. F. Coward, Glory Thomas, Dorothy Miller, and Candace Howard of Washington, D. C.; Katharine Clark Culver, Anne Scott Brown, Alida Banks, Janet Mowry, and Kathleen Anderson. Receiving with Mrs. Thompson were her mother, Mrs. George G. Stow, Mrs. Charles Robinson Smith, Mrs. Sheppard K. de Forest, Mrs. William Ross Proctor, and the Misses Janet Corse and Harriet May Haviland. The second reception will be held this afternoon.

Miss Ellen G. McCarter made her début at a reception that her mother, Mrs. Thomas N. McCarter of 410 Park Avenue, gave at the Colony Club. Mrs. McCarter and Miss McCarter had in their receiving party the Misses Fanny T. Baldwin, Harriet Cramp, Adelaide Prescott, Jeannette Jennings, Beatrice Beach, Amy Reick, Esther Kimball, Beatrice Fynchon, Elizabeth Chapin, Louise Harkness, and Felicity Clark.

MISS BIRNEY TO WED BARON.

Engaged to Wilhelm von Schoen, Secretary of the German Embassy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker announce the engagement of Mrs. Walker's sister, Miss Catherine Birney, to Baron Wilhelm von Schoen, Secretary of the German Embassy.

The wedding will take place in the near future at the residence on Sheridan Circle which Mr. and Mrs. Walker have leased for the Winter. The bride-to-be is a charming girl of many accomplishments, who since the death of her parents has made her home with her elder sister in Washington and in Mexico, where Mr. Walker has extensive interests.

Invitations to the wedding will be limited to the immediate relatives of the bride, members of the German Embassy, and a few close friends.

A. FOSTER HIGGINS, FINANCIER, IS DEAD

REORGANIZED U. S. LLOYDS

Authority on Marine Insurance and Former Director in Many Corporations Was 85.

A. Foster Higgins, formerly President of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, died at his home in Greenwich, Conn., yesterday afternoon, in his eighty-sixth year. He was said to have been many times a millionaire. He left two granddaughters and two great-granddaughters.

A. Foster Higgins was best known here as the financier who succeeded the late Charles T. Barney, President of the Knickerbocker Trust Company, in 1907, and who was largely instrumental in rehabilitating that organization, which is now the Columbia Trust Company.

He was born in Macon, Ga. His education was received in Colgate and Columbia Universities, although his father's financial reverses forced him to leave college and go to work before completing the course. He obtained a position with the firm of Jones & Johnson, marine insurance adjusters, where he later became a partner, and on the death of Walter R. Jones, formed the firm of Johnson & Higgins, with which he was connected at the time of his death. Mr. Higgins became known as an adjuster of remarkable ability, and it is said that of 10,000 adjustments made by him, less than twenty were appealed from.

He first became prominent when the late J. P. Morgan and Samuel D. Babcock employed him to reorganize the United States Lloyds, of which he later became agent and conducted the business so successfully that within twenty years it paid dividends aggregating 2,000 per cent. on its capital stock.

In 1907 when the Knickerbocker Trust Company was forced to close Mr. Higgins was one of the thirty-five Trustees of the institution. He was chosen to save the company, and he undertook the work on the condition that he should be allowed to retire from the presidency as soon as the company was in a sound condition again.

Mr. Higgins sold 80,000 shares of Treasury stock for $300 a share and he and nine others raised the additional needed to make up a deficit, and the Knickerbocker Trust Company was again a going concern.

Mr. Higgins was interested in many other corporations at various times. He was formerly a Director of the Albany Trust Company, the Crocker-Wheeler Company, the Knickerbocker Safe Deposit Company, the Mexican Northern Railway Company of which he was also formerly President and Treasurer, Vice President of the Compania Metallurgia Mexicana, and the Potosi & Rio Grande Railway Company. In addition, he was a Director of the Tezuihan Copper Mining Company, the Mexican Lead and the Montezuma Lead Companies, the Tezuihan Copper Mining and Smelting Company, and at the time of his death was a Director of the Sombrerete Mining Company.

Reading by Mrs. Woodruff.

Mrs. Helen S. Woodruff is to give an author's reading and the showing of the "Lady of the Lighthouse" film at Washington on Dec. 4, under the patronage of Mrs. Woodrow Wilson and members of the Cabinet. She is afterward to be a guest of Mrs. Wilson at the White House. She is the niece and goddaughter of ex-Secretary of the Navy Hilary A. Herbert, and was reared partly at the White House with Ruth Cleveland. She is now the wife of a New York attorney, Frederick S. Woodruff. She devotes all the profits of her writings to charity, and especially to the blind.

BRIDE OF CARIL W. STRONG.

Miss Helen G. Wills Weds in All Angels' Church—The Attendants.

The marriage of Caril Webster Strong, a son of the Rev. Charles R. Strong and Mrs. Strong of Plainfield, N. J., and Miss Helen Gertrude Wills, the daughter of Mrs. Charles John Wills of this city and the late Mr. Wills, took place at 8:30 last evening in All Angels' Church, at West End Avenue and Eighty-first Street, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. S. De Lancey Townsend, the rector of the church.

The bride wore a frock of white tulle over satin, the court train arranged with a hood effect and the tulle veil held with orange blossoms. She carried bride roses, with showers of white sweet peas. Miss Elise Shearman, the maid of honor, was in orchid-colored tulle and silk, and the other attendants, in pale green silk and tulle, were Mrs. Leslie Savage and Miss Chrystal Wetlaufer.

Mr. Strong's brother, Richard Strong, was his best man, and the ushers were Dudley and Louis Strong, brothers of the bridegroom; James Webster, and Samuel Disbrow. There was no reception. On their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Strong will live at 321 West Ninety-fourth Street.

Mrs. Strong's father, the late Mr. Wills, was connected with the management of the Hotel Biltmore at the time of his death, two years ago.

McCRACKEN—CHAVE.

Miss Mildred Britton Chave, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gustave Chave of 410 Riverside Drive, was married to Frederick Beekman McCracken at 8 o'clock last evening at the home of her parents. The Rev. Dr. Tilton of the Lenox Avenue Collegiate Church performed the ceremony.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Gladys Andrews of this city, who acted as maid of honor. Mary Elizabeth Newell and William Wells Newell acted as flower girl and page, respectively. Alexander Bayard Clark of Wadesboro, N. C., was the best man.

MARGARUM—ROBERTSON.

Miss Marion Louise Robertson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel E. Robertson of 21 Walnut Street, Newark, N. J., and Ford W. Margarum of Sussex, were married last night at the bride's home by the Rev. Robert Scott Inglis, pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, North. Miss Robertson is a former student at Blair Academy and Mr. Margarum is President of the Farmers National Bank of Sussex. His grandfather and father each occupied the same position.

HORNER—ROBINSON.

The wedding of Miss Edith Standish Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Standish Robinson of 1 West Eighty-third Street, to Halsey Boardman Horner, took place at 8 o'clock last evening at the Hotel Gotham. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Thomas J. Horner of Attleboro, Mass., father of the bridegroom.

The bride was attended by the Misses Helen Finch and Hilda Platt.

Mrs. Charlotte Knowlton Chapman.

Mrs. Charlotte Knowlton Chapman, wife of Edwin Nesbitt Chapman, a member of the New York Stock Exchange and of the firm of Chisholm & Chapman, died yesterday at her home, 281 Lake Avenue, Greenwich, Conn., in her forty-third year. She was born in West Upton, Mass., and was a daughter of Mrs. Annie Frost Knowlton and the late Daniel W. Knowlton. Mrs. Chapman was active in the work of the Greenwich Humane Society and the United Workers, and was Treasurer of the Emily Bruce Shelter, the babies' home in Greenwich.

Tourists from Cuba.

Among the passengers arriving yesterday from Havana on the Ward Line steamship Mexico were:

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Berghes, Dayton Berghes, Daniel Buhl, L. C. Capote, E. Chamberlin, Chester Dady, William Dubocq, Miss Helen Milton, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. O'Leary, Charles W. Ricker, Albert Smith, and Leonard Siegel.

FIRST JUNIOR ASSEMBLY.

Debutantes Dance at Sherry's—Many Dinner Hostesses.

The first of the season's Junior Assemblies was held last night at Sherry's and was preceded by a number of dinners. The first of the three yearly assemblies is the first large dance of each season, whether private or subscription, at which the débutantes make their first public appearance, the later two being more especially the field of the buds of last year and previous seasons.

The dinner hostesses last night included Mrs. Samuel Sloan, who gave the largest dinner, of ninety covers, at Sherry's for her niece, Miss Mary Colt, the débutante daughter of Mrs. Richard C. Colt; Mrs. Stephen G. Williams, whose dinner was for her youngest and débutante daughter, Miss Elizabeth Jarvis Wyeth; Mrs. Gilbert Colgate, Mrs. John Claflin, who entertained for her débutante and youngest daughter, Miss Mary Stewart Claflin; Mrs. George B. Phelps, whose small dinner at her residence was for her younger and débutante daughter, Miss Frances H. Ballard, and Mrs. Charles Hallam Keep, for her daughter, Miss Martha G. Keep.

Mrs. Sloan's dinner was held at Sherry's, and the guests included besides the guest of honor, Miss Mary Colt, her sister, Miss Catherine Colt, and the Misses Frances Field, Teresa Fabbri, Alice Huntington, Jeanne Gourd, Helen A. Hoadley, Margaret Van B. Mason, Margaret Carnegie, Eleanor de Graff Clothier of Philadelphia, Elizabeth Remsen, Nina Paris, Nina Ryan, Geraldine Adee, Sarah Bulkley, Katherine C. Blodgett, Felicity Clark, Katherine de Berkeley Parsons, Ellen McCarter, Jeannette Jennings, Charlotte Platt, Helen Cameron, Helen R. Russell, Evelyn Preston, Mary L. Post, Leslie Murray, Adelaide Willmerding, Alice W. Lawrence, Clara Lee, and Miss Morgan and Miss Moran.

At Mrs. Williams's dinner for Miss Elizabeth Jarvis Wyeth the guests included the débutante's sister, Miss Caroline L. Wyeth, the Misses Marietta Lincoln, Louise Clark, Dorothy Darrell, Coline Ingersoll, Nina Moran, and Rene Hoguet, Eugene Watson, Cadwalader Corse, Sargent Lewis, Hayward Hunter, and Alrick H. Man.

Among the young women who attended the Assembly besides those at the preceding dinners were the Misses Constance De Lanoy, Elsie Saltus, Frances Isham, Amy R. Reick, Alice C. Wainwright, Barbara and Joan Allen, Mary and Emma Knapp, Nathalie Bishop, Sarah Bulkley, Helen James, Fanny S. Baldwin, Viola Flannery, Helen C. Palmer, Sheila Byrne, Beatrice Chanler, May Tailer, Nina Dearth, Dorothy Miller, and Augusta de Forest.

Patrick H. Morrissey.

GALESBURG, Ill., Nov. 28.—Patrick Henry Morrissey, assistant to the Vice President of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and formerly head of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, died at his home here today, in his fifty-fifth year.

Mr. Morrissey began his railroad career as a call boy in the shops of the Chicago & Alton Railroad. In 1895 he was Grand Master of the Brotherhood, where he remained for years. During the threatened strike of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in 1912 Mr. Morrissey acted as one of the committee of seven appointed to adjudicate the differences.

Obituary Notes.

STANLEY BAGG PENNOCK, a member of the famous 1914 football team of Harvard University, and one of the all-American guards for that year, was killed on Monday by the explosion of benzole acid in the Newark, N. J., plant of the Aromatic Chemical Company.

The Knabe

To this artistic creation she refers in the following glowing terms:

"The versatility of the Knabe is unique. On it lyric passages ring like the human voice—whilst it harbors the power of a full orchestra in acoustic volume.

The Knabe expresses my every mood, both joy and sorrow; for me a medium of expressing life in music.

VETERAN MANAGERS BURIED.

Services for Wm. Harris, Sr., and Jos. Brooks Attended by Throngs.

The funerals of two veteran theatrical managers and producers, each of whom had left his impress on the American stage through long association with it, occurring within a few hours of each other, made yesterday a day unique in the theatrical annals of New York. In the morning, at 10:30 o'clock, at the Temple of Rodolph Sholom, Sixty-third Street and Lexington Avenue, the funeral of William Harris, Sr., was held, and at 4 o'clock, in the Grand Lodge room in the Masonic Temple, at Twenty-third Street and Sixth Avenue, the funeral of Joseph Brooks took place.

Both services were largely attended by men and women of all branches of the theatre, and particularly by contemporaries of the late managers.

The honorary pallbearers were Abraham Erlanger, Daniel Frohman, David Belasco, Marc Klaw, Alf. Heyman, Charles Dillingham, Charles Rich, Jeremiah Cohan, George M. Cohan, Samuel Harris, Frank McKee, John J. McNally, W. W. Walters, George Mayer, Joseph Bickerton, Arthur Miller, Joseph Grismer, Howard Schriebbe, William Davis, Samuel Rice, Henry Dazian, and Bayard Veiller.

The services of Mr. Brooks were in charge of Pacific Lodge of Masons No. 233. The Masonic ritual was used, and Walter R. Beecher, Grand Master of the lodge, conducted them. There was music by the lodge choir and also by the chorus from "Ben Hur," which sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee." It was Mr. Brooks who persuaded General Lew Wallace to permit his novel to be dramatised, and he was one of the original producers of the play.

The pallbearers were A. W. Dingwall, Daniel Frohman, William H. Crane, A. L. Erlanger, Marc Klaw, A. J. Simmons, and Henry Dazian.

Marriage and death notices intended for insertion in The New York Times may be telephoned to 1000 Bryant.

Investments For Surplus Funds of Corporations

If your company is accumulating a surplus beyond its reasonable business requirements, we suggest that you consider investing in various security issues of a conservative character. We shall be glad to bring to your attention a list of carefully selected issues, all of which are selling at prices to yield a liberal return, have a good market, and are based, in our judgment, on sound security values.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Influence of Reserve Board Action—Gold as a Remedy for Dearer Money.

Financial discussion yesterday centred chiefly around the warning issued by the Federal Reserve Board to the banks of the country against the too free extension of credit to foreign Governments. The action taken by the Reserve Board in this matter furnished the keynote of the day's financial situation in the stock market, in the bond market, and in the money market.

Its effect was adverse in all three in that stock and bond prices declined and money rates advanced, but that was not because the stand taken by the Board was unsatisfactory to Wall Street as a whole. While it was severely criticised by some, others felt that the board was justified in its action, although nearly all agreed that it had gone too far in attempting to advise the individual investor. Moreover, the method adopted was not liked by many, even among those who were in sympathy with the purpose which the Reserve Board had in mind. The first effect was unsettling, however, if for no other reason than that it raised new questions as to the ability of the countries of Europe to keep on buying here in the unlimited manner in which they have been buying, and which has contributed so much to the activity which trade in the United States has enjoyed.

It is likely that the first estimates of the extent to which our foreign trade is likely to be affected will be materially revised, for it is evident that the countries of Europe are not solely or even mainly dependent upon the sale of short-term treasury notes in this market to pay for what they buy in this country. They have other means at their disposal, including huge amounts of gold and a very large volume of securities, including hundreds of millions of American securities, which are still available for sale in this market or for use as collateral. Moreover, the use of long-time loans on terms which would appeal to the individual investor is open to European borrowers.

The Stock market was unsettled without being decidedly weak. No very large volume of liquidation was produced, for the volume of trading, instead of expanding, showed a decrease compared with the previous day. There were other factors at work in the stock market beside the stand taken by the Reserve Board in respect to foreign loans. One of them was a prediction which was current concerning the President's annual address to Congress. The Stock Exchange listened with some attention to reports that the address would be "socialistic" in tone and that it would contain a severe arraignment of Wall Street. On the other hand, rumor also had it that the President would have a good word to say in behalf of the railroads, going so far, according to some of the rumors, as to take a stand in favor of higher rates. These suggestions regarding the forthcoming Presidential address to Congress are worthy of mention mainly as indicating the sort of gossip which helped to shape stock market sentiment.

Considering these suggestions, the unsettlement caused by the Reserve Board's action and the advance in call money, the renewal rate for which was higher than on any preceding day, the stock market may well be said to have shown a considerable degree of composure. The declines recorded among the active issues were considerable in a number of cases, but were hardly very great in contrast with the advances recently made. One reason for this, no doubt, was that opinion regarding the Reserve Board's action was conflicting, and the belief prevailed that with further gold imports and with a lessening of foreign borrowing money was not likely to remain tight. Particularly was this thought true in view of the fact that the latest summary of the reports of the national banks issued by the Controller of the Currency shows a reserve of hundreds of millions in excess of the further amount which the national banks will have to deposit in the Reserve Banks between now and next November, or earlier, in case of the adoption of the Reserve Board's suggestion that the transfer of reserves be completed at a much earlier date. It is known that several millions of gold are available at Ottawa for shipment to the United States, and the amount of that gold fund is to be vastly increased. The Allies plan to pay promptly for supplies ordered in this country, and whatever affect a curtailment of foreign loans in this market might have on future orders, it is not likely to affect any transactions already entered into. On the contrary, it is likely to increase the resort to gold payments. That, of course, would tend to bring greater ease to the money market.

The action of the Reserve Board has given a new turn to the discussion of our relations to the countries of Europe in the matter of supplying their war needs. Some time will be needed to see the situation as thus affected in its true perspective. Meanwhile, however, there is nothing to indicate any serious lessening of the prosperity which the country has been enjoying, for the fact of the matter is that the country has really had more than enough prosperity.

LONDON MARKET IS DULL.

No Reduction in Bank Rate Expected from Short Term Issue.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—The stock market was dull and undecided today. A few industrial and rubber shares improved, and Argentine rails again advanced, but allied funds were inclined to droop on the Rumanian news. American securities lost a fraction and closed idle after a very small business. The copper stocks were firm. Money and discount rates were quiet.

It is the opinion that the issue of short term bonds in America does not necessarily mean an immediate reduction in the bank rate in view of the enormous amount of work a change in the rate entails near the end of the year. The early new year may see a reduction of 1 per cent., with a corresponding reduction in the interest rates on Treasury bills, which may be the reason large numbers of three months' Treasury bills were recently bought at 2½ per cent.

Trading Is Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, Nov. 28.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 61 francs 10 centimes for cash. Exchange on London, 27 francs 41½ centimes. Five per cent. loan, 97 francs 65 centimes.

"Pay-as-You-Go Bonds"

New York City has now been issuing "pay-as-you-go" bonds—or serial bonds—for more than year. The superiority of bonds in serial form has been amply demonstrated through the experience of many municipalities, and is now generally recognized.

We offer serial bonds, each issue being directly secured by a first class building and land in New York or some other large and prosperous city. The serial payments steadily reduce the loan, year by year, without releasing the mortgage.

We are now offering a well-diversified list of high grade bonds, yielding 5½% which we recommend as safe investments.

Call or write for Circular No. 1100.

FINANCIAL NOTES.

C. W. Huntington, Vice President and General Manager of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad, will shortly become Chairman of the Board of the Virginian Railroad, with offices in New York. James Russell has resigned as General Manager of the Rio Grande to succeed Mr. Huntington on the Minneapolis & St. Louis.

E. A. Valentine, General Manager of one of the Chicago plants of Armour & Co., was elected a Vice President and Director at the stockholders' annual meeting yesterday. Laurence Armour was also elected a Vice President. The Directorate was increased from 11 to 12, one of the new Directorships to remain vacant for the present.

The United Light & Railways Company has executed an agreement with the New York Trust Company to secure an issue of convertible debenture bonds, due Nov. 1, 1926. One and a half million dollars will be issued presently.

The Marlin Arms Company yesterday declared a dividend of 37 a share on the preferred stock, payable Dec. 1. The Directors, according to announcement made after their meeting, ordered the retirement on Dec. 1 of one-third of the preferred shares.

The National City Company and the Guaranty Trust Company are offering at 99¼ and interest an issue of first and consolidated mortgage 6 per cent. gold bonds, Series A, of the Seaboard Air Line Railway.

E. H. Rollins & Sons are offering to investors $10,000,000 first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds of the Western Pacific Railroad Company at 99 and interest, subject to prior sale.

The Creason Consolidated Gold Mining and Milling Company yesterday declared an extra dividend of 15 per cent., and the usual monthly dividend of 10 per cent., both payable Dec. 10. As the par value of the shares is $1, the combined dividends amount to 25 cents.

Bodell & Co. are offering a block of Mahoning and Shenango Railway and Light Company 7 per cent. cumulative preferred stock at a price close to par.

3D AV. ROAD SKIPS DIVIDEND.

The Third Avenue Railway Company yesterday passed the quarterly dividend, the action resulting chiefly from the losses to income resultant from the traction strike. Dividends were renewed last January for the first time since 1911 at the rate of 1 per cent. a quarter and 3 per cent. has been disbursed this year.

"The statement for four months," said President F. W. Whitridge after the Directors' meeting, "shows that there was in the operating revenue a decrease of $1,458,921 and a decrease in the net income of $1,282,154. This latter sum may be estimated to be the net cost of the strike on the Third Avenue Railway during the last four months. That performance is practically over. The service on all the lines under the jurisdiction of the Third Avenue Railway is now normal except in the town of Yonkers, where it is between 50 and 60 per cent. normal."

The October statement of the company showed that total revenue of $300,062 was $178,626 less than in the same month last year. There was a deficit of $606,506 after all deductions had been made.

Closing Rates.

Following are yesterday's closing rates, compared with the normal rates of exchange based on the mint par of exchange adapted to the customary way of quoting the several exchanges. Sterling is quoted at so many dollars to the pound, German exchange so many cents to four marks, and French, Italian, and Swiss exchanges so many francs or lire to the dollar. The other exchanges in this list are quoted so many cents to the units of currency in the several countries.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

While there was no urgency about the selling, there seemed to be a persistent flow of stock into the market on the Consolidated Stock Exchange throughout the session. Prices gradually retreated, with the war munition issues among the weakest features. Baldwin Locomotive, Crucible Steel, and American Locomotive all lost ground decidedly. The railroad shares displayed a better tendency than the industrials.

FRENCH BONDS GO SLOWLY.

Books for Three Municipal Loans Are Closed by Syndicate.

Subscription books to the three $30,000,000 French municipal loans—the City of Bordeaux, the City of Lyons, and the City of Marseilles—were closed yesterday at the office of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the syndicate managers. The loans are in the form of three-year 6 per cent. bonds, payable in New York, and were offered to the public at 98, at which price they yield 6.75 per cent. on the investment.

The syndicate participating in the underwriting committed itself to only $20,000,000 of the $60,000,000 issue, the taking of the balance being optional. It was decided yesterday not to exercise this option. Of the $36,000,000 there have been sold bonds amounting to about $25,000,000, and the rest will go to the syndicate members.

It was learned yesterday that up to Friday the sale of the bonds had been going on to the satisfaction of the bankers, but on that day sales slackened owing to the hardening of money rates and the announcement of the impending sale of British and French short-term Treasury bills, and were brought practically to an end by the Federal Reserve Board's announcement. In view of the handicaps, bankers feel that the results on these bond issues were better than could have been expected.

HEAVY LIQUIDATION FORCES COTTON DOWN

Market Is Unsettled and the Net Loss for the Day Reaches 42 to 50 Points.

TRADERS TAKE PROFITS

Message That Further Reports of Imports Into Liverpool Would Be Stopped Causes Comment.

Cotton yesterday felt the unsettled conditions which affected stocks and the grain market, and prices broke sharply under heavy liquidation. The net loss for the day was 42 to 50 points, and the market closed easy around the lowest figures of the day. There was heavy selling by Chicago and Wall Street operators. A good many stock traders having profits in cotton decided to take them, in view of the uncertain tendency in the stock market. Moreover, advices from Liverpool indicated that English and Continental spinners were not inclined to follow the advance at this time.

A Liverpool cable said that the market acted tired and that Southern spot markets were easier. This view was not in full agreement with Southern spot advices, as several markets indicated a very firm condition. Charleston, S. C., wired that spots in the interior on Monday sold at 21 cents for strict middling, and that there was an urgent demand from shippers to cover November mill commitments.

Considerable comment was aroused by a cable message to the Cotton Exchange, stating that further reports as to imports of cotton into Liverpool would be discontinued. This was construed as a step dictated by war necessities. Exports continued on a large scale, and clearances yesterday amounted to 42,885 bales.

The sharp break in what was believed to have inspired some of the pressure against cotton. There was a good deal of Western selling, and this precipitated much liquidation on stop loss orders.

Crop estimates continue to be issued. R. A. Lee & Co., of Charlotte, N. C., estimate the crop of this season at 11,190,000 bales, exclusive of linters. A rumor was in circulation to the effect that Miss H. M. Gliss would issue an estimate placing the crop at 11,320,000 bales, exclusive of linters.

Market closed weak.

WHEAT.

The wheat market experienced one of the most demoralizing breaks of the year. In fact no more rapid price movements have been enacted since the war began than were seen during the closing hour yesterday. Early in the day prices had shown a steadier tone, with considerable buying on the theory that the liquidating movement had culminated with Tuesday's heavy decline, but after working up about a cent a bushel for the near months and showing repeated breaks and rallies, values suddenly crumbled under an avalanche of selling, which carried the market down 10½c to 14½c from the high of the day. The greatest decline occurred around 2 o'clock, when prices simply melted under stop loss selling. There was a partial rally during the last few minutes on covering, but at the close of the day the market was 5c to 7½c net lower. At the extreme decline prices showed a net loss of 20c to 22½c from the high point of the season, which was experienced only about two weeks ago. In the local cash market No. 1 durum wheat was nominal; No. 2 hard, $1.61½; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $1.58; No. 2, Northern Manitoba, $2.07½, free on board, New York. Export sales for the day were 750,000 bushels, principally Manitobas to the Greek Government.

CORN.

The corn market was under pressure of liquidation prompted by the break in wheat, and prices at the closer were 2¼@2¾c net lower. The export demand has apparently fallen off, and owing to congestion on the railroads and scarcity of ocean tonnage it is very difficult to make sales abroad. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at 91.03½, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

OATS.

The cats market broke with corn, and under heavy liquidation prompted by the poor outlook for export sales, closing with net losses of 2¾ to 3 cents. The local cash market was easier; standard quoted at 59½@59¾c; No. 3 white, 56@56½c; No. 4 white, 55½@56c; fancy clipped white, 58@58½c; ordinary clipped white, 55@55½c; all elevator.

PROVISIONS.

The provision list was easier under liquidation, prompted by the severe break in the grain markets and during the day's decline in the prices of live hogs. The cash demand, however, was said to be quite active and there were reports of sales of another large export to the Belgian Relief Commission. Receipts of hogs at Chicago were 32,000 head; estimated for Wednesday, 50,000. Kansas City received 19,000 and Omaha 20,000 head.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for refined oil was steadier after earlier scattered selling, prompted largely by the decline in other commodities, particularly lard and cotton. Closing prices were 4 to 13 points lower, and total sales for the day were 29,400 barrels. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

The coffee market showed a steadier tone. There was some switching from March to May, but it looked as if near-month liquidation had been pretty well completed on the decline below 7 cents for December contracts. Last sales were made about 6 to 8 points net higher. The close was within 2 or 3 points of the best at a net advance of 3 to 5 points. Sales were reported of 56,750 bags, including 5,000 Santos 4s for March delivery. The market remained steady, with quotations on the basis of 9½c for Rio 7s. Range of prices:

SUGAR.

The market for sugar futures opened irregular, 4 points higher to 1 point lower, and throughout the day trading on the floor of the Exchange was nervous, with wide fluctuations considerably switching from near to distant positions. At one time there were net gains of 3 to 10 points, with the close weak on liquidation, final figures showing net changes ranging from 8 points. Sales for the day totaled 18,000 tons. The local market for refined sugar was dull and unchanged, at 7.80c for fine granulated, although second-hand sugars were available at concessions. The market for raw sugar was lower on a sale to a local refiner of 3,000 bags Cuban, in port, at 4.62c, cost and freight, equal to 3.66c duty paid. There were some small parcels of full duty sugars sold at 4½c, cost, insurance, and freight, the equivalent of 4½c for Cubas. Quotations follow: Centrifugal, 5.46c; molasses, 4.77c; cost and freight, 4½c.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 6,074 packages. Some jobbing houses were in need of goods to satisfy their Thanksgiving trade, but the general demand was very moderate, and, while the fine and fancy grades of fresh creamery held steady, other qualities seemed to be a shade easier. Creamery, higher scoring than extras, per lb., 43@43½c; extras, 42½@43c; firsts, (88 to 90 score,) 38½@41½c; seconds, (86 to 87 score,) 36½@38½c; thirds, 35½@36c; creamery, unsalted, higher than extras, 44@44½c; extras, 43@43½c; firsts, 41½@42c; seconds, 37½@39c; creamery, held, higher than extras, 39½@40c; extras, 38½@39c; firsts, 36½@38c; seconds, 34@37½c; thirds, 36@36½c; State dairy, tubs, finest, fine, good to prime, 35½@36c; common to fair, 34@35½c; reinvasted, extras, 39½@39c; firsts, 37½@38c; lower grades, 33@36c; imitation creamery, firsts, 34½@35c; ladles, June make, firsts, 30½@34c; current make, firsts, 32½@33c; seconds, 31@32c; lower grades, 31@32c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 32½c; No. 2, 31½@32c; lower grades, 30@31c.

EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, 3,415 cases. The arrivals included a considerable quantity of stock in transit for export. The offerings of fresh gathered eggs continue light, the proportion of high qualities small, and while the demand is restricted, it is sufficient to absorb the offerings promptly at firm prices for all good qualities with the tone slightly in favor of sellers. Under the light grades, medium and lower grades are moving slowly at very irregular prices. Storage eggs are quieter and easier; so little trading is reported that values are almost nominal but there are some offerings at the reduction quoted; many holders, however, would refuse to accept present quotations, and the situation is unsettled and uncertain. Nearby white eggs continue in light supply, but the demand is limited and offerings are ample, or more than ample, for all needs. Very fancy goods are rated steady; mixtures including white eggs are of an extremely irregular and uncertain value. Fresh gathered: extra fine, per dozen, 40@42c; extra firsts, 37@38c; firsts, 34@36c; seconds, 30@32c; thirds and poorer, 25@28c; dirties, No. 1, 35c; No. 2 and poorer, 30@34c; checks, good to choice, dry, 23@25c; undergrades, 20@21c; refrigerator, special marks, fancy, storage packed, 30@31c; firsts, 29½@30c; seconds, 24@25c; lower grades, 20@22c; refrigerator, State, whites, finest; State, Pennsylvania and nearby Western, nearby whites, fine to fancy, 37½@38c; ordinary to whites, fine to fancy, 36@36c; ordinary to fine, 35@36c; nearby pullets eggs, whites, 45@50c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 40@43c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby, henneery browns, 37@38c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 40@42c.

A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE STOCKholders of PERCY MENT COMPANY will be held at No. 32 Pearl St., in the City of New York, State of New York, on the 14th day of December, 1916, at 11 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of voting on a resolution to increase the Preferred Capital Stock of said Company.

CHARTERS SHIPBUILDING CO.

Corporation to Take Over New York Plant Has $25,000,000 Capital.

The New York Shipbuilding Corporation was organized yesterday under the laws of this State to take over the business and assets of the New York Shipbuilding Company, recently bought by the American International Corporation, the International Mercantile Marine, and W. R. Grace & Co. The new organization has $25,000,000 capital stock. A block of the stock has been taken by a syndicate composed of Hallgarten & Co., C. D. Barney & Co., and Montgomery, Clothier & Tyler, and a public offering is expected in a few days.

The corporation has orders for new ships on hand to a total value of about $22,000,000. In order to take care of pending Government work and the great demand for merchant vessels, plans are being drawn up for an increase of more than 25 per cent. in the capacity of the yards. The yards are now equipped with shipways for ten vessels under construction at the same time.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY

To the Holders of

DEVELOPMENT AND GENERAL MORTGAGE FOUR PER CENT BONDS OF SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY, DUE APRIL 1, 1956:

A plan for the creation of a new Refunding and Improvement Mortgage upon the properties of SOUTHERN RAILWAY COMPANY has been recommended to the Stockholders by the Board of Directors, and includes a proposal to exchange your Development and General Mortgage 4% bonds for new Refunding and Improvement Mortgage Series A Four and one-half per cent. (4½%) Bonds, due October 1st, 1999, interest payable April 1st and Oct. 1st in each year.

You are accordingly invited to signify your willingness to make the exchange by depositing your bonds immediately with Bankers Trust Company, No. 16 Wall Street, New York City.

Coupon bonds should be deposited with October 1, 1917, and subsequent coupons attached, the current coupon due April 1, 1917, being retained by you for collection when due. Registered bonds deposited should be assigned in negotiable form, and such deposit will not affect the right of the registered holders to receive payment of the April 1, 1917, installment of interest thereon. The first coupon and semi-annual installment of interest on the new 4½% bonds will be payable October 1, 1917, for the period from April 1, 1917.

For all Development and General Mortgage bonds deposited with it, Bankers Trust Company will issue its negotiable receipts exchangeable for the new Refunding and Improvement Mortgage Series A 4½% bonds, with October 1, 1917, and subsequent coupons attached, if and when prepared and issued, or for the deposited Development and General Mortgage 4% bonds in case the Plan is not declared effective, or is withdrawn by the Board of Directors of Southern Railway Company, on or before March 1, 1917.

The new mortgage will secure an issue of gold bonds limited to $500,000,000 principal amount, to be issued from time to time in lettered series, maturing on such dates not later than October 1, 1999, with interest at such rates, as may be fixed by the Board of Directors with respect to each series.

The authorized purposes for which bonds may be issued under the proposed new mortgage will be substantially as follows:

To be issued presently

(a) Series A 4½% bonds, maturing October 1, 1999 (interest payable April 1st and October 1st, without deduction for any tax or taxes which the Railway Company or the Trustee may be required to pay or to retain therefrom under any present or future law of the United States, or of any State, county or municipality therein), to retire a like amount of Development and General Mortgage bonds outstanding in the hands of the public	$51,333,000
(b) Series B 5% bonds, maturing October 1, 1999, to be delivered into the Company's treasury in exchange for the $43,666,000 Development and General Mortgage Bonds, now held by the Company, which have been issued for improvements and acquisitions heretofore made	34,959,000

To be reserved for future issue

(c) To refund outstanding bonded debt (other than Development and General Mortgage bonds above provided for)	178,537,000
(d) To retire, from time to time, the proportion chargeable to capital of equipment trust obligations outstanding on July 1, 1916	19,461,000
(e) To acquire the outstanding stocks of certain leased and other lines of value to the Southern Railway system	20,000,000
(f) From time to time, during the life of the mortgage, for additions, betterments and acquisitions (including equipment, and acquisition of connecting or branch lines and terminals) as defined in, and under the limitations provided in, the mortgage; the bonds thus reserved, and any bonds not required for the above mentioned specific purposes, to be issued at their face value for the actual cost of such additions, betterments and acquisitions, or against the deposit with the corporate Trustee of their face value in cash, such cash to be held by the corporate Trustee as part of the trust estate until expended for authorized purposes. After $100,000,000 of the bonds reserved for these purposes shall have been issued, further bonds so reserved may only be issued for not exceeding 50% of the cost of authorized improvements and acquisitions	193,650,000
Total	$500,000,000

All outstanding Development and General Mortgage bonds which may be taken up from the public by exchange, and all such bonds now held in the treasury of the Railway Company, will be pledged under the proposed mortgage, to the end that ultimately the proposed mortgage shall replace the Development and General Mortgage when the same may be cancelled. The Railway Company will covenant in the new mortgage that no additional bonds shall be issued under the Development and General Mortgage. The Railway Company will, however, retain the right to issue the remaining authorized bonds under its First Consolidated Mortgage of October 2, 1894, for the purpose of refunding the underlying bonds therein provided for and of purchasing stocks of certain leased lines as therein specified.

The proposed exchange of your bonds is conditional upon the approval and authorization of the proposed Refunding and Improvement Mortgage by the Stockholders of Southern Railway Company, for which purpose a meeting of the Stockholders has been called to be held on January 5th, 1917, and it is also conditional up

The quotations are for six months' paper.

Coal Prices Easing Off.

The Coal Trade Journal will say today that, in spite of several days of rather cold weather, prices in the speculative anthracite market have softened still further since the middle of last week. This is accounted for, not by any increase in the present supply, but by a promise of relief soon after the first of December, when a part of the tonnage now being shipped to the lakes will be diverted to Eastern markets.

Plantation Rubber Firmer.

Under the influence of a stronger market abroad plantation rubber in the crude state took on a firmer tone here yesterday. Both first latex and smoked sheets were held at 73 cents for immediate shipment. For the Brazilian grades 80 cents was asked for spot shipments of up-river fine, with 78 cents quoted on the same grade for December. Up-river coarse, spot, was worth 50 cents, with upper Caucho ball held a cent a pound higher. Quite a little buying and selling were done, with dealers apparently more active than the manufacturers as buyers.

Poor and Scarce Help in Stores.

With one of the best of all holiday seasons in prospect local department stores are said to be the most poorly equipped in years from the standpoint of workers to handle it. Not only is help scarce, but what there is to be had, before, but much of that which is available is so inefficient that it would not be retained did not the press of business make it necessary. The chief reason is that the higher wages earned by the men of hundreds of families are making it no longer necessary for women and girls to go behind counters over the holiday period to earn some extra Christmas money.

Not Concerned Over Narrow Skirts.

Dress goods selling agents profess no anxiety over the trend of style towards narrow skirts. This fashion, of course, would call for less yardage. From style centres, so the dress goods men explain, comes the hint that the fashions will not change right around from wide to narrow skirts. There will be a gradual evolution of the design, during which period tunics and apron effects will be utilized. Some of the representative mills have withdrawn their lines for Spring even at this early date, which would seem to indicate that they are not suffering for want of business despite the new styles.

Clothiers in Strong Position.

Inventories which have been completed by the manufacturing clothiers show that their position from a financial standpoint is about as good as it could be. Credit men connected with the woolen houses have remarked that the statements issued by the clothiers never were quite so good. The credit man for a leading house said yesterday that general prosperity has been the main cause, but an item that should not be overlooked is that the clothiers have shown themselves merchants in the truest sense of the word during the last year. "The manufacturers not only displayed good judgment in deciding just how to meet an abnormal situation," he said, "but they also bought at the right time and in large quantities when prices were right."

Raw Silk Imports Decline.

For the first time in quite a while monthly imports of raw silk into this country fell off during October as compared with the same period a year ago. Even receipts of Japanese silks were smaller in the month just past, while Europeans, Cantons, "Chinas," and russahs and doppionis all showed considerable declines. The drop in Europeans was the biggest of all the imports of these kinds having dwindled from 421,740 bales in October, 1915, to 78,931 last month. October totals for the last three years in pounds follow: 1916, 2,730,231; 1915, 3,756,852, and 1914, 2,259,106. Receipts, in pounds, for the first four months of the last three fiscal years were: 1916-1917, 11,024,282; 1915-1916, 10,902,512, and 1914-1915, 8,780,507.

Gray Goods Sales Small.

The sharp drop in cotton yesterday naturally did little to stimulate buying of gray goods in this market. As a result, the aggregate yardage disposed of was small. Buying was largely of a filling-in nature, the deliveries not often running past the next 60 days, either for printcloths or coarse-yarn goods. The opinion is held in certain quarters that this condition of affairs may continue until after the next Government report on the cotton crop, which is due about Dec. 10. While none of yesterday's sales was thought large enough to warrant special mention, prices were very firm. Printcloths value follow:

38-inch, 72-76s	9¼c	38½-inch, 64-56s	7¾c
39-inch, 68-72s	8¾c	38½-inch, 60-52s	7½c
36-inch, 64-44s	7c	35¼-inch, 60-48s	7¼c

MORE GOLD FROM CANADA.

Ottawa Sends $8,500,000, and $5,000,000 More is Expected Here.

The inflow of gold from Canada continued yesterday with a shipment of $8,500,000 from Ottawa to the Philadelphia Mint for account of J. P. Morgan & Co. It is understood in banking circles that at least $5,000,000 would arrive at the local Assay Office today, with other shipments coming along rapidly for some time. So far $24,500,000 has come this month.

The Guaranty Trust Company withdrew $750,000 in gold coin from the Sub-Treasury and other banks and banking houses took various amounts to a total of $2,225,000, all for shipment to South America. Transfers to Argentina and Uruguay now amount to $1,225,000 for the year. A shipment of $300,000 in coin was made to Canada. It was supposed that this was for the purpose of strengthening a Canadian bank's reserve at the end of the month.

ENDS ROCK ISLAND DISPUTE.

Conference Between Committee and Western Men Held Here.

Differences between the Reorganization Committee of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company and important stockholders in the Middle West were adjusted at a conference at the Bankers' Trust Company yesterday. As a result the early rehabilitation of the railroad is looked for through the raising of $30,000,000 new capital.

Seward Prosser, Chairman of the committee, issued a statement saying that representatives of the committee met Frederick W. Scott, Harry Bronner, James A. Patten, and Charles G. Dawes. Mr. Dawes is a Chicago banker and has been a Director of the Rock Island for many years.

"The conference resulted in a complete understanding between the interests represented," said Mr. Prosser's statement, "and as a result these gentlemen announced their intention of depositing the stock which they own and represent with the Reorganization Committee under the plan. The committee has agreed, pursuant to the request of these gentlemen, who represent important stock holdings in the Rock Island, to modify their plan so that the 7 per cent. preferred stock given in exchange for new money be callable at 105, and that the 6 per cent. preferred stock payable to the present holders of debentures be retirable at 102."

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Diamonds and Sheeting Were Among the Things Considered.

The exclusion of the Bosch Magneto Company, Ltd., a German concern, from doing business in Canada on account of the war led to a dispute with American customs officials regarding the value of certain booklets which the proscribed firm sent into the United States when it was ousted from the Dominion. When the war broke out the Canadian authorities directed the company to close its office at Toronto. All of its effects, including the booklets, were packed up and sent to this city, being entered at $1 as of no commercial value. Appraiser Sague raised the value, but Judge Fischer reversed the advance, holding the publications obsolete and fit only for sale as old paper.

Judge Sullivan had before him invoices of New York importers covering entries of diamonds from W. Swaap, Amsterdam. All of the gems had been advanced by the local Appraiser on the plea that they were entered below Amsterdam market prices. The General Appraiser said that the evidence was quite satisfactory that the value of the merchandise was as entered with the exception of one item. He therefore approved the action of the Appraiser in raising values on these goods, but reversed the Appraiser as to three other items.

Board 1 took action yesterday on the values to attach to plain linen sheeting, "A9, type 263," shipped to New York by Edward Gribben & Sons, Belfast. The goods were entered as worth in Belfast at the time of exportation 2 shillings 9 pence per yard. The board held them dutiable on the basis of 3 shillings 3½ pence per yard. Advances on other goods from the same firm approved by a single General Appraiser were affirmed.

Gage Bros. & Co., Chicago, were successful before the Board of Classification in a case involving the classification of untrimmed hats made from pieces of buckram. The hats were so cut and shaped as to make the separate pieces suitable for use as crowns, sides, or brims of hats. The Classification Board reversed the Collector in taking 40 per cent. duty as "blocked hats," and sustained the claim for a rate of 25 per cent. as hats not blocked or trimmed.

The Leon Blumenthal Company was sustained in the claim that hats in part of netting were properly dutiable at 50 per cent. The Collector was reversed in levying 60 per cent. under the netting provision.

Minneapolis & St. Louis Shows Gain

The Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad Company reports for the year ended June 30 gross operating revenue of $10,721,512, the largest total of receipts in the company's history. The increase over the preceding year was $909,037. Operating expenses absorbed $7,022,068, and taxes required $469,902. The surplus remaining after interest charges had been met was $652,245, a gain of $465,641 over 1915.

BUSINESS NOTES.

The Textile Alliance, Inc., has received from its Australian correspondent the following cablegram, dated Nov. 24: "Sale of wool and sheepskins prohibited by regulation passed yesterday. Conference still sitting."

Consul General Smith of Calcutta, who was scheduled to open yesterday and today at the local offices of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, was called out of the city yesterday. He was obliged to cancel the numerous appointments made for him to meet business men. The Consul General will be here next week and new appointments may be made through the commercial agent in charge.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD.

Arthur Brisbane Purchases Fifth Avenue Plot at 103d Street—Haven Avenue Parcel in Deal for Christopher Street Building—Watt Street Corner Sold.

Interest in upper Fifth Avenue property was again reflected yesterday in the purchase by Arthur Brisbane of seven vacant lots at the southeast corner of 103d Street. The property is two blocks north of Mount Sinai Hospital in a section that has long been a problem to realty men as to its ultimate mode of improvement. The recent tendency to erect fine homes north of Carnegie Hill as exemplified in several expensive residences as far north as Ninety-sixth Street, and the rumors that others will be erected still farther north, tend to give credence to the belief that the vacant blocks opposite the park may eventually be improved with attractive private dwellings.

Mr. Brisbane's purchase includes four corner plots, 100.11 on the avenue by 100 on the street acquired from Mrs. William F. Dunning, Frank Dunning and Mrs. Thomas P. Fowler. The other three lots adjoining on the street were bought from the estate of Jacob Ruppert and John G. Gillig. They give Mr. Brisbane a total frontage on 103d Street of 175 feet. Mr. Brisbane has purchased the plot for investment.

Pease & Elliman were the brokers in the transaction.

Haven Avenue Plot in Trade.

An upper Manhattan plot figured in a deal for a Christopher Street tenement involving an interchange of properties valued at about $100,000. The uptown parcel was the vacant plot 50 by 100 on the west side of Haven Avenue, opposite the southeast corner of 171st Street, and 150 north of the south line of 170th Street, those streets ending on the east side of Haven Avenue. It was sold by Dr. Alfred Bartels to Max and Sam Lipman. Dr. Bartels took in exchange the six-story tenement at 19 and 21 Christopher Street, 40 by 90, between Greenwich Avenue and Waverly Place.

Buyer for Water Street Corner.

The Charles F. Noyes Company and the Duross Company sold 227-229 Water Street, northeast corner of Beekman, two five-story loft buildings covering a plot of about 4,000 square feet. After extensive alterations the premises will be occupied by the George Josephine Company for their business.

The property was assessed at $52,000. Ascher & Goldstein, attorneys, represented the sellers, and I. Newton Williams the purchaser.

East Side Dwelling Sale.

Robert Hoe sold to S. Albert Reed, 118 East Fifty-fifth Street, a three-story and basement private dwelling on a lot 18.9 by 100.5. The dwelling adjoins the property of Robert W. Goelet. Douglas L. Elliman & Co. negotiated the sale.

Investors Buy Tenements.

The Lawyers Mortgage Company sold to investors 109 Suffolk Street, a three-story front and five-story rear tenement on a plot 24 by 100, also 419 East 115th Street, a six-story new law tenement, on a plot 35 by 100.

Bronx Sales.

Samuel Cowen sold 1,474 Brook Avenue, a four-story double flat on a plot 25 by 100 feet, to V. Chabott for investment.

The Vin Mor Realty Company sold to Jacob A. Lewis 236 East 165th Street, a five-story new law tenement, on a plot 45 by 87.

Brooklyn.

The Henry Morgenthau Company purchased 381 and 383 Milford Street, two two-family brick houses, 20 by 100 each. In part payment the buyer gave some lots which they recently took in exchange in Queens.

Long Island.

Baker Crowell, Inc., in conjunction with Shields Brothers, have sold for the C. H. Schultheis Company a parcel of land having a frontage of 135 feet on Manhasset Boulevard, Great Neck Hills, Great Neck, Long Island. It is the intention of the purchaser to improve the plot with a residence.

Cocks & Willets sold to Stephen H. Brown fifteen acres of the Piping Rock Estate, directly adjoining the golf links of the Piping Rock Club, at Locust Valley, L. I. Mr. Brown contemplates making extensive improvements, and will erect a large fireproof house.

G. Maynice Heckscher, who recently purchased Tyler Morse's place at Westbury, has bought the Dr. Louis N. Lanehart farm, of fifty-five acres, on the north side of the Jericho Turnpike, on which he will lay out a polo field.

I. S. Wolf has resold at Elm Point Park, Great Neck, a plot of 8,450 square feet on Smith's Road, to Miss Caroline A. Childs.

Westchester County.

Alexander Bradley & Son, in conjunction with George Howe, have sold for the Larchmont Gardens Company to Mrs. Elizabeth B. Thayer of New York City a large plot overlooking the lake in Larchmont Gardens, Mamaroneck. The purchaser will improve the property with a private dwelling.

Commercial Leases.

James A. Rowe has leased through Frank B. Vermilyea, as attorney, representing Mrs. Margaret T. Coates, the building at 141 West Fifty-fourth Street for ten years to the Franco-American Lamp Company.

Charles M. Baldwin of Gaines, Van Nostrand & Morrison has leased for the estate of Eugene A. Hoffmann the store at 258 to 260 Fifth Avenue to the Acme Press, now at 7 East Twenty-eighth Street.

Jacob Rabinowitz has rented for the estate of Henry Brunner the store at 119-121 Wooster Street to Samuel Weiselberg, and for Spear & Co. the store at 127 to 131 Mercer Street.

Realty Notes.

Powell, the auctioneer, will sell tomorrow at Huntington, L. I., eighty-five plots overlooking the harbor. The owners are represented by L'Ecluse, Washburn & Co.

Justice Philbin has appointed Edward I. Devlin receiver of the rents of the northwest corner of Madison Avenue and Ninety-ninth Street, an apartment house, on plot 100.11 by 120, pending a suit brought by the Baron de Hirsch Fund to foreclose a mortgage of $180,000.

The Fourth and Twenty-eighth Street Company has been incorporated to take over the property at the northeast corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-eighth Street. The company is capitalized at $104,000, and is represented by Bennet & Parrish, attorneys.

Joseph P. Day will sell at auction on the premises today 900 plots of the Jamaica Estates, located on Hillside Avenue, Midland Parkway, Surrey, Dainy, and Henley Roads. The property is being sold to satisfy liens of approximately $100,000.

DISAPPOINTED NURSE SHOOTS BRIDEGROOM

THOUGHT HE HAD LOVED HER

Ship Chandler Able to Return to His Apartments with His Bride of Less Than a Week.

Miss Rachel Jones, a young trained nurse, and John Henderson, a Water Street ship chandler, were married last Wednesday and because business was pressing they gave up a honeymoon and moved at once into an apartment at 746 St. Nicholas Avenue. Last evening Henderson did not go home from business. Instead, when dinner had been kept waiting more than an hour his bride received a telephone message from him, which told her in effect:

"Come at once to the Fourth Branch Detective Bureau. Sarah shot me, but I'm all right. But she shot herself and I'm afraid she's dying."

To Mrs. Henderson "Sarah" meant Miss Sarah A. Sheldon, a trained nurse employed until a week ago in the Tuberculosis Branch Clinic of the Health Department at 118th Street and Pleasant Avenue, and an old friend of Henderson. The young wife hurried to the detective bureau frantic with fear. She found her husband uninjured, except for a slight flesh wound in the palm of his right hand, and she burst into tears on his shoulder. When he had finally calmed her Henderson explained to her and to the police how the shooting had occurred.

He said he had known Miss Sheldon for eight years, but had had no idea that she was in love with him or expected him to marry her until a few months ago, when he sought her congratulations on his engagement to Miss Jones. Then she told him that some time she would shoot him, he said, but he thought he had pacified her finally, especially when she met his fiancée, and congratulated Miss Jones with apparent sincerity.

Yesterday, he said, Miss Sheldon telephoned to his office and said that she had developed tuberculosis and had been ordered West. She meant to leave today for Los Angeles, and asked him to bring some timetables to her home, a three-room apartment at 90 Edgecombe Avenue.

Miss Sheldon insisted on his entering when he arrived at 6 o'clock with the timetables, Henderson said, although he told her he was anxious to get home for dinner, so he did so when Miss Sheldon declared: "Sit down just a minute. I want to talk to you."

He sat in a rocking chair and had hardly settled himself in it, he said, when the girl produced a revolver and fired two shots at him. One missed him, the other struck his hand, and as he jumped up Miss Sheldon turned the weapon toward herself and fired a bullet which entered her stomach and emerged from the back. The shots brought Miss Hannah Balleer, a nurse who shared the apartment, from another room, and at her advice Henderson, who was bewildered by the attack, telephoned to the Harlem Hospital for help. Dr. Janoff and several detectives hurried to the flat. Miss Sheldon was still conscious and told the detectives:

"I shot myself. I did it because I had to leave the city if I wanted to live, and I couldn't bear to go away from New York and from Mr. Henderson. I was very fond of him."

Then she lost consciousness, and in the hospital last night it was said she probably would die. After Henderson had told his version of the affair he was permitted to leave the Detective Bureau with his wife.

TRAIN KILLS THREE IN STATION CROWD

Special to The New York Times.

KINGSLAND, N. J., Nov. 28.—It was dark here at 6:35 o'clock tonight when 250 employes of the Canadian Car and Foundry Company, only about a dozen of them women and the majority negroes and Italian laborers, crowded about a Lackawanna train which is operated nightly as a special to carry the workers ten miles to Hoboken on the way to their homes. The throngs surged about both sides of the train, scrambling for seats and, apparently none noticed a Dover local train approaching on the westbound track. None expected it, for it is due at 6:20 o'clock, but tonight was fifteen minutes late.

From the station platform Policeman Thomas Landell saw the oncoming headlight and shouted a warning. But he was too late. The engine ripped into the crowd, throwing men right and left, and crushing to death three who stood directly in its path. They were Evan Turner, John De Pezia, and Edward Salacio, all negroes. Three others, Jose Guarda, Eugene Nebett, and C. A. Lundsen, were injured so badly they probably will die.

The train was moving slowly approaching the station and Engineer Earle brought it to a quick stop before it had passed entirely through the crowd. Despite Earle's quickness, however, more than twenty other persons were hurt before the train halted. They were carried into the company's plant or to the railroad station and an ambulance was summoned from the Hackensack Hospital.

WILSON TO LEAD PARADE.

Arrangements Complete for Ceremony Dedicating Liberty's Light.

Arrangements for the reception of President Wilson when he arrives here on Saturday to accept for the Government the permanent flood lighting system of the Statue of Liberty, were completed yesterday. Earl Harding, Secretary of the Mayor's Committee in charge of the ceremony, received word from Washington that the plans had been approved by the President's party.

The official party will be met at the Pennsylvania Station in the afternoon by the Reception Committee, which is a part of the Mayor's Committee of 200, and which comprises Mayor Mitchel, Cleveland H. Dodge, William M. Calder, Thomas A. Edison, and Ralph Pulitzer. They will accompany the President's party, which will include Mrs. Wilson, to the Seventy-ninth Street landing on the North River, where all will board the Mayflower. The Presidential yacht will pass between the Statue and a division of the Atlantic fleet at anchor off Bedlow's Island. The President, by wireless or a searchlight signal, will inaugurate the illumination about 6 o'clock. Behind the Mayflower will be the Dolphin, the Secretary of the Navy's yacht, bearing the rest of the committee of 200.

The President's party and the Dolphin's guests will land at the Battery, where waiting motor cars will take the entire party through downtown streets to Washington Square, up Fifth Avenue and to the Waldorf, where dinner will be served at 7:30. All these streets will be illuminated.

He Was Poisoned by Imperfectly Digested Food

Always below par—not really sick, but never quite up to the day's task. And indigestion all the time! If he ate he suffered, if he did not eat he suffered just the same. Then his doctor told him that he was fairly choked with imperfectly digested, and, therefore, fermenting, food that was sending its impurities through the blood into every tissue, bone, and muscle of his body.

$8,500 A YEAR FOR CHILD.

Mother to Furnish $2,000 Additional to Annie Marie Wallace.

Surrogate Cohalan granted yesterday the application of Annie Marie Wallace, great-great-granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt and granddaughter of the late John Wallace, veteran member of the New York Stock Exchange, for an allowance of $8,500 a year from trust funds left her by her grandather and father, Allen Wallace.

A referee recommended that the allowance be granted because the child needed $10,000 a year to maintain the social status to which she was accustomed. Of this amount her mother, Mrs. Frances L. Wallace, with whom she lives in Italy, will provide $2,500 from her own funds.

Larger turn-over! The Greenpoint Metallic Bed Company develops its sales to dealers with Packard delivery

Swift and dependable transportation is the key to effective distribution. The man who can make his warehouse stocks the reserve stocks of his dealers is sure of increased volume.

"When we motorized our delivery department," they say, "we determined to buy none but the best. Now, after three and a half years' experience with Packards, we trace our increase in business largely to Packard efficiency.
